

FREIGHT RATES CUT VITAL, SAYS PREMIER BAXTER IN SPEECH

Duncan Report Is Subject of Address; Premier Rhodes Refers to Critics and Defends Findings

TWO MARITIME PREMIERS, one in a speech and the other in a statement, dealt with the Duncan Report last night.

One was Premier Baxter, of New Brunswick, who pointed out that in recommending a reduction in freight rates, the Duncan Commission struck at a vital point in the present problem and that the granting of this reduction would bring about a great improvement in business. The other was Premier Rhodes, of Nova Scotia, who dealt with the tendency of some editorial writers to oppose certain recommendations of the commission.

Extreme party cohesion in political affairs was one of the main points of the Maritime Provinces, was the statement made last evening by Premier Baxter in his address at the New Albert School auditorium, West Saint John.

The Premier chose the Duncan report as his subject for the address, which was heard by about 200 pupils and their relatives.

"The Premier said it was not his intention to criticize the report, but he would like to draw attention to the recommendation of a reduction in freight rates. In his opinion the commission had struck at the vital point of the present basis of grievances of the three eastern provinces and this reduction would mean a great improvement in business trade when once put into effect.

Referring to provincial and federal politics, he said the great trouble prevailing here was the party cohesion which in many instances tended to

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn cough. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, sore throat, tickle, bronchial asthma, winter cough.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use distilled honey instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family supply—much better than any store-bought cough syrup, and it costs less than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. The children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable gaultheria. It has the most powerful healing effect upon the membranes of the throat and chest, and is the most powerful cough suppressant and expectorant drug yet discovered. Guaranteed to cure. SHILOH FOR COUGHS pose some of the recommendations contained in the report of the Duncan Royal Commission on Maritime Rights, particularly those dealing with what they call "Subsidized Freight Rates."

"It is rather unfortunate that the reduction should be abroad that any rate reductions applicable to the Atlantic region, as recommended by the Duncan Commission, will be subsidized by the Dominion Government. From the evidence presented to the commission, an outlet and route on the Atlantic ocean—available all the year round—and

HISTORY OF I. C. R.

"The Duncan Commission deals with the history of the construction of the Intercolonial Railway, now a part of the Canadian National System.

(a) That leading Canadian statesmen in urging the adherence of the Maritime Provinces to Confederation defined the purposes of the railroad to be:

(1) A means of affording to Canadian merchandise, and to Canada herself in times of national and imperial need, an outlet and route on the Atlantic ocean—available all the year round—and

(2) To afford the Maritime merchants, traders and manufacturers a market of several millions of people instead of their being restricted to the small and scattered populations of the Maritimes themselves, particularly in the light of the disturbance which their trade was threatened as the result of the discontinuance by the United States of the reciprocal arrangements that had prevailed.

(b) That strategic considerations determined the actual course of the line—making it many miles (estimated by Sir Sandford Fleming at 200 miles) longer than was necessary for the purpose of connecting the Maritimes with the rest of the Dominion.

(c) That to the extent that commercial considerations were subordinate to national and imperial considerations, the cost would be borne by the Dominion and not by the traffic which the line was to carry.

"It will be sufficient to state that the construction of the Intercolonial Railway was a commercial proposition. The guarantee of the Imperial Government was sought and given on the understanding that commercial considerations should be sacrificed to Imperial interest. The conference resolutions, adopted in London in 1866 and submitted to the Imperial Government and Parliament as the basis of the British North America Act, contained the following resolution:

"The construction of the Intercolonial Railway being essential to the consolidation of the union of British North America, and to the benefit of the Dominion, the Imperial Government agreed that provision be made for its immediate construction by the General Government, and that the Imperial Government should guarantee for 20,000,000 sterling, to be paid in four equal annual instalments, the cost of the railway."

"The Imperial guarantee mentioned therein was given because the Imperial Government desired to determine the route of the railway, and to secure for the Dominion a commercial advantage to the people of Canada. Whilst we have the St. Lawrence in summer and the American ports in times of peace, we have all that is requisite for our purpose."

