JOHN T. HAWKE IN TWO ADDRESSES HERE

Moncton Editor Speaks on Social Unrest and on the Liquor Business

John T. Hawke, proprietor of the Moncton Transcript, lectured under the auspices of the Portland Y. M. C. A. in Portland yesterday afternoon, on "The Church and Social Unrest." He handled the subject in a very finished manner and forcibly brought home to his audience the truth of his arguments. He reviewed the social unrest which is now manifest in this and other countries, and told of the great work which the Christian religion had done in the way of reform and the uplifting of the common people. He pointed out the democratic nature of the Christian religion, and showed how Christ had selected men of lowly calling for His disciples.

Mr. Hawke paid a glowing tribute to Lloyd George as a Christian statesman, and said that the late Mr. Gladstone was also in this class. He also spoke of the great work done by the Salvation Army under the leadership of General Booth, and urged church members to rouse themselves and do their share in alleviating the distress of the people and thus help to keep out the evil of socialism which was at present trying for the favor of the common people.

He denounced anti-Christian socialism, and declared that the advocates of socialism had said that Christianity had done nothing for the common people, but he thought it only necessary to read a little history in order to see the reforms that had been brought about by the church. Many people did not seem much impressed with the work of the Salvation Army, but the members were doing a great work and the other religious denominations were recognizing the fact that the methods were good. He told of seeing the army of the Church of England on the march in London when he was there at the coronation last year, and he was sure that many of the churches were finding that this method resulted in great good being done.

At the Every Day Club

The announcement that Mr. Hawke would speak at the Every Day Club last evening attracted an audience that filled the hall, and the hearty applause which greeted his remarks from time to time proved that the audience were in sympathy with his point of view. Rev. W. W. Brewer and Rev. H. D. Marr were with him on the platform.

Mr. Hawke sharply criticized the people of St. John for their failure to put an end to the liquor traffic. He contended that they should take action not only for the good of the city, but for the good of these local people or Scott act committee into which liquor is shipped from St. John. He appealed to the ministers in the churches to speak out on this question. With regard to total abstinence, he said that the great work of the world is being done today by total abstinence, and observed that the captain who ordered the stokers of the steamer to be served with grog before the vessel was sent toward the Titanic should take a few primary lessons in science, relating to the effect of alcohol upon the human system. Mr. Hawke gave a graphic picture of scenes he had witnessed last year in Glasgow and London, where women with babes in their arms drank liquor and even gave it to the little ones, developing an appetite to destroy them. He was told that in one church in Glasgow only three of the men who were members were total abstainers.

McGovern Priests

A very pretty wedding took place in Boston on Thursday last, when Miss Jennie McGovern, formerly of this city, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McGovern, of Britain street, was united in marriage to Frank G. Priars, of Everett (Mass.). The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. McCoy, at the Cathedral of Holy Cross. The bride was supported by Miss Nellie Form, a cousin of the groom, while Douglas Sinclair supported the groom. The happy couple will reside in Everett (Mass.).

TITANIC'S POSITION GIVEN EIGHT MILES AWAY IN WIRELESS CALL FOR HELP

Captain Moore Completes Evidence at Inquiry in Washington—Says Janey Acted Bravely

Washington, April 27.—Failure to give her exact position, a great field of floating ice that offered a rigid barrier to ships hurrying to the rescue, and the mistake of her own captain in rushing at top speed through an ice covered sea—all these combined to send the Titanic and her 1,600 victims to their watery graves in the North Atlantic. This was strongly indicated today in testimony before the senate committee investigating the ocean tragedy.

Captain James H. Moore, of the steamer Mount Temple, which was hurried to the Titanic in response to wireless calls for help, told of the great stretch of field ice which held him off.

Within a distance of the bridge he discerned, he said, another strange steamer, probably a tramp, and a schooner, which was making her way out of the ice. The lights of this schooner he thought probably were those seen by the anxious survivors of the Titanic which they were frantically trying to reach.

