

"Partridges" during April and May. A glance up the road-bed certainly did not contradict this assertion. The flesh of the loon, as a rule, is not palatable, and why this species should also be glaringly shot when opportunity offers is questionable. A great number of Gulls have deserted their breeding grounds on the coast and are now endeavouring to raise their young in secluded localities inland. Year by year, however, the indiscriminate destruction of birds still goes on, and if drastic steps are not soon taken in the direction of protecting them, certain species will be wiped out altogether. Every lake has its quota of rafts, which are used in the springtime for robbing the Gulls.
