Something New in Motor Boats

The average man, buying a motor boat at a reasonable price, wants four things:— safety — comfort— freedom from trouble—speed.

As to the last of the four, don't fool yourself—or let others fool you. If you are jollyng yourself with the idea that you don't want speed, you have had mighty little experience in the great joy of motor boating.

You can't get a 35-miler and have comfort, but on the other hand don't be satisfied with a tub. You would rather ride at 11 or 15 or 20 miles per hour than to drift along at six.

We have the designs and the plant, and are turning out something different from the ordinary launch—different in design—different in construction—different in arrangement—embodying the latest ideas shown at this year's Chicago and New York shows.

Such are "KOOTENAY FLYERS," making from 9 to 28 miles per 60 minutes, depending on size and power.

These boats are not mere racing machines either — heavy, well constructed hulls—strong, substantial power plants—every inch of material the best the market affords.

And prices no more than ordinary launches.

Send for plans and descriptions.