Titanic's Captain "Most Unwise"

Captain Moore denounced as "most unwise" the action of the Titanic's commander in rushing at twenty-one knots through the night when he had been advised of the proximity of ice.

The Mount Temple's commander testified that he had spent twenty-seven years in the North Atlantic. Whenever he was around, he said, he doubled his watch and reduced speed, and if he happened to get caught in an ice jam he stopped his engines and drifted until he was clear of the ice.

Thinks Many Bodies Sank With Ship

Captain Moore declared the fact that only so few bodies have been found was probably due to the action which held the Titanic in the ice. He said that the boat sank and that those bodies are still enclosed on the ship.

Janey's Bravery Told Of

J. Bruce Janey, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine Company, was much cheered by the testimony this afternoon. Throughout the work he has had a troubled look and during the long daily sessions he has sat silent, seldom looking to his associates who accompanied him. Today, however, he listened eagerly to the accounts of his conduct at the life boats, as told by the stewards and seamen who came in contact with him on the night of the disaster. His eyes fairly beamed when Steward Crawford told him he had called for women to go in one of the boats, and had said to a woman who told him she was a stewardess: "You are a woman; take your place in the boat."

SARDINIAN AND EMPRESS OF BRITAIN ARRIVE

Former Saw Bodies of Titanic Afloat—Empress Message From Captain Smith

Captain Robert McKillop of the Allan liner Sardinian which arrived here late Saturday night, told the Telegraph yesterday that he was alongside of the cable steamer Mackay-Bennett, which is searching for the Titanic's dead, and supplied her with canvas to cover the 200 or more bodies recovered.

Near the cable ship, the Sardinian passed wreckage and two bodies. At 1:10 p. m. on the 23rd the Sardinian received the following wireless message from the Mackay-Bennett:

"Recovering bodies of Titanic, could you in passing let us have all canvas and tarpaulin that you can spare?"

The Sardinian arrived beside the Mackay-Bennett at 7 o'clock and stopped, and a boat was sent from the death ship to the Allan liner and all the canvas and tarpaulin that could be found aboard was willingly given to cover the Titanic's dead. Captain McKillop said that the captain of the Mackay-Bennett reported to him that he had found 206 bodies including the bodies of Col. Astor and Mr. Butler.

"We saw a lot of wreckage," said Captain McKillop, "such as cabin furniture, including chairs, writing desks, camp stools, etc. We stepped close to get them but we made no effort to get them as the Mackay-Bennett was near. There was one on either side of me about thirty or forty feet away. One was apparently that of a woman wearing a short skirt and I could not tell what the other was, whether male or female."

The Empress of Britain arrived off the island about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and docked at No. 2 and 3 berths, Sand Point, about 6:45 p. m. To a Telegraph reporter Captain Murray emphatically denied the story sent out from Halifax that he had narrowly escaped colliding with an iceberg. He characterized the story as some passengers' twaddle.

Captain Murray wished Captain E. J. Smith, of the Titanic, and Captain McKillop, of the Sardinian, good luck. The admiral, by the commander of the Titanic, Captain Murray holds as a grim reminiscence of the terrible marine disasters.

A Treasured Message

It was 10:30 in the morning of the 12th that the Empress of Britain got in communication with the Titanic and Captain Murray sent the following message:

Captain Smith, R. M. S. Titanic: Officers and crew send greetings to you and wish them the best of luck. (Signed) MURRAY.

The reply was as follows:

"To Commander, Empress of Britain: Many thanks for kind message from all here. (Signed) SMITH."

The British had in all 1,439 passengers including 182 sailors, 454 second cabin, and 822 first cabin. Of this number fourteen of the saloon, seven of the second cabin and 102 of the steerage were for United States citizens. Among the saloon passengers were the Marquis and Marchioness of Exeter who are making a tour of western cities. Also in the saloon were Sir Gerard P. Ducommun, son of Lord Burleigh.