"We (Canadians) recognize, however, the fact that peace may not always exist, and we must have some other means of outlet if we do not wish to be cut off from the ocean for many months in the year. We have all that is requisite for our purpose."

"In the case of a union, this railway (I. C. R.) must be a national work and Canadian. Ontario and Quebec—cheerfully contribute to the utmost extent in order to make that important link in our political connection complete."

CONCLUSION REACHED

"It is unnecessary here to give further detail the historical references that were submitted as evidence of these facts, but it is sufficient to say that from the evidence submitted to the Duncan Commission very definite arrived at the conclusion that (1) The Intercolonial Railway was built as a commercial enterprise, and (2) The cost of operating at least 200 miles of non-essential commercial traffic should be borne by the Dominion Government.

The Commission further stated:

"The days are changing. The days are bright, the next cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out. The children are up in overcoats, but they are not used to the cold. They are soon seized with colds or grippe. What is needed is to keep the little ones well. Baby's Own Tablets are the only medicine that will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds, and through their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety."

In using Baby's Own Tablets the mother is giving her precious little one something that is absolutely safe and something that is absolutely sure to do harm to the newborn babe as the Tablets contain not a particle of opium or other dangerous drugs. They are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box, by mail from The Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE PROBLEM OF THE DELICATE CHILD

Solved for Parents by Father John's Medicine

The delicate child is the under-nourished child. Pale, nervous, listless, the tendency to take cold, the inability to get rid of colds, are bound to continue as long as the child does not get the proper amount of nourishment. When Father John's Medicine is given as a food-tonic, there is an immediate gain in weight, a gain in colour, a gain in strength.

Dr. J. is only one of many mothers who owe the health of her son to Father John's Medicine. In latter, Mme. Beggs says, was afraid my son was going into a decline. The slightest cold would make him cough a great deal and nothing seemed to relieve him. One of his friends advised Father John's Medicine which he took until the cough had disappeared. He is now in perfect health and does not cough at all—but I will keep a bottle of Father John's Medicine on hand in case he should take a cold."

Father John's Medicine is a body-builder peculiarly suited to the needs of the frail, delicate child. It is a preparation of the finest cod-liver oil, scientifically blended with several other valuable food elements by specially designed apparatus which breaks up the cod liver oil into such remarkable tiny particles that the wonderful food properties are absorbed by the weakened system. It is this abundance of rich, easily digested nutriment in Father John's Medicine which makes new blood and firm flesh for the delicate child—which brings new sturdy strength to the weak muscles—which gives new energy and fills the whole system with that fighting power which resists disease and transforms paleness and thinness into glowing health.

Mothers feel safe in giving Father John's Medicine to the children because it is free of alcohol and dangerous drugs, and has been successfully used for

Timely Hints And Advice In Avoiding Flu

ACCORDING to news despatches, influenza is again epidemic in many parts of the world. Fortunately there are no signs of a return here, but to be on the safe side, and believing that "prevention is better than cure," The Evening Times-Star publishes the following timely hints and advice.

1. Influenza attacks the strong almost in preference to the weak. Therefore, keep away from crowds and avoid contacts. This means you must minimize socializing under the conditions are more favorable, salute instead of shaking hands, and avoid the cough and sneeze as you would a bill collector.

2. Keep your general health as near par as you can; eat simple, wholesome food, get enough sleep and don't get panicky. If you suffer from fever, chills and depression go home and call the doctor, and isolate yourself so you do not expose others.

3. Avoid prolonged exposure to cold and wet, especially when tired. Don't take alcohol or other poisons. Take plenty of exercise and fresh air.

4. Take cold baths, and sponge or spray neck, chest and spine to increase resistance to chills and drafts.

5. Give prompt attention to first signs of cold—chill, fever and throat symptoms. Keep the hands away from the nose and mouth; avoid picking or rubbing the nose. Use a mild menthol oil spray in the nose before going out or mingling in crowds.
