Czar Welcomes Agitators They Find He's One of Them

Joins in Their Desire to Bring About New Order of Things— Says National Assembly Will Again Unite Russia.

St. Petersburg, June 19.—Emperor Nicholas received the Zemstvo deputations this morning. The reception occurred at noon in the Alexander Palace at Peterhof.

Prince Troubetsky, president of the Zemstvo congress of Moscow government, in behalf of Moscow delegation addressed the emperor in a lengthy speech, in which he described the serious condition existing in Russia, which he has caused the Zemstvos to approach his majesty directly. Prince Troubetsky spoke for half an hour, and the emperor was evidently much impressed.

M. Petrov, representing the St. Petersburg delegation, also spoke. His majesty replied, expressing deep regret at the great sacrifices consequent on the war, and above everything, at the disaster to the Russian navy. In conclusion the emperor said:

"I thank you gentlemen for the sentiments expressed, and I join in your desire to bring up a new order of things. My personal wish, and my will as emperor to summon a national assembly is unshakable. I await with anxiety the carrying out of this, my will. You can announce this to the inhabitants of the towns and villages throughout Russia, and from to-day you will assist me in this new work. The national assembly will establish as formerly a united Russia, and the emperor will be the supreme support of the condition of grants based on the principle of Russian nationalism."

Upon completing his remarks the emperor graciously greeted the individual members of the delegation, shaking hands with each and having a few cordial words for each, even such radicals as M. Petrov and the members of the Moscow Agricultural Society, who has spent many years in exile as the result of his participation in the "Anarchist Shakofsky" of the greatest of the latest evidence of imperial displeasure.

The fact that the emperor not only received the deputations, but also expressed full sympathy with the deplorable state of affairs depicted therein, and in the most direct and explicit fashion, is a promise of assistance to the representatives of the people, made the deepest impression on the delegation.

Delegates Delighted.

Prince Troubetsky, Ioff and Delorsky, whom the correspondent of the Associated Press saw, only showed by their manner their delight at the result of the audience, but expressed themselves as fully satisfied with the imperial assurances. So far that they are concerned they indicated that they are ready to support the fulfillment of the emperor's promise, which, it is believed, will not be long delayed.

The delegation is now preparing an account of the audience, which will be presented to the emperor tomorrow, and in accordance with his instructions as well as the imperial promise, the emperor will receive the Zemstvos and mayors of Russia.

ARREST THE MAN AND WOMAN FOR BABE IN WOODS MURDER

Coroner's Jury Charge Her With the Crime and Indicate Strong Suspicion Against Him.

Halifax, June 19.—(Special.)—The coroner's jury at Digby, concluded the taking of evidence in the enquiry into the cause and manner of death of Mary Ward, at 6 o'clock this evening, and by a 6-0 verdict had reached the conclusion that the girl came to her death by suffocation at the hands of May Hope Young, and "while the evidence is strong against Kingsley Melanson, as being a party to the death, yet we do not feel justified in rendering a verdict that she came to her death at his hands. We do recommend that a thorough investigation be made by the proper authorities, to ascertain whether Melanson assisted in any way in causing the death."

After the reading of the verdict, Samuel J. Milberry, retired marine of the Pictou and member of the coroner's jury, laid an information against both May Hope Young and Kingsley Melanson, charging them with the murder of the child and with the murder of the child and with the murder of the child.

The autopsy shows no signs of food in the stomach of the dead child, and the suggestion was not accepted to disprove the evidence of Mrs. Young, who claimed to have left the child at 6 o'clock Friday evening, each with a piece of bread and cornmeal, the latter of which she claimed to have been eaten, the bread being found with a small piece bitten out.

The child was found lying on a healthy 3-year-old should weigh, there was no evidence of a wasting sickness, and the alternative would be insufficient. The state of decomposition further indicates that May Ward must have been dead at least 26 hours when found, which would prove the impossibility of the two children having been seen playing in the yard.

Despatches from Boston indicate that the address given by Mrs. Young does not reveal Elmer Young. She now says she addresses her letter to Box 216, Boston. Her mother, Mary Ann Young, says she lives at Medfordville, N.H., but Oxford, N.H., is given by Elmer Young as the address in one of her letters to her. A sister, Kate, wife of Whitney Broadhurst, lives in Charlestown, Mass. Her brother, Joseph Young, lives at Mousquash, N.B.

When attending the fall term, the woman broke down and wept.

