September J, 1886.

Salt Rheum, Scaled Head, he skin, and may be traced s, but yeld readily to a per-AND IRON, and TONIC d remove these unsightly the skin is exempt from od purifier cannot be over "Hanington's" the original I dealers in Canada. Price PER BAGS. 000 Paper Bags. ERS' PRICES.

UCHLAN. O NELSON STREET

D & CO. RAL IMPLEMENTS approved kinds. alkey and Floating Spring Tooth Cutters, Seed Drills, s, etc. AYS ON HAND. at, Saint John, N. B

OTICE.

ATTY, late of the Parish of Haveleck, of Kings and Province of New Bruns-r. and R&BECCA J. BEATTY, his thers whom it doth or may concern in-by given that under and by virtue of ontaired in an incenture of mort-econd day of April, in the year of iousand eight hundred and eighty-between the said James Beatty and between the said James Bestly and ty, his wife, of the first part, and the wardens and Vestry of Saint Faul's arish of Havelock, in the Gounty of ince aforesaid, of the second part, and of the Registrar of Deced, etc. ince aforesaid, of the second part, and as effice of the Registrar of Dreas, etc., Bid County of bings, in Book L, Ne. 23 and 94, as number 89,283 there mprese of satisfying the said mortgage it having been made in the payment at public auction in front of the fing, in the Parish of Sussex, in Kings aturday, the fourth day of mext at twelve o'clock noon, the isses mentioned and described in the of mortgage as follows. nam.ly:-

certain lot, piece or parcel of land in the Parish of Havelock aforesaid. nd described as follows, to wit:-Be-arked hemlock post placed at the s of lot number four, in the second Fairweather's survey in the second

AC CCRID

THE HOUSE IN THE MEADOW.

VOL. 8.

BY LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON. It stands in a sunny meadow, The house so mossy and brown, With its cumbrous old stone chimneys, And the gray roof sloping down.

The trees fold their green arms round it,-The trees a century old; And the winds go charting through them, And the sunbeams drop their gold.

The cowslips spring in the marshes, The roses bloom on the hill, And beside the brook in the pasture The herds go feeding at will. Within, in the wide old kitchen

The cld folks sit in the sun, That creeps through the shelterin Till the day is almost done. Their children have gone and left them;

They sit in the sun alone ! And the old wife's ears are failing As she harks to the well-known tone

Fellows' parting words :--- society cares,

'No one will ever love you as I have done.

Was it all the perversity of a woman's na-ture that made Stella's memory dwell so having. Now that she was that lonely thing, a governess in other people's houses, she wondered how she could have despised any love so hopest and true, and her recollection

That won her heart.in her girlhood, That has soothed her in many a care, And praises her now for the brightness Her old face used to wear,

She thinks again of her bridal,— How, dressed in her robe of white, She stood by her gay young lover In the morning's rosy light.

O, the morning is rosy as ever, But the rose from her check is fled; And the sunshine still is golden, But it falls on a silvered head.

And the girlhood dreams, once vanished, Come back in her winter-time, Till her feeble pulses tremble With the thrill of spring-time's prime.

And looking forth from the window, She thinks how the trees have grown Since, clad in her bridal whiteness, She crossed the old door-stone.

Though dimmed her eye's bright szore, And dimmed her hai's young gold, The love in her girlhood plighted Has never grown dim or old. wild excitement.

They sat in peace in the sunshine Till the day was almost done, And then at its close, an angel Stole over the threshold stone.

He folded his hands together,— He touched her eyelids with balm, And their last breath floated outward, Like the close of a solemn psalm

