Scientific American. PROSPECTUS.

VOLUME FOURTEEN
BEGINS SEPTEMBER 11, 1858.

MECHANICS, INVENTORS, Manufacturers and Farmers.

The Scientific American has now reached its Fourteenth Year, and will enter upon a New Volume on the 11th/of September. It is the only weekly publication of the kind now issued in this country, and it has a very extensive circulation in all the States of the Union. It is not, as some might suppose from its title, a dry, abstruse work on technical science; on the contrary, it so deals with the great events going on in the scientific, mechanical and industrial words, as to please and instruct every one. If the Mechanica or Antizan wishes to know the best machine in use, or how for make any substance employed in his business—if the Housewife wishes to keep horsed with the times, and to employ the lest facilities in his business—if the Manufacturer wishes to keep himself familiar with the progress made in the chemical laboratory, or in the construction of telegraphs, steamships, railroads, reapers, mowers, and a thousand other machines and appliances, both of peace and war—all these desiderate can be found in the Scientific American, and not cleswhere. They are here presented in a reliable and interesting form, adapted to the comprehension of minds unlearned in the higher brunches of science and art.

The Scientific American has now reached its Andrews, fronting on Elizabeth Street, and at present overly is sent occupied by the Rev. John Ross. This prop wetly is sent occupied by the Rev.