GERMANY IS PACIFIED

Conference is to Be Held and Commercial Privileges, Not Sultan's Sovereignty, Discussed.

Paris, June 19.—An international conference for the consideration of affairs of Morocco is now practically assured as the result of the conversations between Premier Rouvier and Prince Radolin, the German ambassador, and attention is now directed to defining the scope of the conference. Details are rapidly being arranged, and the officials expect to announce the plans for the conference in four or five days.

This result, after the severe strain which tested the diplomatic resources of both governments, has the effect of relieving the tension of the officials of the foreign office and the diplomats of the German embassy, and an amicable adjustment is near at hand.

Altho the acceptance of the conference gives a certain measure of success to German diplomacy, yet M. Rouvier gains the advantage of having brought Germany to exactly define the scope of the conference and so to rid it of the objection of being a menace to French interests.

It is understood that the two governments substantially agree on some of the main features involved. Germany had suspected that France had designs on the sovereignty of Morocco, but the negotiations disclosed that France had not questioned this sovereignty. Similarly, it is understood that France had not desired to interrupt the present territorial or political status quo of Morocco.

All that remains for the conference is to adjust the equality of commercial rights, as Germany desires reforms and commercial privileges.

MOTHER RACES WITH DEATH BEARING BABY IN HER ARMS

Child Takes Atropia and Only Mother's Frantic Run to Hospital Saves It.

Thru the crowded streets yesterday afternoon, with her little child in her arms, Mrs. W. J. McArthur of 373 Yonge-street hurried to St. Michael's Hospital. The child, a bright little fellow of two years, had taken atropia, and but for the quick action of his mother would have died from the effects of the poison.

For several weeks Lena London, the ten-year-old daughter of Mrs. McArthur, has been complaining of her ailment. Yesterday she went to St. Michael's Hospital to have the optic examined. The doctor in charge gave her a bottle of atropia with instruction for the child to take the drops. He also cautioned her of the deadly qualities of the drug.

When she returned home she went to her mother and told her of the visit that she had made. She left the bottle containing the drug on the table, and George, who had been playing about the floor, climbed upon the table, and with childish curiosity pulled the cork and tasted the contents.

In a few moments the mother and father returned home, and found the little fellow floundering about on the floor in agony of pain. Mrs. McArthur dispatched her daughter for a doctor and the minutes of her absence seemed an hour. Grabbing the child in her arm she set out for the hospital.

As she sped down Yonge-street with the child in her arms she attracted little attention. A policeman stopped her to learn what was the matter, and when she told him of the ailment, he accompanied her to the hospital.

Half fainting from her exertion she took the little boy into the operating room, and the doctor, who had been called back upon a bench. In a half hour the doctor declared that the youngster had swallowed poison. The stomach pump was called into requisition, and late last night the little fellow had somewhat recovered from the terrible spasms following the poisoning.

London, June 20.—The report submitted by H. The report also states that the United Kingdom in different parts of the empire, and in Canada, where, according to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the government is prepared to set aside 240,000 acres for this purpose.

WAR PARTY DYING HARD.

Doing Its Best to Make Manchester Situation Look Rosy.

St. Petersburg, June 19.—The war party has by no means surrendered. On the contrary, backed by the military element, it is making a concerted effort to dissuade the emperor from concluding peace. Ever since the beginning of the war, they have been disseminating optimistic views, and Lieut. Linevich, his lieutenant, is reinforcing their arguments with rosy reports of the strategic situation. Many war correspondents at the front are evidently inspired from here as filing despatches in the same strain.

The Novorossiya correspondents point to the hazards to the government in disbanding an army of half a million men without giving them a taste of success, and expresses the fear of dangerous consequences. The same correspondent, however, alleges the fact that the rank and file are indifferent.

PASTOR REFUSES TRANSFER.

Rev. Norman Tucker of Kingston May Quit the Church.

Kingston, June 19.—(Special.)—A case of revolt against the finding of the stationing committee of the Methodist Church in Kingston, has arisen here.

Rev. Norman Tucker was pastor of the Princess-street Methodist Church in Kingston. At the first draft of the Montreal conference, held at Ottawa, he was allotted to his old congregation, but he alleges that before the second draft the delegates from the other churches urged that he be moved, and in the next draft he was assigned to St. John's, Quebec.

He has decided to send a substitute, for some time at least, claiming that he should be allowed to remain here for the educational advantages and because he has just bought a house.

He may leave the Methodist Church altogether.

Has No Substitute.

