The funeral of Patrick Pye was held today from his father's residence. Service was held in the Cathedral by Rev. Francis Lockery, interment in the new Catholic cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Chas. Conway, Joseph Conway, George Lawlor, Joseph Stephenson, Wm. Minnehan and George Cusack.

The funeral of William Myles was held from the Home for Incurables. Service was held at the home by Rev. Mr. Hand, and at Trinity Church by Rev. Mr. Stewart. Burial was in Fernhill.

Samples of lokhous and juils and innumerable candy-like tablets are thrown promiscuously in door-ways-and given to the little ones on the streets. There must be hundreds of them eaten, and grave danger lies in overdoses. Time and again accidents occur in homes where children have partaken of supposedly harmless pills, etc., while the danger in cases like these is greater.

Is there not something on the city bye-laws, or enactments of the country, a parent asks the Star, to prevent medical people throwing their wares about without discrimination? Some day life will be snuffed out through this dangerous practice and it will be

The sacred concert to have been held in Fairville Methodist church this evening has been postponed till further notice.

The C. P. R. s. s. Empress of Ireland passed Point Amour at 3.05 p. m. and is expected to arrive at Quebec at 7.0 clock Friday morning.

The women's Bible class of St. John Stone church will be held as usual at 2.45 Friday afternoon in Stone church school house. The class is open to all women.

The McCollom and Nelson were related the matter. He said that when his the matter. He said that when his works and Sleeth & Quinlan Co. had taken over the property, the buildings which were then there had been built on piling. When this began to rot, they, the lessees, had filled up all the ground around them with stone at their own expense, and it had cost quite a sum. Now the city was thinking of taking over that property that they had made, and they would lose all the money it had cost them to put it into condition. As regards the slide out of Union street it appears to be direct negligence on the part of the city. Mr. Gordon has been almost unable to carry on his business, and the stone works had to cancel several contracts which the firm were unable to fill. When Union street began to Policemen McCollom and Nelson were called to Grace Beacham's house on Sheffield street early this morning to eject a young Lover Cove resident, but he had left the premises before the officers arrived.

Maher, Proprietor. of Calgary's leading churches a Sunday or two ago. In a short time Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Andrews will join the other members of their family in the thriving western city. The removal of Mr. Andrews and family from North End will be a severe loss to Main street Baptist church and numerous friends outside that congregation. Mr. Andrews has been prominently identified with Baptist matters for a number of years, and in North End has been a wise counsellor and liberal supporter, as well as active in Sunday school work, being superintendent of the Sunday school of Main street church for many years.

Heretheles of yestertal agent in the matter of free distribution of proprietary medicinal samples. A child who had been sent to the front door to answer the bell saw a pretty little tin box in the vestibule. She opened it and found five pink colored pills, which the little innocent one took for candy. She ate one and had two others in her mouth when her mother detected the stuff. Last night the child was quite ill in consequence of her dose, and means had to be taken to rectify her disordered system.
