WHAT EVERYBODY
 SAYS
 MUST BE TRUE!

What the Public say is that our mantles this year are finer than ever. That for elegance in fit and finish, beauty in style and design, they are unequalled. That for fine materials combined with skilled workmanship, they are decidedly in the front rank.

What we ourselves say is that if there is anything in London, Paris or New York worthy of note in Spring Fashions which we have not seen, we would like to know it. If better value or cheaper prices exist in the city of Montreal, we have yet to discover the fact.

The natural inference is that ladies who want to buy the latest novelties in Spring Ulsters, Capes and Jackets at less than wholesale rates should visit the Mantle Department of

THE MERRY JESTERS.

Inspector (at the penitentiary)—"I understand that measles broke out three days ago."
 Warden—"Yes; but the guards caught them!"—Puck.

"I suppose your teacher is very fond of you, Georgia?" "Yes; she keeps me with her two hours after school nearly every day."—Harper's Bazar.

Manager—"What do you think of the stage effects of the new play?"
 Mr. Parguet—"The rim was too large and the bows and feathers were too high, but the pink velvet and jewelled pins were pretty."—Vogue.