DR. BALL SEEKS NEW FRANCHISE

Kingston's Street Railway Muddle is Further Complicated—Option on Present System is Declined.

Kingston, June 19.—(Special.)—The street railway situation took a right-about-turn this evening, that seemed almost leave the members of council breathless for a few minutes. Dr. Ball, who has been negotiating for the road for a few days, had asked for a 30-days' option at $25,000, not including Lake Ontario Park. The offer was not favorably received by the bondholders, and this afternoon he withdrew it entirely.

To-night he appeared before the council, and after the report granting certain concessions to any purchaser had passed, proposed that he be granted a franchise independent of either of the present franchise. He agreed, if this was done, to build a new system altogether, covering the city with a belt and branch lines and to give a guarantee that the whole system would be running on the 1st of September. This meant providing an absolute new plant and cutting off the present franchise, which expires on Sep. 1st.

A committee was appointed to deal with the offer, and the council decided to make the following concessions on the present agreement to any responsible party who should offer to purchase the road:

A reduced service between Oct. 15 and May 15, discontinuance of Williamsville line, exemption from taxation on outside line for 10 years, no cost for repairs of streets or removal of snow, right to double track the system, and to install a plant at cost of labor and material for one year.

WEATHER WREAKS DAMAGE THROUGHOUT THE DISTRICT

Fruit, Vegetables and Grain Will Suffer from Yesterday's Heavy Electrical Storm.

A severe electrical storm, accompanied by high winds and a heavy downpour of rain, passed over the city shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The rain was so heavy that it became necessary to resort to artificial light in a majority of downtown establishments. During the passage of the storm the streets were pretty thoroughly cleared of traffic, but beyond the overflow of water at a few points, caused by the sewers being unable to carry off the rain, no damage was reported. The Bell Telephone Co. reported a slight interruption to their long distance service, but this was of short duration. Out in the suburbs the results were more widespread and disastrous. In some places the roofs of houses suffered severely, the land being already saturated with the heavy rain of the previous day. In some places the roofs of houses were blown off, and in some places the roofs of houses were blown off.

SIGNAL CORPS PRACTISING AT NIAGARA CAMP

Big Men Visitors at Camp. Gen. Lake Spends Busy Day.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, June 19.—(Special.)—The camp was astir very early this morning. The cavalry were up at 4:30 to prepare for the inspection by General Lake, who is here, accompanied by Capt. Weston, R.S.F.A. The weather was fearfully hot again all day, and the men under inspection felt the heat very much. A thunder shower was a welcome visitor during the afternoon, when the artillery was under inspection, for it cooled things off for an hour or so. Distinguished visitors to the camp to-day were: Col. Biggar, administrator of the Army Service Corps, who inspected the company which is doing such good service here. Lieut. Col. Weston, R.S.F.A., who inspected the medical services, who inspected the hospitals and equipment, and Lieut. Col. Weston, R.S.F.A., who inspected the engineering service, who will inspect the engineers in the morning.

The success of the campaign depends largely on its commander being familiar with the interior economy of his command, and having a knowledge of his men individually, as well as of the hundreds of little matters connected with a regiment in any branch of the service. Gen. Lake questioned the officers at length in this regard. Every officer had been called upon to provide himself with a list of every man under his charge, giving names, rank and years of service.

After the day's work, General Lake met General Otter and commanding officers at headquarters, and talked with them for an hour on matters of establishment and system of training, and he invited suggestions. This evening he dined with the quarters of the 2nd and the brigade commander. Several regiments of infantry were inspected in detail during the afternoon, and the general visited the hospital quarters on inspection in the morning. He also visited the 2nd and 3rd regiments, and the movements were executed very well. To the commanding officers he expressed satisfaction with the efficiency of the brigade.

The inspection of the artillery was one of the most interesting and pretty features of to-day's work. These were an imaginary army in the woods to the south and another on the river bank, and the general inspected the opposing forces on the camp ground. The inspection of the guns helped on the rain. Col. Weston inspected the batteries in detail, and then all the batteries ranked up and were inspected by the general.

General Lake asked for four officers of the G.G.B.C. for a cavalry regiment, and the names of Messrs. Creelman, Lieut. Selby and Lieut. Newberry were detailed to make a special report as to how an army could get up Queenston Heights with guns, transports, etc.; where the army would likely be attacked, and where there would be an ambush.

