

This Week's Attractions at the Theatres

E. M. SOTHERN AT THE ALEXANDRA

Sothern at Alexandra

THE novelty of E. H. Sothern's engagement in this city this week will be "Charlemagne," which will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee, the new romantic play by Justin Huntly McCarthy, author of "I Were King" and "The Proud Prince."

Mrs. Wiggs at the Grand

DELIGHTED, cried Col. Roosevelt, when in Louisville he was shown the veritable "cabbage patch" wherein Mrs. Alice He-Mary. And the chief executive went on to say that he regarded Mrs. Wiggs' life as highly as the simple life preached by his friend the Rev. Chas. Wagner. Presidential praise is high, state always, and in his speech delivered before the students of the State Agricultural College, at Lansing, Mich., he said: "You will learn the root principles of self-helpfulness to-day from Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, just as much as from any formal treatise on charity."

MARTIN HARVEY AT THE PRINCESS

Shea's Hippodrome

THE bill arranged by the management of Shea's Hippodrome at Teraulay and Queen streets is headed by the Fountain Olympia, who have a repertoire of startling new diving and swimming evolutions that will turn local swimmers green with envy. Pietro, the oracular pianist, acrobat and clown, will supply a musical treat. Josie Flynn and her Merry Minstrel Solids appear in a snappy singing and dancing melange. "Direct from the Polish Factory," by Saunders and Van Kuntz is guaranteed to make everybody laugh. Niblo's Talking Birds say clever things and are absolutely novel. An excellent singing and dancing act is given by Cotter and Golden. A beautiful pastoral playlet entitled "Ruckin' the Run," introducing Frank Lynch and Co., is in itself a whole show. Elliott and West have an excellent singing and eccentric dancing number.

GRACE LEITH AT THE GRAND

DENA COOPER AT LOEW'S

At the Gayety

THE New College Girls Company, which appears at the Gayety Theatre this week, is one of the best burlesque shows on the Columbia Amusement Company's circuit of theatres. The name "College Girls" has become a trade-mark in the burlesque world. This season the company has spent money lavishly on scenery, electrical effects and costumes.

Bonstelle Players

JUDGING from the large number of mail orders received, The Bonstelle Players and Miss Catherine Proctor will receive a right royal welcome when they open their summer season at the Alexandra Theatre Monday evening. Several theatre parties have evidently been arranged, as requests have been made for seats in blocks of twenty and twenty-five. The first offering, "The Temperamental Journey," when produced in New York, was described by the critics as a comedy with a "punch." During the summer matinees will be given on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Fiske O'Hara Coming

FISKE O'HARA, the popular young Irish tenor, will open his special singing engagement at the Grand Opera House next week, and the engagement he will present his three great successes, "In Old Dublin," "The Rose of Kildare" and "Love's Young Dream." During the first week he will be seen in "In Old Dublin," introducing many of his old songs, as well as several new ones.

VARNISHING DAY AT CANADIAN ART CLUB

Sixteen Artists Represented at Seventh Annual Exhibition.

Friday was varnishing day at the seventh annual exhibition of the Canadian Art Club. Ninety-four pictures, representing the work of sixteen artists, attracted the attention and criticism of the early visitors to the gallery. Perhaps the picture that drew the first sight was "The Royal Mail," a large canvas by Horatio Walker. The outstanding figure in the landscape are two horses plunging their way thru straining with the effort until the loonine head and foreleg of the leader seem almost strained out of proportion with the stress of endeavor. The story of the picture seems to be that time tide and all the elements must give way to his majesty's service. The "After Glow" is a beautiful scene by William Byrmer. In the water between the banks, blue sky foliage and trunks of trees are reflected most truthfully, and the house tops appearing just above the steeps gives a very human touch. Maurice Cullen has a painting on the North River showing the peculiar blue tints on the snow, which for some has so great an attraction. The dark trees and cold sky are most effective. Among the strong canvases is "The River Drivers," by Homer Watson. On the turbulent water between the high hills rising on either side and away in the distance are massed the floating rafts guided by the drivers, whose red shirts give just the touch of high color needed.

"The First Snow" is another canvas by Horatio Walker, giving a different conception of the artist to that gathered from "The Royal Mail." This is a simple country scene, in which sheep patches of snow, an occasional tree and houses in the valley give a very familiar picture. Walker's name and work are very much in favor. A canvas which attracts by its realism is "Les Fumes, Port de Montreal." Out from the white, some times green-edged water of the St. Lawrence rise the houses of the city seen thru the city's smoke. It is true to life. This picture is winner of the Jessie Day prize.

H. Ivan-Nelson shows excellent perspective and coloring in a landscape, "Down Grand Lac, Helene, Quebec." A group of etchings among which "The Old Wooden Bridge," "The Rambling Quince," and several schoolers beautifully proportioned are shown, is a feature of the exhibit.

Other artists exhibiting work worthy of study and attention are Clarence Gagnon, Henri Herbert, Philippe Herbert, Ernest Lawson, J. W. Maurice Proctor, W. Edwin Atkinson, Arnold bald Browne, Franklin Brownell and J. H. Clapp.