Like a bridal pair they traversed The unseen, mystical road That leads to the Beautiful City. Whose builder and maker is G sensible of a little shock of intense wonder. But there was very little time for any thought of the outside world after that. Col. Event distribution of the state of the sense of the grounds, Miss Howard. You show wo may not play when all the grown-up people are here, and we do so want a state of the sense of the s Col. Howard died in Afghanistan and Stella found herself a penalless orphan, dependent on the distant relations with whom she was living. Even in all her sorrow and despair there was a little ray of comfort in the vainly endeavored to escape. 'Oaly a little scrap of play. Ab, you know you can't refuse,' they said. And Stella was forced to laugh and yield thought of Capt. Thurlow. Surely there was one strong arm and brave heart that would not fail her. But Capt. Thurlow was endowed witha to their entreaties. So that the ploture that met the eyes of knowledge of the world, which made him keenly aware of the nice difference between knowledge of the nice difference between Miss Howard, the pretty daughter of his re-putedly wealthy colonel, and Miss Howard the penniless orphan. His engagement to a Lancashire manufacturer's daughter was in the society papers within a fortnight; tion and resentment from her hears which seemed fall to overflowing, there sounded in her ears, as if it were a prophecy, Dick Following is the sound of the sound is the sound of the sound of the sound is the sound of the sound of the sound is the sound of the soun

'Oh, Sir Richle, you're just in time Come along and have a game with Miss Howard-do, do!' cried the children.

Was it all the perversity of a woman's na-ture that made Stella's memory dwell so often and so kindly on the recollection of that wooing as time went on? In the old days life had held so much for her that Dick's seemed a thing little worth the baring. Now that she was that longly thing. 'No, no, young womaal' she heard the voice that was so like, yet so unlike the volce of other days say. 'Miss Howard won't play with me-she never would.' Then he turned to her with a sudden of clumsy Dick grew to be a kind and gentle charge from the laughing tone: 'Have you hurt your arm? I am afraid I Not that her lot was as hard as that of many; indeed the Bouchers were very kind startled your' and he came forward hastily. to her. Her pupils were good and affection-ate, with the careless affection of children; But Stella drew away as he approached. 'Nothing-it is nothing; pray don't she had plenty to eat and drink and nothing

'Nothing-15 is nothing; pray don't trouble,'she said, almost crossly. And as a stream of gayly dressed people emerged from the conservatory, and began to spread themselves over the terrace and to complain of, except that her life had passed her by. She tried to do her duty, to teach the children well and wisely, to help Mrs. Boucher with her numerous guests and approach the lawn, Stells turned and hid nto the shrubbery. She had reached the fountain by the statue society cares. The house was to be full for regatta as usual and Stella had promised to give up her holidays till they were all gone again. She was writing notes for a great garden party, when the little girls burst in upon her in wild avoitement.

She had reached the fountain by the statue of the dancing fawn before she was overtaken 'Pardon me,' said her pursuer, in a tone that was certainly not Dick's—it was too commanding. 'I do not want to contradict you, but I can't believe it is nothing.' And in another moment the little bruised wrist, from which he had stripped the glove, was in Sir Richard's firm, light grasp, and Stella meekly surrendered.

'Oh, Miss Howard! only think! Sir Richie is coming-our own dear Sir Richie, Isn't it lovely?' they cried.

And who may Sir Richie be? inquired Miss Howard, very composedly, directing another envelope. Not know our own Sir Ritchie? Why everybody knows him. He plays tennis with us, and rows us on the lake, and buys us dolls! Fancy, mamma, Miss Howard us dolls! Fancy, mamma, Miss Howard does not know our own darling Sir Richiet' 'Miss Howard has been out of acciety so long that there is an excuse for her not knowing at least the name of Sir Richard Fellows 'responded Mis Bornheau does not know our own darling Sir Richiel' Fellows,' responded Mrs. Boucher. Did Dick remember the last time they had The pen rolled over upon the newly ad-dressed envelopes and ruined two. "Sir Richard Fellows?" was all Miss Howbeen alone together? He came and sat down on the broken step by my side. 'Stella, do you sbrink from me still? After all the years I have been working and "Sir Richard Tellows? was all Miss How-ard could gasp out. "Yes, the great inventor and civil en-gineer. He had his baronetcy conferred a few months ago, when he finished his great railway line to Thibet; and he's just been stopping at Osborne. Is it possible you've never heard his name? Why, he was one of the lines of last seeson worner, rich, and miss Howard, middfal of her best oream gown and the difficulties of tennis when combined with long gloves and plumed hat, tn Canada FROM THE COLONIAL AND INDIAN EXHIBITION An Interview With the High Commissioner.

