

KARL TAKES TINO'S HOTEL SUITE FOR EXILED MONARCHS

Ex-Emperor's Movements Are Considerably Restricted By Switzerland—Regrets Escape.

Lucerne, Switz., April 11.—Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary, domiciled here after his unsuccessful trip to Hungary in an effort to reclaim the Hungarian throne, is occupying with former Empress Zita the same hotel suite that King Constantine and Queen Sophie of Greece lived in when they were in exile here. This suite is known locally as "The Kings' and Queens' refuge."

The Swiss government permitted the ex-emperor to return to Switzerland only on condition that he take part in no intrigues or propaganda measures. He is prohibited from giving interviews or from leaving the canton of Lucerne, within the borders of which his villa eventually will be chosen for the family. Charles strongly desires to remain in Switzerland as does the ex-empress because of its healthfulness and the facilities it affords for the education of their children. Therefore, it is declared there is no question as yet of their going to Spain.

The ex-emperor and ex-empress attended services at a local church. Both of them looked well, but tired. Charles seems to have recovered from his attack of bronchitis.

Sharing the exile of Charles in Lucerne are many members of the Hungarian nobility, including Chamberlain Marquis Pallavicini, secretary Von Borovitsky, Professor Weinhardt, Captains Schorta and Werkmann and the Countess Schonborn. The Swiss colonel Kissling and Captain Truge will remain here for a time.

The Marquis Pallavicini said that except for the veto of the Allies the Little Entente which had disarmed Hungary would have been unable to withstand the situation and that Charles would have been king, as the people desired him. He added that Admiral Horthy was ready to resign, if the country was safe from outside interference. The Marquis Pallavicini added that Charles had agreed to leave Hungary in order to prevent war, but that he refused to abdicate or renounce his rights in favor of his young son Otto. He said that Charles regretted his escape.

The former monarch, however, considered that his return to the throne had been only postponed until some favorable time.

BOOM IN MARRIAGES

Nearly 400,000 in 1920 in England and Wales.

London, April 11.—The Ministry of Health has made the following statement to a news agency:

"During 1920 nearly 400,000 couples were married in England and Wales, a considerable increase on 1919, when there had been all 'pre-' as recorded. If the content of the 'boon' in matrimony one may get some idea when it is remembered that for the three years preceding the war the annual average was only 250,000. Indeed, the 250,000 mark has only been passed twice—in 1919 and in 1915—when, owing to the cry of 'single men first' the marriages in the latter half of the year went up with a sudden bound and eclipsed all previous figures."

"Signs are not wanting, however, that the crest of the matrimonial wave has passed. Nuptiality, as it is termed by some statisticians, apparently reached its apex in the summer of last year, for the figures for the last quarter are decidedly lower than they were in both 1915 and 1919. It is a well-established rule nowadays that there are fewer marriages in the winter than in the summer months; but this notwithstanding it seems probable that 1920 will hold the matrimonial 'record' for many years to come."

BIG OIL GUSHER IN THE ARGENTINE

Buenos Aires, March 16.—(Associated Press, by Mail)—The first big gusher, among the oil wells in the government field at Comodoro Rivadavia has just been brought in with an estimated production of 25,000 barrels a day. The previous wells in that district had been small. As this new one is in a new part of the field it is thought that this may mean Argentina is entering on an era of large production. The oil is heavy, as is the other oil so far produced at Comodoro Rivadavia, and is of little use except for fuel.

OPPOSE RESALE TO THE GERMANS

British Shipping Body Objects to Surrendered Merchant Vessels Passing Out of Allied Hands.

London, March 26.—(Associated Press, by Mail)—The British Chamber of Shipping has decided to oppose the sale to foreigners of any of the merchant ships surrendered by the Germans. It holds that under no circumstances should any of them be sold back to the Germans. A vote to that effect was taken at a meeting of the council just held to decide what disposition should be made of the vessels remaining in the possession of the British government.

Lord Inchcape, who has been entrusted with the sale of the vessels on behalf of the Reparations Commission, said that 188 German ships had been privately disposed of to British nationals, but a good number still remained to be sold and the demand for them, owing to the slump in the shipping trade, had slackened. It had been suggested that some arrangement might be considered whereby the market for the ships might be thrown open to the whole world.

One Newcastle shipowner affirmed that England would be disgraced in the eyes of the world, if, after all her commerce had suffered from German submarines, any of the German ships were allowed to go back to Germany, particularly at the present prevailing low prices.

DISORDER IN COURT.

Confiscated Liquor Exploded in Detective's Pocket.

New York, April 11.—New York's night court, busy as a result of the police department's first drive at enforcement of the state prohibition law, adjourned temporarily in disorder when a quart bottle of confiscated liquor exploded in the pocket of the detective.

The detective stood before the magistrate supporting a man, who, with bowed head, was confessing that he had partaken too freely of the brew that intoxicated.

"Where's the evidence?" asked the court.

The detective's hand moved toward his pocket and a loud report followed. Someone shouted "Bomb," and a rus for the exits began. The detective was hurried to the floor, as was his prisoner. The magistrate and other in the court gathered outside and returned only when apprised of the cause of the explosion.

The next defendant on the do a father of ten, still trembling as result of the explosion scare, took pledge to abstain "forever and ever."

YOUR son Billy at home, where you saw him—and probably corrected him—every day, seemed very different from Billy miles away at school. Somehow you forget now his rascally ways, his eternally grimy hands, and remember rather the frank blue eyes, the ring of boyish laughter.

Sometimes, when your wife thinks you are reading the evening paper, you are really thinking about the boy. He is how old—nearly thirteen! In fact, his birthday is due in a fortnight. He's growing up, that son of yours.

And what about the birthday? He has been begging for a watch. Why not make his dreams come true?

Can't you just see the incredulous joy in those same boyish eyes when he opens his birthday parcel, away there at school—his chums looking on—and then a shout: "O gee, fellows! Dad's sent me a watch. Gee!—It's an Elgin—that's the very best. Isn't he a dandy dad?"
