

SCOTT & LOWREY

Tailors,

RESPECTFULLY beg leave to apprise their friends and the public that they have commenced business in the above line in the shop in the New Brick Building, of the late Mr. James Scoullar, next adjoining Dr. Hamilton, and fronting on Germain Street, and they pledge themselves that all orders with which they may be honoured shall be executed with the utmost neatness and punctuality.

D. Scott having been Foreman to the late Mr. Scoullar, and for some time past sole conductor of his business, and having purchased the greater part of his most expensive cloths, feels fully confident of giving every satisfaction.

Army and Navy Uniforms prepared, for which Scott & Lowrey have some very superior cloths on hand.

August 20, 1825.

Mr. Scoullar was spoken of by his contemporaries as a large-hearted, kindly and benevolent man, outspoken in his views and a hater of shams, energetic in his business and much esteemed and respected by his workmen, with whom he had always the most friendly relations. In the notice of his death it is stated: "Few men leave a name behind them more remarkable for integrity and benevolence."

He left surviving a son, who was long a merchant in Liverpool, England, and five daughters. The eldest became the wife of Robert Sheed, a well known cabinet maker of old times; three others married William Thomson, Robert Thomson and James E. Barnes, prominent business men in St. John, who have died in recent years, and one daughter died unmarried.
