

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PREFACE	iv
SOMMAIRE	v
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY	vi
 INTRODUCTION	 1
 CHAPTER 1: The Balkans and the South Caucasus: Similarities and Differences
1.1 Geopolitical context	3
1.1.1 Interests of outside powers	3
1.1.2 Nature of the conflicts	4
1.1.3 Status of peace processes	4
1.1.4 Oil resources of the South Caucasus	5
 1.2 Problems with stability	 5
1.2.1 Problems with representation of all groups	5
1.2.2 Demographic problems, displaced persons and refugees	6
1.2.3 Problems with democratization	7
1.2.4 Economic obstacles to reconstruction	8
1.2.5 Environmental problems	9
 1.3 Partial conclusion	 9
 CHAPTER 2: Stability Pact Project for the South Caucasus
2.1 Project introduction	11
2.2 Resolution of the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict as a model and driving force for giving the pact effect.....	12
2.3 Summary project assessment	13
Need for recognition of all the groups involved	14
Western bias	15
The “southern dimension”	15
Choice of the OSCE as coordinator.....	15
Key role of the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict	15
The SCC – conflict-resolution prerequisite or outcome?.....	16
 2.4 Partial conclusion	 17
 CHAPTER 3: Assessing the CSP in Light of the SPSEE Experience
3.1 The SPSEE	18
3.1.1 Division into tables	19
3.1.2 Quick Start Package	20
3.1.3 Stabilization/association process	20
 3.2 SPSEE implementation: a modest performance	 21
3.2.1 Successes and relative successes	21
Better cooperation among regional players	21
Agreements attributable to the pact	21
Quick Start Package: efficient funding approach?	22
SPSEE’s role in preventing new emerging conflicts	22