Every Woman Should Know.

That Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, has recently made a number of analyses of soaps, and reports that "Sunlight Soap contains that high percentage of oils and fats necessary to a good laundry soap."

What every woman does not know is that in common soaps she frequently pays for adulterations at the price of oils and fats. Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will see that Prof. Ellis is right. He should know. 308

"HARDENING" OF CHILDREN

And Some of the Ill Results That Are Apt to Follow.

Hecker is outspoken in his objections to the methods of children in the so-called "hardening" of children by the means of cold douches or baths. As a rule children thus treated are more susceptible to nasal catarrhs, throat affections, bronchitis and pulmonary inflammations than those who have not been subjected to the "hardening" process. Furthermore, such measures frequently give rise to pronounced anaemia and various disorders of the nervous system. Children so "hardened" are especially prone to acute and chronic intestinal disorders.

While in healthy children a properly conducted "hardening" process is often of advantage it must be remembered that there are no hard and fast rules, and that every case must be treated according to the individual indications. The fundamental principles of a proper "hardening" system are as follows: (1) Gradual acclimation to the air of the room; (2) gradual acclimation to outdoor air; (3) gradual acclimation to cold water; (4) suitable clothing—varied according to the weather and time of year. Great care should be observed in acclimating the child to cold water, and the effects of the same should be carefully watched, the endeavors being at once suspended on the first appearance of any unfavorable symptoms.

On no account should any of the "hardening" measures be commenced until the nursing period is passed, and in all cases the process should be one of gradual advancement.—New York Medical Record.

Handy Piano Seat.

This is an improvement on the round music stool and is contrived from an old packing case fitted with two shelves for music. Two sides are knocked out and the whole wood must be well sandpapered or enameled.

A quaint seat would be one stained a dark oak with a thickly padded flat brown serge cushion fixed on the top and kept in its place with bands of natural colored leather. Curtains of chestnut brown pongee silk hide the sides and can be easily drawn aside when music is wanted. These combined music cases and piano seats are to be recommended for use in flats where space is limited, and they possess the merit of being inexpensive and easily made by the amateur carpenter.

Sleeping and Sitting Room.

If one has to use a room for both sleeping and sitting in, it is a good plan to fit up one corner with shelves not more than four feet from the floor where the bath and all other washing appliances can be kept. This corner should be cut off from the rest of the room by a handsome crocheted or tapestry curtain, which should be suspended by a rod hidden by a piece of cornice molding. Having the corner of the room thus cut off will add to rather than detract from its appearance, for the convenience of this little private nook will be a very great comfort to its owner, who will probably put up another shelf a few feet higher than the first to keep her boots and shoes upon.

To Clean Silk or Wool.

For silk or fine wool goods, such as cashmeres, flannels, etc., gasoline is a much better cleansing agent than water. For a dress waist about one gallon of gasoline will be required. Take one-half of this and place in a clean pan or washbowl. Put the garment in and wash with the hands, rubbing good white soap on the soiled spots same as with water. Squeeze and rub until the dirt is loosened, then squeeze dry and rinse in the remaining fluid. Squeeze dry or partly so and hang in the open air until the odor has evaporated. Never use this in any room where there is a light or fire, as the gasoline is very inflammable. Goods cleansed in this way require no ironing.

New Silver.

New silver frequently is lacquered. In other words, the surface has been varnished with a solution of gun cotton and ether. This is done by manufacturers to prevent the silverware being tarnished, also to keep the surface in good condition. The varnish sometimes peels off, leaving the exposed surface to tarnish. In this case there is nothing to do but to place the silver in boiling water for two or three minutes, after which the lacquer can be easily removed. Silver can be relacquered if desired.

Dusty Books.

To free books from an accumulation of dust, first brush them carefully. Then, holding with the backs uppermost, rap them gently upon a table or other solid surface so that the dust will drop out from between the leaves. Repeat this operation, holding the book on end. Then carefully wipe again and return to the shelf. This is the way a librarian does it.

Wooden Tube.

When wooden tube or palls have to stand for some time, instead of filling them with water, which is sure to become stagnant, try painting them over with glycerin. The wood will not shrink until the glycerin dries on, and that will not happen for months.