The Durbar

Pictures of travel in foreign countries are always sure to please. Many American pictures continually show us scenes that are in close contact with our everyday life, and for that reason the Durbar in Kinsmen series to be presented at the Opera House tonight and for the balance of the week, will afford a wonderful change of scenery. This production during its ten weeks run at the mammoth New York Theatre, New York, crowded the house at almost every performance, and as it should. Nothing like it has ever been seen in that city before, the reproductions of the scenes in India being really wonderful in their brilliant color. The review of the fifty thousand troops in the starboard collapsible boat, the last to leave the ship from that side. Bright, who left on the very last boat, the port collapsible, said he knew Janey had not left the ship until just before the port collapsible was lowered into the water in time to get only 100 yards from the Titanic before she went down.

MORNING LOCALS

Rev. G. A. Kuhring conducted the services in the Seamen's Institute last night. He was assisted by several members of the choir of St. John's church.

Among those who passed through the city on Saturday was Vincent Astor, son of the late Colonel John Jacob Astor, who was going to Halifax to recover the body of his father.

Sophia Oliver, a colored girl, who was before Magistrate Ritchie in the police court on Saturday morning, was examined by Dr. Thomas Walker as to her mental condition and he ordered her removal to the provincial hospital, Lancaster.

A garage at Chazy-Le-Roi, six miles south of Paris, in which the handiwork of a few years ago, four brothers and a sister also survive. The brothers are Les, of Winnipeg; Arthur, of California; Alfred, of Port Arthur, Ontario; and Frank, at home. The sister also is at home.

The late deputy sheriff was a native of Fredericton. About eleven years ago he joined the Royal Northwest Mounted Police and spent six years on that force, being stationed at various places in the Northwest and Yukon Territories, including Dawson from which place he returned to Fredericton upwards of five years ago, after attaining non-commissioned rank in the mounted police. Early in 1907 he was appointed chief of police of Fredericton, holding office for one year.

He was then appointed deputy to Sheriff William T. Howe, of York county, taking over the office of jailer.

Deceased was known as a most efficient officer and he had a large number of friends. He was a man of great stature and splendid physique, and new of his sudden death came as a great surprise to many. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias and of the "Preston" Boys.

From early youth he had been a musician of considerable distinction, and had belonged to both the 7th Regiment and the Fredericton Brass Bands, being leader of the latter for some time. At the time of his death he was leader of the local orchestra. In his younger days he was well known as an athlete, and when in the Northwest Mounted Police played on a basketball team of that corps.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, possibly under Pythian auspices.

Sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. George Cripps, 129 Queen street, West, in the death of John Joseph, their infant son, who passed away yesterday.

Sackville, N. B., April 28.—(Special)—In the nineteenth year of her age, Mrs. Thompson Trueman, mother of Mrs. Josiah Wood, wife of the lieutenant-governor of New Brunswick, passed away at her home here today at noon. She was the daughter of the late Valentine Wood and a member of a large family, of which she is the last. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Josiah Wood and Miss Anna Trueman, both of Sackville, and one son, Albert, residing in Somerville (Mass.).

Moncton, April 28.—(Special)—John Fogarty, one of Moncton's oldest residents, passed away at his home on Bridge street Sunday morning, after a lengthy illness. He was eighty-six years old and was a retired I. C. R. employee on the provincial fund. He retired from the service about four years ago and at that time was the oldest employee in the force. He was a native of Ireland.

TAKE TOO BIG CHANCES

Why is it that men and women will not learn that overwork and nervous strain will certainly ruin health. Every day the papers tell of the dreadful results of overstrain of the system, yet the others keep right on without pausing for the lesson.

Henry Jacobs, of Ninth avenue, N. Y., went through this experience and now writes in a letter: "I was in bad health for two years, very nervous and weak, no appetite, could not sleep well and had no ambition or energy. I was getting worse all the time."

"But since I began taking Vinol there is a wonderful difference. I have gained 14 pounds in less than two months, have a splendid appetite and can enjoy my meals. My nerves are strong and I sleep soundly. I simply feel fine now, which shows that Vinol did for me."