(Special to THE SUN.) HALIFAX, Aug. 31.-The Herald will tomorow publish an interview with Sir Charles Lupper, Canadian high commissioner to England, Referring to Canadian securities, Sir Charles says Canada's credit in the London money market is at the bighest point it ever eached. Three years ago when he went to the county. The Transcript continues to weep and wail England, Canadian three and a half per cents were selling at about 90. The day he left were selling at about 90. The day he left London they had reached 98%, or three points higher than the three and a half per cents of New South Wales, which leads all the other Austrelssian securities, while formerly the Canadian were four or five points below the securities of that go ahead colony. This re-markable change in so short a time has been brought about. Sir Charles says, in addition to the greater cheapness of money, by Birlish appreciation of the great resources and rapid development of Canada; and one of the most prominent factors is that the attention of the whole world has been so drawn to Canada by ancys no doubt that its readers believe what fancys no doubt that its readers believe what it says. A reader of that paper, who has always stood by the party, and is about mak-ing a visit to British Columbia, has just come to the conclusion that the C. P. R. is a very convenient bit of a road and that the wicked Tory government ought to be sustained for that, if nothing else. The impression is that the deacon, in being so unreasonable and un-scrupulous in his statements, is injuring the party rather then benefiting it. If in the treatment of political questions the Transcript editor exhibits the least spark of honesty or maniness or patriotism—as party spirit among development of Canada; and one of the most prominent factors is that the attention of the whole world has been so drawn to Canada by the construction of the great work of the age, the Canadian Pacific railway. He has seen the Canadian Pacific stock selling in London as low as 37. It is now up to 65 while their five per cent, bonds are from 6 to 7 per cent, premium. All Canadian securities stand well, and Sir Charles says there is every reason to believe that should Canada require to float another loan, her three and a hait per cents will be taken at or above par. Instructed by the Dominion government he has made application to the Imperial governmanliness or patriotism—as party spirit among the grits is very extreme—I think they would overlook his hyperitical whining, but as it is his own friends are becoming disgusted with him, and very few of them think of quoting the Transcript as authority on anything except local news-and then is is best to have the Times to fall back on. MONCTON, Aug. 31.-The town council have set apart the second Tuesday in each month as Lastructed by the Dominion government he has made application to the Imperial govern-ment and communicated with the agents gen-eral of the Australasian colonies asking them to obtain aid from their respective governments to aid in laying a cable between British Columbia and Australia. He balleves that will be ac-complianed. He has no doubt but that the Imperial government will provide sufficient subsidy to ensure the success of the fast mail Fair day, when it is expected the central position of Moncton will be taken advantage of by buyers and sellers of live stock from all engaged in the sardine business, but they are engaged in the business of curing Cana-dian fish on the Canadian side, which means employment of labor and consumption of goods at home, and which to a certainty must be beneficial to our inhabitants. ing and harvest. The last few days have been so smoky that the sun's rays have had very little drying power. The English hay crop is about secured and will come pretty well up to The new customs regulations, if enforced, will stimulate and help all those engaged in an average one in the marsh district. The the above business, and not only that, but new-seeded land and the creek-bank marsh the day may come when it will be of value to know how many herring are exported, so as to get at the value of our herring fishery. has helped to make up for the deficiency caused has htlped to make up for the deficiency caused by the army worms and drought. Harvesting has begun and all kinds of grain seem to be good, at least I have not heard any complaints, while wheat and barley are spoken of as being exceptionally good, but there is comparatively very little sown here. Wheat is a very uncer-tain erop in Westmorland, and when flour can be had for five dollars a barrel it seems to be a wise course not to run the risk of sowing it when a good yield of barley or cats is almost certain. as to get at the value of our herring fishery. Without the export entry and the record on the custom house books you could not get at it. If a Canadian boat goes to the American side at the present time with a load of fish, either to sell to their with a load of fish, either to sell to their merchants, or to ship to New York or Boston in one of their schooners (which is a very convenient way to ship), he must first go to the customs house and get a permit to land his cargo, for which he must pay $1.05, as well as a duty of one-half cent per pound on the fish. As long as the above regula-tions are in force, it is the imperative duty of the Canadian government to enforce our laws. And take care of our just rights. If not we would become mere menials to our Certain. Merchants do not complain more than usual shout trade. There is a steady growth in nearly all the trade centres in the ocurty. Moncton, Sackville and Port Elgin are making rapid growth. Even liberals will admit that. Dorchester is feeling the depression in the shipping business, and to keep abreast of her neighbors will have to invest her capital in some other line of trade. What has been Moncton's gain in some respects has been Shediac's loss, but Shediac has enough men of the right stamp to keep her place and influence in the county.

