SEEK $1,200,000 IN SPANISH GOLD

BERMUDA, Sept. 26, 1907. — On a voyage in quest of $1,200,000 in Spanish gold, said to have been hidden by pirates long ago on a little island in the Spanish Main, Captain Small, with his crew of one, in the forty-five foot yawl Catherine, of Liverpool, has arrived at St. George's.

The crew of the Catherine have already tasted of the excitement that usually accompanies a search for pirate treasure, having weathered a terrific storm, which for a time threatened to send the fifteen foot craft to the bottom, and later floated for days becalmed on a sea as smooth as glass until starvation threatened the mariners.

Said to have been planted more than one hundred years ago by the famous pirate Latrobe, the resting place of the treasure, according to Captain Small, has been fixed almost to a certainty. After refitting, the Catherine will set out for the spot.

The Catherine sailed from Liverpool on June 7, last, and after spending three or four weeks along the Irish coast, finally sailed from Tuskey, Ireland. After being out about twenty days, during which time they encountered severe weather, they reached Ponta Delgada, Azores, on July 21, where they effected repairs, and sailed again on August 1. On August 18 a severe cyclone struck them, the velocity of wind being fifty miles an hour and a tremendous sea running fully twenty-five feet high. Captain Small decided to run south and make for Bermuda. When in latitude 28 they were becalmed for twenty-four days. During this long time the provisions and water ran short and the crew were practically in a state of starvation, when they fortunately fell in with the steamship Horatio, of the Booth line, which rendered them assistance, and then they made for Bermuda, reaching here on September 16, the last day's run of the stanch little craft being 177 miles. The Catherine will leave here for New York and thence set sail for the Spanish Main.

MAKES AIR TESTS 14,000 FEET HIGH

Professor Todd Remains an Hour in Steel Tank on Mountain Top in the Andes.

LIMA, Peru, via Galveston, Texas, Sept. 24.—Professor Todd, the astronomer, of Amherst College, who is conducting experiments in South America, ascended a mountain in the Andes to an altitude of 14,000 feet above the sea level and there remained for one hour in a steel tank of 20 cubic feet capacity, filled with air compressed to the same tension that air maintains at an altitude of 1,000 feet. His pulse was reduced from 100 to 50. His breathing and physical condition remained normal.

A decompression of the air to its normal tension at 14,000 feet was then made in seventeen minutes. The experiment is looked upon as being important as regards the treatment of disease affected by various degrees of air pressure.

Experiments heretofore conducted in the Andes to see what effect high altitude had on human life show that at fourteen thousand feet and over the air pressure is so light as to produce incapacity for work, prostration and sometimes death. On the surface of the earth the air pressure is approximately fifteen pounds to the square inch. At an altitude of fourteen thousand feet it is approximately 2 1/2 pounds.

WILLING.

Said the stuttering baritone Gantz, when asked by the chorister Rantz, if 'I was his desire To sing in the choir, 'T'd j-j-j-jump at the chants."

A GUESS.

"Pa," said Willie, thoughtfully, "I know what the minister meant when he said 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

"Yes," replied his pa. "Well, what did he mean?"

"Castor oil,"—Philadelphia Press.

Miss Laura Johnston left for Boston this morning. She has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Johnston, son.

W. H. Bell has gone to Halifax to take in the exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Savoy had a daughter born to them this week.

OF INTEREST TO SCHOOL TEACHERS.

In the October Lippincott's there is a story called "Miss Carmichael and the Janitor," by Adele Marie Shaw, which should be of especial interest to school teachers. The tale describes the encounter between a spunky young schoolmarm and a man with a "pull"—a regrettable state of affairs which has many a counterpart in real life, though not always with such startling results. Another feature which should attract the attention of pedagogues is Prof. G. Blakeslee's paper on "Military Training in the Public Schools." The novelette in this issue is an exceptional one. It is called "A White Sepulchre," and the plot is based on sundry happenings in Martinique at the time of the eruption of Mont Pelee. The author is Will Livingston Comfort, who in his capacity of press correspondent was accorded a first-hand opportunity of studying at first hand the conditions about which he writes. In addition to the foregoing, there are half a dozen other short stories, four or five essays on timely topics, some really good poetry, and the usual department of humor, "Nutnuts and Vines." Altogether, those who buy the October Lippincott's will find it a very satisfactory investment.

A PLEA FOR JOY.

We are the heirs of progress, ours is the pride of place, We who have conquered nature, we who have conquered space! Ours is the victor's psalm, triumph without alloy.

But, sated with roid and glory, we hunger, we thirst, for joy!

Back in the dusky ages men struggled and fought and died, Found all life's tale worth telling, enjoyed it passing well, Knew not the varied splendors that our sad hearts employ, Lacked, it may be, for comfort, but never they lacked for joy!

We who have turned life's lions, have all but vanquished fate, Find never life's wine enchanting, or waste it soon or late; Does victory undiluted the soul's fresh youth destroy?

Powers of the bygone gladness give us to taste of joy! —Ethel Colson, in September Putnam's.