Our delicate cod liver and iron wine, Vinol, will do as much for all other run-down, worn-out people, if they will only give it a trial. There is no risk for we give back the money if Vinol fails to satisfy you—Wasson's 100 King street.

PARIS BANDITS ARE KILLED AFTER MOST SENSATIONAL BATTLE

ST. JOHN MISSIONARY IN NIGERIA, WEST AFRICA

Rev. S. G. Pinnock, a missionary for the Southern Baptist Board in Nigeria West Africa, for the last twenty-four years, spoke twice in city pulpits yesterday telling of his own work and mentioning difficulties he had with a native king over the unjust prosecution of a young native. Rev. Mr. Pinnock says that British officials connived with the action of the native king and his case is now being heard by the colonial secretary.

In his main street Baptist church last evening, Mr. Pinnock in speaking of his work, paid a warm tribute to the worth of his assistant, Louis M. Duval, a former member of the church and who is being supported in the field by that church of which his father, J. H. Duval is one of the deacons. Mr. Duval is at present engaged in the work in the absence of Mr. Pinnock, and the latter last evening said that his assistant had made a record for good constructive missionary work.

Mr. Pinnock also addressed a large audience at Victoria street Baptist church yesterday afternoon, speaking of the responsibility of those at home in the matter of missions.

RECENT DEATHS

Fredericton, N. B., April 28.—George Wither, deputy sheriff of the county of York, dropped dead at his residence, in the county jail shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon. It had been known that he suffered from heart trouble, but death came most unexpectedly. The last word which passed his lips was his wife's name. Physicians were summoned but it was found life was extinct.

He was the eldest son of Herbert G. Winter, of the local customs house staff. He was thirty-seven years of age, and is survived by his wife, daughter of Nathaniel Luch of this city, and by two little daughters. He had been married but a few years. His parents, four brothers and a sister also survive. The brothers are Les, of Winnipeg; Arthur, of California; Alfred, of Port Arthur, Ontario; and Frank, at home. The sister also is at home.

SUIT FOR MANY MILLIONS

London, April 28.—A romantic inheritance suit is in the probate court here. The property concerned was Marshall Hall, K.C., who appeared for the claimant, said "in value almost beyond the dreams of avarice." It is worth between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000. Mr. Hall added: "Who has got it nobody knows for certain."

The suit was concerned with "what is known as the 'Page' millions." Some 40,000 acres in the county of Middlesex were left by the will of Henry Page, who died in 1828. The executor of the will was Henry Young, who benefited. The present claimant is Mrs. Charlotte Anne Tapscott, a descendant of Henry Page, who alleges that Henry Young exercised undue influence, and she seeks to have Page's will revoked as a preliminary step to proceedings for the recovery of the property which belonged to the Page family.

Mr. Hall admitted it seemed impossible to establish a claim to the lands in question, and the judge declined to revoke a probate granted eighty years ago.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRE

While stepping from a moving train in Amherst on Saturday, Albert Collins, a well-known resident of that place, had his arm caught beneath the wheels and will probably lose it. He had been to England to see his wife and young son sail for Halifax.

A wireless message to the cable-steamship Mackay-Bennett yesterday requested that if the body of Wm. T. Stead was on board, it be buried at sea. The message was from a family source.

The molders who went on strike last year in the Record Foundry and Machine Co.'s shops in Moncton for a twenty per cent. increase in wages, are to return to work on May 1 at the same scale as previously prevailed.

Norman McInnes and Mark Chivers, two heroes of P. E. Islanders, were on Saturday awarded Carnegie bronze medals and $1,000 each for bravery shown in the rescuing of lives.

In Boston on Saturday night President Taft was strongly denounced by Colonel Roosevelt as a politician who catered to the bosses, and he said many other things against Taft. He was given an ovation and the most demonstrative welcome beginning his campaign for the Presidential nomination.

The Page next of kin recently took possession of three farms, but the tenants refused to pay the rent.

In 1905 about 247 acres were conveyed to Harrow school, apparently with title.