NO MORE PAIN

IN THE BACK

Chas Gilchrist, of Port Hope Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Ex-Fishery Overseer in Splendid Health at Seventy-Four—What He Has to Say of the Matter.

Port Hope, Ont., Feb. 2.—(Special)—Everybody in Port Hope knows Mr. Chas. Gilchrist, for fifteen years Chief of Police and afterwards Fishery Overseer of the Dominion Government. He is seventy-four years of age now and a healthy man. But he has had his share of suffering. For ten years he was afflicted with Diabetes and Kidney Disorder. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Speaking of the case recently Mr. Gilchrist said: "I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills for about five years, off and on. When I got a pain in the back and my urine is full of brickdust I take a couple of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I am all right. I generally keep them on hand, for there is no medicine like them."

"When I commenced to take Dodd's Kidney Pills I was in a fearful state. They have made me a new man. I have about one-quarter acre in a garden. I dug and planted it last spring. When I first took Dodd's Kidney Pills I could not have done it to save my life."

"I believe I would have been dead long ago for Dodd's Kidney Pills."

It is curious like this that are giving Dodd's Kidney Pills their popularity.

He calls his office a dental parlor; isn't that ridiculous?

He should call it a drawing room.

NINETY-EIGHT PER CENT.

There is a fascination about big profits to a business man. But the conservative and cautious trader prefers to have the lesser per cent. of interest and the larger per cent. of safety in his investments. There is no business man who would not consider it a sound proposition to invest in an enterprise in which absolute loss was impossible, and which offered ninety-eight chances of a hundred of a rich profit. The statistics of cures effected by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery show that ninety-eight per cent. of cases of weak lungs can be absolutely cured. Almost if not all forms of physical weakness may be traced to starvation. Starvation saps the strength. The body is just as much starved when the stomach cannot extract nutrition from the food it receives as when there is no food. "Weak lungs," bronchial affections, obstinate coughs, call for nourishment. "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies that nourishment in its most condensed and assimilable form. It makes "weak lungs" strong, by strengthening the stomach and organs of digestion, which digest and distribute the food, and by increasing the supply of pure blood.

Miss Jones' Voice Greatly Improved.

A startling improvement is noticeable in Miss Jones' singing. Her voice is stronger, and sounds clearer and sweeter than before using Catarrhaze, which is a wonderful aid to singers, speakers and ministers. Catarrhaze, Inhaler insures absolute freedom from Colds, Coughs and Catarrh, clears the nose and throat, and prevents hoarseness. Catarrhaze makes the voice brilliant and enduring, and is uncommonly well recommended by Prima Donnas, members of Parliament, Lawyers, Doctors and thousands that use it daily. Better try Catarrhaze. DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HUMANE HUNTERS.

Story That Shows That a Gunner Does Not Always Want to Kill.

The hunter had long been following the trail of a deer. From certain signs which his practised eye noted along the way he knew that his long tramp through the snow in the forest was coming to an end.

He had followed the single trail for nearly four hours, starting with a glimpse of the deer as she sprang unexpectedly from a covert at the side of the old log road. The great leaps of the deer were easily detected and the hunter set out in pursuit fully believing that in time he could tire the animal out and shoot her.

The chase was a hot one, first along the margin of a little stream over which the snow-laden branches were bent until they swept the water, then through a marsh and on up the side of a mountain.

As the man followed, first at a slow trot and then walking and struggling with the brush and stumps, his hopes rose higher and higher, for he noted that the leaps of the deer were growing shorter and shorter, and finally that the doe was walking, either tired out or confident that she had distanced the hunter who had scented when she had stopped to nibble the tender bark of a bush.

The toes of the deer were no longer spread as they were when the animal is running. Up and over the mountain the hunter continued with increasing confidence.

The ground was strange to him. He had never hunted in that region before, and he watched with particular care the direction in which he was traveling from the sun and he studied the lay of the ground and noted the time it required to cover it from the starting point. The mountain seemed to run at right angles with the trail of the deer, and the particular features of the locality were fixed in his memory as a precaution against getting lost.

The doe worked along the side of this new watershed and entered a bowl in the slope of the mountains. When the hunter came up the deer was there in full view, and he raised his gun to shoot.