NO. 43.

not we would become mere menials to our competitors on the American side. As to the government making or losing friends by asserting Canadian rights, it must be re-membered that the present government's friends have been in the minority so far in Charlotte county, and yet the government still remains in power. But of one thing I feel sure and know whereof I speak, the government by taking care of our rights will make future friends. Yours respectfully, Deer Island, Aug. 26. Knights of Labor.

A CONSPIRACY EXPOSED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.-The exposure of the Home club's alleged attempt to kill General Master Workmen Powderly as published in the Pittsburg Sunday Lexder has agitated the Knights of Labor circles in this city. Several members were seen today who united in de-; members were seen today who united in de-nouncing the Home club in unmeasured terms. One of them said: "The Home club has brought much disgrace on the order. I could tell of numerous instances in which this has occurred. It is a notorious fact that the re-cent investigation of a committee of the gen-eral assembly has been whitewashing the affair. The Home club must rule or run. With this end in view anyone whe is opnoard to their Westmorland Notes. The weather continues unfavorable for hay-Fairweather's survey in the second on the west side of the read from to Butteraut Ridge; thence by the year one thousand eight hundred ha west forty-one chains (of four poles ied fir post placed at the south west t number four on the east side of a near to Rouse's Brock; thence north s or to the southwest angle of part block sold by 'he Rector, Church-estry' to one Patrick Buckley; theuce s to the west side of the read first to the west side of the road first thence along the same southerly to t there along the same southerly to tinning, containing two hundred and ore or less," together with all and ldings and improvements thereon, is, privileges and appurtenances to log or in any wise appertaining, seeof the said "The Rector, Church-stry" have caused this instrument to isaid Rector and Churchwardens, and id corpuration to be here affred d corporation to be hereto affixed May, A. D. 1886.

CUTHPERT WILLIS, Rector. JOHN C FRICE, Conground JAMES D. SEELY, Wardens. and other particulars apply to HALLETT & FOWLER, Solicitors for Mortgagees, Bussex, N, B.

UTION.

re hereby cautioned against negotiany way dealing with a certain note me on or about the fifteenth day of twenty dollars, payable one year order of R. Crawford & Co, as the ed from me by fraud and without hd I will not pay the same. ick, Queen's Co, New Brunswick, (Signed) FREEMAN ALWARD.

BERRY BOXES ng Pots, Paris Green. ----

ASE & SON, n, Saint John, N. B. ine25

UTION.

he undersigned have at different fered loss from parties shooting and

WOOD MANOR,

ning up driving camps, etc., etc., amage to the property, in future ssing in any way, unless they have from J. & L. B. Knight, Musquash, the utmost rigor of the law

JOSHUA KNIGHT, L. B. KNIGHT, state of the late Justus E. Knight. THOMAS R. JONES,

NAILS. S.

NSIGNMENT OF 12 Py. Out Nails, vest market prices.

H. W. NORTHRUP, 23 South wharf.

EEKLY SUN PUBLISHED BY UBLISHING COMPANY EDNESDAY MORNING, AT THEIR nting Establishment. Street, St. John, N. B., lar per year, Liberal indu cens

KLY SUN, ST. JOHN.

R may be found on file at Gee P. Rowell & Co's Newspape (10 Spruce St.), where advertise hade for it IN NEW YOR and the second

Perhaps in that miracle country They will give her lost youth back. And the flowers of the varished springtime Will bloom in the spirit's track.

One draught from the living waters Shall call back his manhood's prime; And eternal years shall measure The love that cutlasted time;

But the shapes that they left behind them, The wrinkles and sliver hair,— Made holy to us by the kisses The angel had printed there,—

We will hide away 'neath the willows, When the day is low in the West, Where the sunbeams cannot find them, Nor the winds disturb their rest.

And we'll suffer no telltale tombstone. With its age and date to rise O'er the two who are old no longer, In the Father's house in the skies.

POLES APART.

