McGill University School for Graduate Nurses Announcements.

The School for Graduate Nurses, McGill University, makes the following important announcements of the appointment of additional members to their teaching staff. The unusual qualifications and excellent preparation of each new member for her particular field makes it possible to broaden the scope of the curriculum offered and insures sound instruction and thorough preparation of all students attending the School.

For the Preparation of Teachers for Schools of Nursing.

Emphasis will be placed upon three important aspects or branches: first, health education; second, formal classroom instruction; and third, clinical instruction. Miss Harmer will be ably assisted by Miss Marion Lindeburgh and Miss Eileen Flanagan, both newly appointed to the staff on a part-time basis, and also by the supervisors and instructors in the affiliated hospitals.

Miss Marion Lindeburgh is a Canadian, who, before entering the profession of nursing, had eight years' experience in teaching. She graduated from the St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing, New York, in 1916. Miss Lindeburgh's work as a student in nursing, both in theory and practice, was outstanding and clearly indicated her fitness for positions of responsibility and leadership. Upon graduation she was appointed on the office staff as teacher and supervisor, in which capacities she fully justified the high expectations and confidence of her colleagues and her superintendent. Miss Lindeburgh later studied Health Education at Teachers' College, Columbia University, and left St. Luke's to become the Director of the Health Education Department of the Provincial Normal School at Regina, Saskatchewan, where, during the past six years, she has achieved a remarkable success in building up a constructive teaching and health education programme. Miss Lindeburgh comes to McGill School for Graduate Nurses with the highest recommendations and the School is fortunate and happy to announce her appointment to its staff.

Miss Lindeburgh will assist with the formal teaching at the University and will be specially charged with that most important phase in the preparation of teachers through observation, participation and supervised practice teaching.