Suddenly he heard a plaintive cry: there was an answer, and a movement at the deer's side arrested his attention. He saw a young deer, apparently a fawn of the spring before, bound into the opening.

The doe turned to caress it and then sank to the ground, for she was plainly exhausted. The young deer did not appear to notice the doe's fatigue and played about her with every evidence of delight.

The hunter did not shoot. The gun was quietly lowered and set upon the ground, and the man watched with increasing interest the playful antics of the little one.

For some time the hunter waited, hoping to see a buck, and then he started to go away. He looked about to discover the trail over which he had approached the glen and by which he proposed to return.

Across the ridge he saw through the leafless trees the form of another hunter, and he hesitated as he speculated over the appearance of the other. Then he whistled low and softly.

"Did you see?" he asked, after he had attracted the other's attention, and he pointed in the direction of the two deer.

"Yes," was the response. "I discovered the doe and was about to shoot when I saw the little one. Then I watched it play for an hour or more."

The first hunter found the end of his long trail through the forest and began to retrace his steps, and the other walked away among the trees. This is a true story. Hunters are not always inhuman.

MORE ABOUT ELI HYMAN.

One Chance That Greeted Missed to Save Some of Its Money.

The writer met him on the street some time after the failure of the Farmers' Loan and Savings Company, and, on enquiring how things were going with him financially, he exclaimed passionately: "Oh! I've been robbed, robbed; first it was the Financial Loan went bust and done me up, and now the Farmers' Loan people have got on to me and dey're making me pay up on the uncalled stock." "But," I said, "I thought you were going to make some sort of a compromise with the liquidators?" "No," he replied, "dey would not make no compromise mit me, dey put in dem dam bailiffs and seized onto everting I haf, and I am near dead."

It appears that he could have made at one time a good compromise with the Farmers' Loan people, but while he was trying to squirm out of his debt altogether, the liquidators of the company got to know about his wealth and circumstances, and rightly made him pay up in full. This and other losses drove him to the "walking sandwich" mode of employment and rags and bottles business again. The miserable old man lived in a shed, denied himself almost the bare necessities of life, and died in the hospital, through the charity of the city, worth about $100,000, but declaring his poverty to the last breath. The ruling passion strong in death.—A. M. C. in Monetary Times.

Big Rush of Settlers.

Returns received by the Crown Lands Department show that 1,346 farms were located in the Teniskaming region last year, equal to 215,360 acres, or nearly ten townships. This is estimated to represent the arrival of about 3,000 persons, and does not include the veterans, of whom several hundred have recently taken land up there. Altogether between 500 and 700 veterans have already located, the next most popular sections being Rainy River and Thunder Bay districts.

The Story of Morning Tiredness

Is told by impure blood, poor digestion, sluggish liver and tired nerves. It is a warning of very serious trouble, and should prompt sensible people to take a bracing tonic like Ferrozone, an energetic invigorant and restorer. Ferrozone will give you a sharp appetite, promote good digestion and sound sleep; it will feed and energize the enfeebled organs, strengthen the nerve and vital forces and regulate the heart. Ferrozone changes that tired feeling into vigor, strength and ambition, and does it quickly. Remember the name, and insist on having only Ferrozone; it's the best tonic made. Birthdays in Japan.

Japan is the land of topey-turvy, and so, perhaps, it is only to be expected that individual birthdays—with the exception of that of the Emperor—are not taken any notice of, but a sort of general birthday of everybody is celebrated with great rejoicing. There are two of these general birthdays, one for each sex. The male birthday, which is known as the "celebration of the boys," occurs on the third day of the third month, and the "celebration of the girls," takes place on the fifth day of the fifth month. These days are general holidays for the young. All studies and work generally are put aside, and boys and girls respectively receive presents according to their station.

The birthday of the Mikado, or Ten-o, as he is more properly styled, is also a general holiday for the Japanese everywhere. The houses are all decorated with flags and in the evening the streets are gay with the lights of innumerable colored lanterns. In the morning the highest authorities go to the palace to offer their congratulations in person and the lower degrees offer them vicariously to their superiors. All the Japanese would somehow or other congratulate their monarch on having added another year to his age.

It means that something mischievous has a curd and they want to get a whey.
