ADDRESS

DELIVERED AT THE OPENING OF THE SUMMER SESSION CLINIC FOR DISEASES OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM, McGILL UNIVERSITY, APRIL 14TH, 1885.

BY

HENRY HOWARD, M.D.

Gentlemen,—Your professor, and my esteemed friend, Dr. Stewart, kindly invited me to give the opening lecture to his summer session clinical course on diseases of the nervous system. I consented to do so with great pleasure, because I know he will treat his subject from the standpoint of a physical scientist, the only point from which any of the diseases of the human frame can be treated scientifically.

Yesterday I received the American Journal of Neurology and Psychiatry, one of the best edited journals on this continent, which contains the valedictory address of the Hon. Wm. Barnes, past-President of the Society of Medical Jurisprudence and State Medicine, in which he says, reviewing the work of the past year : "At the fifteenth regular meeting of the Society, held in May, "1884, Dr. Henry Howard of Montreal read a paper entitled "Why Lawyers and Doctors fail to agree. Dr. Howard maintained that experimental philosophy was the only true basis upon which to found all jurisprudence--all medical jurisprudence, all education, and all social order; and that physical science should be the beginning and ending of all education. "If penal codes were based upon it, the criminal would be tried