What curiously abrupt manners he had,

Dick Fellows flung himself back against the frail post of the summer house till the of the great partis of the season, you know.' And Mrs. Boucher laughed a little goodairy building rocked to its foundations. 'Say one kind word, Stella. My love may not seem much to you, but at least it in her distant school-room that night, and may not seem much to you, but at least it is the best I have to give,'he said carnestly, looking very white and hurt. Stella Howard, sitting sweet and calm in her white gown and pearls, half glanced toward her impetaous lover, then dropped her blue eyes again with a suspicion of a dainty shudder.

people's entertainment are at stake. Stella's heart seemed beating in her ears Dick's hands were so very big and red, and his evening dress looked as if it came as she entered the great drawing room beout of the ark. Of course he was very good and nice, and Stella did not mind his hind a tray of coffee cups, and hid herself in a sheltered nook near the plano. clumsy little attentions when no one more managed to falter.

At first she could see nothing clearly, the interesting was at hand; but to be made love to by a big, awkward young civil enrose shaded lamps threw so dim a light; then she grew aware of a group of smiling, in-terested people, all bestowing their most gracious smiles and attentions to a tail figure gineer working on the new railway line! a creature who couldn't sing, or ride, or play billiards; who entered a room like a wander-ing elephant, and was forever burled in dia-grams and calculations, instead of talking in their midst. Could that be Dick Fellows -that broad-shouldered man with the brown mustache and close-cropped, curly head, who moved and looked and spoke like society chatter! Stella could not help feeling it a decided liberty on Dick Fellows' part to imagine himself entitled to love Col. Howard's only daughter, and she heartily nead, who moved and looked and spoke like a man confident of his own powers, and used to succeed and please? Stella thought of the ill-fitting) garments cf old days as she noticed the shapely cut of his coat collar and the grace of self-possession in his every move-ment. Dick had red hands and big boots, and suggested a bull in a china shop. Was there some mistake after all? wished she had never suggested his being invited to dinner-at which he had over-turned a glass of chablis over her new flounce-or consented to show him the garden in the soft sunset glow of that June evening. "I don't know what to say. I've told you it isn't the least use, Mr. Fellows; your A moment, and then he raised his head and she caught the old merry smile and the flush of the quick gray eyes; and half blinded and bewildered with a rush of recollection, ife and mine are poles apart; we can't make them meet. I'm very sorry you should be pained. Try to forget it all,' she answered, Stella made her way to the plano in obedience to Mrs. Boucher's smile and nod. Why had Mrs. Boucher asked her to sing 'Golden trying not to show her disdain too plainly. 'Forget!' echoed Fellows, the bloed rush-ing to his temples. 'No, that's not likely. Days?' It was Dick's favorite song long ago, and Stella felt as if it would choke her. I tell you while you live no man will love Her voice shook so that Mrs. Boucher's you as I have done. Good by, Stella; I can't stand any more. Heaven bless you guests thought their hostess had a good deal over-praised her governess' style, and a Miss although you are so cruel!' Verney near by remarked to Sir Richard Fellows that she did not admire that tremolo And he was out of sight down the garden path before Stella could have stopped him, kind of manner so many girls affected. even had she so wished.

"Ab, for the gelden days beyond recalling ! Ah for the golden days !"

thought she, as she made her way to the sang Stella, with something that was like a sob—so like that she palled herself up sharply, and felt as if she had fallen forever drawing-room through the sweet-scented roses to sing the song Capt. Thurlow had begged for in a whisper as she left the table. How odd to go without bidding him good-by!

in her own respect. As she rose from the piano stool her eyes met those of Sir Richard, who was standing And he was leaving Churlstone the next day, she knew. Capt. Thurlow's polished manner was a close to the plano. There was nothing beyond the most casual recognition in the slight bow on both sides, and then Stella got away somehow to her own quarters, to positive relief after such behaviour, and ashe turned ithe pages of the 'Bohemian Girl,' and murmured compliance into Stella How-ard's well-pleased ear, Dick Fellows and his wooing faded from her mind like a disagreefind vent for the passionate flow of tears that overcame all her self-control.

