

SOCIOLOGY AND PRACTICAL RELIGION

FREDERIC J. HASKIN

*Author of
"The American Government"*

The Immigrant: An Asset and a Liability

12mo, cloth, net $1.25.

The basis for this book is a series of articles in nearly fifty leading dailies in the United States which attracted widespread interest and approval. The author, a well-known newspaper correspondent is noted for his accuracy and thoroughness. He has treated each phase of the question in a painstaking, scientific manner. The text bristles with statistics, illustrations, generalizations and deductions all welded together into a crisp, straightforward narration of absorbing interest. It might very properly be called an encyclopedic handbook on the subject of Immigration.

CHARLES STELZLE

The Gospel of Labor

12mo, cloth, net 50c.

This volume of talks to working men is characteristic of the author of "Letters From a Workingman." Dr. Stelzle is rightly called "The Apostle of the American Laborer." Once a workingman himself he knows just how to reach the men of this class. The sympathy and understanding of like experiences inform his addresses and carry the message home to the heart.

PROFESSOR JAMES R. HOWERTON

The Church and Social Reform

12mo, cloth, net 75c.

This compact little volume on Christianity and social conditions presents the subject in three sections: First, "The Church and Revolutions of the Past"; Second, "The Causes of the Present Social Crisis"; Third, "The Church and Social Reforms of To-day." The student of social conditions will find here a very clear and satisfactory historical statement, a graphic analysis of the causes of the present discontent and a rationale of alleviation that will arouse discussion and open the eyes of Christian citizens to their duty in the present crisis.

YOUNG MEN

JOHN DOUGLAS ADAM, D.D.

Letters of Father and Son During a College Course

12mo, cloth, net $1.00.

There is plenty of practical everyday common sense in these letters in addition to the spiritual philosophy which characterizes them. In twenty-four chapters life's great problems are discussed with freedom and insight. Study, recreation, friends, use of time, money, health, speech, thought, influence, religion, trouble, optimism and character are some of the subjects treated.
