

International law

The United Nations has a primary role in international law. It is the only international organization with a primary role in international law. It is the only international organization with a primary role in international law.