The past week has been an unforgettably dull one here the only thing being a small tea last week by Mrs. J. F. Kenny in honor of her friend and former schoolmate Madame Alban.

Tuesday of last week saw the last of the rink parties for this season and I think every one was glad. It is all very well to skate with an inch of water on the ice once in a while but the attendance has fallen off very much lately owing to the bad condition of the ice and just as much dancing has been done upstairs on the last few afternoons as was done downstairs.

The annual meeting of the South End Lawn Tennis Club, was held in the council room of the Church of England institute on Thursday last; when the different officers were elected for the year. This sounds unusually promising, to have the meeting so early. Let us hope that it means that tennis is to begin much earlier this year than usual. In Windsor, and in almost all other places around us, they begin tennis before we do. As the meeting has never been called so early in the season before, they no doubt intend commencing play as soon as the grounds are in a fit condition.

A golf club is to be started across the Arm this summer, but it will take some time before it will rival tennis in Halifax, owing to the distance. There is to be quite a shifting across the Arm this year, as there are a number who intend spending the summer there.

Mrs. P. P. Hardy has invitations out for a dance on Wednesday at her residence, South street. Miss Maudie Hole, daughter of Rev. Dr. Hole formerly of St. Paul's church, Halifax, is expected to arrive by the Parisian on a short visit to her brother, Mr. Charles Hole.

The steamer, Labrador last week took another batch of departing residents, Mrs. and Miss Wick were among the number, also Miss Harvey and Miss Weston.

His many friends were glad to see Mr. Sholto Douglas, R. N., again. He arrived from Newfoundland on his way to England. Mr. Douglas has recently taken up himself a wife.

Lieut. Col. Collard and Mrs. Collard are expected to arrive in a month. They will be welcomed by their numerous friends, but will, I fancy, notice a great many changes.

On Wednesday night of last week the academy of music was if possible fuller than on Monday evening and it was such a pretty house with its gaily dressed ladies in evening dresses and flashing jewels, its tastefully decorated stage and brilliant lights. Many enthusiasts came long distances, and were simply rapt—being the richer by so much melody. So much in the way of description of the concert has already been written that I need say nothing more about it. The coming of Albal proves one thing, however, which I hope will not be lost sight of, namely, that Halifax and Nova Scotia will liberally support fine choral entertainments. If some of the great actors could be induced to come here, Irving, for instance, Halifax would be as well to the fore as it was to hear the prima donna. We suffer from a plethora of mediocrity in the way of theatrical companies, but ought not that suffering to cease?

The Academy was packed Monday evening when the Wilkie Opera company under the management of W. B. Harkins, produced The Beggar Student with the following cast:

Symon, a Bazaar Student. Mr. Robert Wilkie
Janitzky, a Polish nobleman. Mr. Philp Jones
Glen Olinde, governor of Oracov. Mr. J. G. Schaffer

Lieut. Popenbringer. Mr. Douglas Flint
Major Holt. Mr. Alex. Thompson
Capt. Schwartz. Mr. Robt. Blake
Enterick, a Jailer. Mr. Kirkland Calhoun
Puffin, his assistant. Mr. E. G. Schaffer

Onira, a servant to the Countess. Mr. J. H. Jones
Zitka, an innkeeper. Mr. Wm. Fullman
Bargmaster. Mr. Bergh Morison
Countess Plimmetia. Miss Sylvester Cornish
Laura. (her daughters)

The company was organized specially for this engagement. Mr. Harkins has succeeded in getting some clever musicians and actors together. Of course Miss Knapp's appearance was awaited with anxiety, and before the second act was over she had satisfied the audience with her work. Her voice is a clear and sweet soprano, and used without apparent exertion. Such a voice, combined with a charming stage presence, and clever acting, could not but make the lady a favorite, and the audience was slow to testify its appreciation. Mr. Wilkie had a splendid baritone voice and he played the title role to perfection. He is a clever actor, full of force and expression. His solo "Fate, you or I," was grandly given, and a repetition was demanded. Mr. Tom, the tenor, did not have a good opportunity to display his ability, but he showed he had a pleasant, even voice and a great deal is expected of him. Mr. Flint possesses a powerful bass voice, which was displayed to advantage in the role he sang last night. Like the other leading people, Mr. Flint is an actor, and knows well how to dish up the comedy element. Miss Ellis, the soprano, has a pleasant voice, and a naive manner that is delightful. She introduced a song in the third act that was so cleverly given that two repeats were demanded. Miss Cornish also played a clever conception of the Countess. The male members of the chorus were not numerous, though the cast was a long one. The first night defects were less prominent than usual. The staging and costuming were splendid, and the lighting effects were used in some of the scenes.

"The Beggar Student" was repeated Tuesday evening, and "Girofle-Gir-Fla" was given Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The Original Pheix Dancing club gave a most enjoyable fancy dress dance at Masonic hall last evening, which was attended by seventy or eighty couples, all of whom were in fancy dress, and until midnight masked. There were all sorts of costumes, knights, officers, soldiers, clowns, minstrels, court ladies, Bo Peeps, Starlight, Evangelines, etc. Refreshments were served in the dining room, and stars and dancing was kept up until the "wee sma' hours."

The main hall where the dancing took place was finely decorated. The walls were covered with flags. Large letters, "O. P. D. C.," were suspended on the eastern wall and the words "Welcome" in gas jets shown from the north side. Immediately opposite this there was an illuminated coat of arms.
