

AFTER LONG SILENCE.

Since you who ever found our Home no Home,
Went homeward out across the harbour foam ;
Ah! how can I, so long of songs forlorn,
In aught but silence for your silence mourn?