wooing faded from her mind like a disagree-able dream. Only once did ahe hear his name in the two years that followed, and that was in connection with some scheme of some pro-posed government works, and he was called 'Mr. Fellows, the well-known and rlaing en-gineer.' Dick rising! Dick famous! Stella was The next day was to be the grand garden the lions of last season, young, rich, and graver still, and he bit his lip. the fashion. I'm lucky to get him here even 'Am I to! go away again, the 'Am I to go away again, thon?' he asked for a flying visit; but my husband and he after a pause. Still no answer, are old friends, and he is wonderfully fond of the children. Can it be you have never heard of him really?' 'I-I met him some years ago,' Stella 'Then people would thick you fortunate. However. I fear you won't have much chance to renew your old acquaintance; Sir Richle is such an object of attention from both debutantes and chaperones. He is one natured laugh. Gladly would Stella have hidden herself

Compliance. He has no doubt but that the Imperial government will provide sufficient subsidy to ensure the success of the fast mail service via Canada to China and Japan. Speaking of the position of the fisheries, the high commissioner said that the British press and public were beginning to thoroughly under-stand that question, notwithstanding the per-sistent attempts of American correspondents of London papers to misrepresent it. He had fully discussed the matter with Lords Rose-bery and Granvillo, the chief foreign and colonial secretaries in the late cabinet, and with Hon. Edward Stanhope, the present colonial secretary and he had no reason to doubt that the imperial government would ac-tively and firmly support Canada in fully maintaining her rights. Sir Charles Tupper said the sole object of bis visit was in connection with the great project to make the Colonial and Indian Ex-nibition a permanent institution. Its suc-was heard at Fredericton and Ottawa. Three new suits at law were threatened last night, two being for collection of vaccination bills in-curred by the local government last winter and ordered to be assessed against the town. These vaccination bills amount in all to about $1,200, and the electors refused to assess themselves and the council are without funds to pay. Under the Moncton act of incorporation the electors must vote money before it can be assessed. The people not unnaturally hold that as general vaccination was erdered in Moncton as a safeguard for the whole province, it being a railway centre, the local government it being a railway centre, the local government should pay. The local government's officers, on the order of the provincial secretary, got the work done without in any way consulting the town anthorities; they fixed the price with the doctors; and then coolly call upon the town to pay. Good legal advice is to effect that the pay. Good legal advice is to friect that the town cannot be compelled to pay, and a com-mittee of the town council has been appointed to confer with the government in the matter. The third threatened suit is that cf the asser-The third threatened suit is that of the asser-sor who apportioned the taxes. The council fixed the amount they were willing to pay for the service, which the apportioner seemed unwilling to undertake, though another as-when others are willing to do the council's work and act decently. The Scott Act question is again looming up The Scott Act question is again looming up here. Both parties are actively preparing for the meeting of electors called for Sept. 10th, to instruct the council how to act. In the event of the council being instructed to appoint an inspector and indemnify him, an injunction is threatened. It seems none of the officers will make complaints against light the officers will tend their business in Eegland, while other Canadian firms have reported sales of £1,000 stg. and £1,500 in value. Most of the musical-instruments have been sold and numerons enquiries are made in reference to investments in Canadian mineral resources. The Hub-bard collection of furs has been the marvel of all visitors from Queen Victoria and princes and princesses down to the simplest peasant. In the matter of education, Ontario, Quebec and the other previnces have made exhibits as interesting as they are im-Theore is proved avoids a column and a half of its many new fails have to the letters of wholesale mortanate, the many new fails have to the constraints and foreign products the function and foreign products th of by buyers and sellers of live stock from all parts of the province. For the present the square in rear of the market building will be used for the purpose. Moncton is finding town lawsuits expensive. The bills in the Gamble case were presented to the council board last night. They amount to $2,099, half of which is law costs. This is a case in which the town sold land belonging to the estate of the late Thomas Gamble, for arrears of taxes. James Flansgan, merchant, being the purchaser. The town was defeated on the ground that the proper parties. The case

WILL NOT EVEN STOP AT MURDER. For over a year Brooklyn men have tried to form a mixed district, but the Home club's influence has been exerted against them suc-cessfully to keep them out until after the gen-eral assembly at Richmond I fear they will try to disrupt the order if they cannot control the Richmond meeting. At that time will occur the greatest struggle ever known in the assessed scalarst the proper parties. The case was heard at Fredericton and Ottawa. Three occur the greatest struggle ever known in the order. The Home club will stop at nothing, not even murder, to effect their end. Victor Drury, the leader, is an offshoot of the Paris cummune, and has been trying to make district assembly 49 an engine of socialism.