Col. Aug. Fleet, director-general of the medical services, very minutely inspected the hospital quarters, and the Medical Corps, Reserve Corps and Hospital Corps. He was very satisfied in his questioning of the officers, and asked for any improvements in very branch. Interviewed by The World as to his inspection of the Niagara Falls before going to Ottawa and Quebec camps, Col. Fleet expressed himself as delighted with the progress of the work, which, if not perfect, was most complete in detail, and it had never been so pleasant to inspect such a splendid camp before. He was generous with compliments to Lieut. Col. Pothering, and to the officers of the Medical and Hospital Corps. Col. Fleet rode to his train in one of the ambulance wagons, and the ambulance wagons have been continually in evidence during the camp, but most of their patients were only suffering from ailments of a minor nature.

As she sped down Yonge-street with the child in her arms she attracted little attention. A policeman stopped her to learn what was the matter, and when she told him of the ailment, he accompanied her to the hospital.

Half fainting from her exertion she took the little boy into the operating room, and the doctor, who had been called back upon a bench. In a half hour the doctor declared that the youngster had swallowed poison. The stomach pump was called into requisition, and late last night the little fellow had somewhat recovered from the terrible spasms following the poisoning.

WEATHER WREAKS DAMAGE THROUGHOUT THE DISTRICT

Fruit, Vegetables and Grain Will Suffer from Yesterday's Heavy Electrical Storm.

A severe electrical storm, accompanied by high winds and a heavy downpour of rain, passed over the city shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The rain was so heavy that it became necessary to resort to artificial light in a majority of downtown establishments. During the passage of the storm the streets were pretty thoroughly cleared of traffic, but beyond the overflow of water at a few points, caused by the sewers being unable to carry off the rain, no damage was reported. The Bell Telephone Co. reported a slight interruption to their long distance service, but this was of short duration. Out in the suburbs the results were more widespread and disastrous. In some places the roofs of houses suffered severely, the land being already saturated with the heavy rain of the previous day. In some places the roofs of houses were blown off, and in some places the roofs of houses were blown off.

MAKING BONDHOLDERS TREMBLE

DR. BALL SEEKS NEW FRANCHISE

Kingston's Street Railway Muddle is Further Complicated—Option on Present System is Declined.

Kingston, June 19.—(Special.)—The street railway situation took a right-about-turn this evening, that seemed almost leave the members of council breathless for a few minutes. Dr. Ball, who has been negotiating for the road for a few days, had asked for a 30-days' option at $25,000, not including Lake Ontario Park. The offer was not favorably received by the bondholders, and this afternoon he withdrew it entirely.

To-night he appeared before the council, and after the report granting certain concessions to any purchaser had passed, proposed that he be granted a franchise independent of either of the present franchise. He agreed, if this was done, to build a new system altogether, covering the city with a belt and branch lines and to give a guarantee that the whole system would be running on the 1st of September. This meant providing an absolute new plant and cutting off the present franchise, which expires on Sep. 1st.

A committee was appointed to deal with the offer, and the council decided to make the following concessions on the present agreement to any responsible party who should offer to purchase the road:

A reduced service between Oct. 15 and May 15, discontinuance of Williamsville line, exemption from taxation on outside line for 10 years, no cost for repairs of streets or removal of snow, right to double track the system, and to install a plant at cost of labor and material for one year.

MOTHER RACES WITH DEATH BEARING BABY IN HER ARMS

Child Takes Atropia and Only Mother's Frantic Run to Hospital Saves It.

Thru the crowded streets yesterday afternoon, with her little child in her arms, Mrs. W. J. McArthur of 373 Yonge-street hurried to St. Michael's Hospital. The child, a bright little fellow of two years, had taken atropia, and but for the quick action of his mother would have died from the effects of the poison.

For several weeks Lena London, the ten-year-old daughter of Mrs. McArthur, has been complaining of her ailment. Yesterday she went to St. Michael's Hospital to have the optic examined. The doctor in charge gave her a bottle of atropia with instruction for the child to take the drops. He also cautioned her of the deadly qualities of the drug.

When she returned home she went to her mother and told her of the visit that she had made. She left the bottle containing the drug on the table, and George, who had been playing about the floor, climbed upon the table, and with childish curiosity pulled the cork and tasted the contents.

In a few moments the mother and father returned home, and found the little fellow floundering about on the floor in agony of pain. Mrs. McArthur dispatched her daughter for a doctor and the minutes of her absence seemed an hour. Grabbing the child in her arm she set out for the hospital.

As she sped down Yonge-street with the child in her arms she attracted little attention. A policeman stopped her to learn what was the matter