BEPORTED ATTEMPT AT ASSASSINATION.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.-A special despatch is printed here relating to an alleged at-tempt that was made in 1883 to assassinate Grand Master Workman T. V. Powderly. The despatch also stated that a committed has been investigating the matter in New York and that a full report would be made at the Richmond meeting. Grand Lecturer Carlton of the Knights of Labor was asked by a reporter as to the truth of the despatch. He replied that he had not heard anything before about a plot to assassinate Powderly. As it was said to have been patched up three years ago he apprehended no trouble from it now even if it were true. An investigation into the affairs of the Home Club, Carlton admitted, is in progress. Just what its nature is and what CHICAGO, Aug. 30.-A special despatch unwilling to undertake, though another as-sessor was willing to do the work for the amount. However, the first party appointed finally did the work, then rendered a bill for 50 per cent, more than the amount tendered by the council and now threatens to sus. Serves the council right for doing business with a man who is disposed to act cranky, especially when others are willing to do the council's in progress. Just what its nature is and what may result from it he could not even surmise. He is content to await the report of the committee to the Richmond convention and until that time he does not feel at liberty to say anything more about it.

Temperance Netes.

On Friday, 27th inst., a public temperance neeting was held at Central Cambridge, Queens Co., at which addresses were given by Rov. A. B. McDonald, M. D., and J. P. Nowlan, after which Cambridge Star Lodge, I. O. G. T., was organized with twenty-six charter membars.

On the next evening one was held at Upper Jemseg, Queens, at which addresses were given by Needham Springer, Rev. C. Curry, Moses Dykeman, C, D. Dykeman and J. P. Nowlan, Dykeman, C, D. Dykeman and J. P. Nowlan, following which was the organization of Liew-ellan Lodge, with thirty-six charter members. On account of the farmers being very busily engaged in haying operations on their intervales, the attendance at those meetings was smaller than it otherwise would have been, consequent-ly the charter membership was at the mini-mum number. Both lodges, however, have bright prospects before them and we feel assured they will accomplish much good. The following are the present officers: Cambridge Star Lodge-Raht M. McDon-

SIR—A stranger reading the communica-tions published in your paper, the St. John Telegraph and the Eastport Standard would be led to believe that the island was the only place that had a fishing grievance. Such is far from the fact. Other people and places have had a grievance, in fact have a griev-ance still, but instead of wilting and wailing Llewellyn Lodge-Needham Springer, C.S.: Llewellyn Lodge-Needham Springer, C.S.; Annie Dykeman, V. T.; E. P. Dykeman, S.; Bertie Colwell, A. S.; Warren B. Purdy, F.S.; Alma Camp, Treas.; Rev. C. Curry, Ch.; Charles W. Strang, M.; Lillie Day, D. M.; Fred Springer, I. S.; Charles Purdy, O. S.; Addie Camp, R. H. S.; Phoebe Dykeman, L. H. S.; Moses Dykeman, P. C. T.; C. D.

1

The Voice devotes a column and a half of its

is threatened. It seems none of the efficiency will make complaints against liquor reliers unless indemnified. In the meantime the traffic is conducted as openly as the traffic in sugar and tea, to the demoralization of the rising generation. The salvation army had a big celebration in their Moncton barracks last night. One of the Hindoo contingent was present. Slips were passed around among the audience for money passed around among the audience for money and the name of a prominent private banker forged to a $10 subscription. The affair creatd considerable talk.

To the Editor of The Sun : -SIR-A stranger reading the communica-

they have learned how to handle or endure it, and the result is they are getting along tip-top, and in order to bestow credit to whom credit is due, I must frankly say that whom credit is due, I must frankly say that protection has been one of the great helps, only we don't get enough of it. One corres-pondent says: "Not alone are they suffer-ing from a scarcity of fish, low prices and anneyances from the government special customs officers, but now to completely des-

Deer Island Fishery Matters.

