

XELLENT DRESSERS

Their society is always sought for. Their good taste is admired—but the shabbily dressed, although sometimes pitied, is praised, never.

Every one is desirous to dress well and improve appearance. And we claim it is their own fault if they don't dress well.

A man enters our store with but one single X. in his pocket, gets dressed from top to bottom—and everything up-to-date, mind you. He goes out xellently dressed and has a $ or 2 left in his pocket to spare.

Won't he feel happy? Yes, sufficiently happy to advise others to follow his example and recommend them to our house.

LIBERTY, BENEVOLENCE AND CONCORD

The annual thanksgiving service of the I.O.F. was held in St. John's church, New Dublin, June 26.

The members of Court Glen Buell, No. 878, and many visiting brothers from Court Athens, Court Fairfield, and Court Caintown celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of the birth of the benevolent order of the I.O.F.

There was a large number of Foresters and their friends out for the celebration. The beautiful little church was tastefully decorated and every possible seat was occupied by people anxious to listen to the Rev. Bro Smith's address of welcome which had been carefully prepared and was ably given. The musical programme was most excellent. Miss Kendrick and her assistants did excellent work in rendering the scriptural songs of welcome. The enthusiasm of the meeting was great, and the whole event reflected much credit upon the Rev. Bro. and his assistants.

Service over in the church, the Foresters returned to the town hall, opened court, and spent an hour in friendly greeting and short speeches re the order and its many blessings to afflicted humanity, after which the modest Chief Ranger of Court Glen Buell presented the many brethren present with a treat of beautiful California fruit, which was appreciated much indeed. The committee in charge received many thanks from the visiting friends of the triple links of friendship—Liberty, Benevolence and Concord.

CIRCUS VS. AGRICULTURE

The tendency of some agricultural societies to introduce too much "circus" and horse racing into their fairs and neglecting the purely agricultural features is shortly to receive a merited check. Superintendent Cowan has been looking into the matter, and will shortly publish a comparative statement that will be of special interest. Among the figures he is already able to quote are these:

One society has been receiving a Government grant of $380 and spending $2,400 in agricultural prizes, while another has been getting a grant of $520 and only $856 in prizes. Still another received last year a grant of $660 and spent $641 in agricultural prizes. One of the township fairs got a grant of only $80, and its prize list totalled $1,019, while a district society in Eastern Ontario got ten times the grant and gave only $100 more than its township neighbor.

NATURE STUDY

A little dip into nature study has been made by some pupils in Athens public schools this spring. It is now announced by the Minister of Education that the new programme of studies (embracing nature study) will come into force after the summer holidays and for the training of teachers summer schools exist in various parts of the province. The term will begin July the 5th and continue for three weeks. There are no fees charged, but the expenses are estimated at $20 for each teacher.

In this connection, Dr. Kinney, I.P.S., says: "I would earnestly recommend all teachers in district No. 2 to take a special course of training in one of these summer schools and I would further recommend boards of trustees to liberally assist in defraying the necessary expenses. These recommendations are made in the interests of the schools and the carrying out of them means educational progress."

Recuperative Effect

Considered with reference to its recuperative effect, there is not so much good in the ordinary vacation as there is in a single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. The latter costs $1; the former—well, that depends; how much did yours cost last year?

Hood's Sarsaparilla retunes the tired blood, sharpens the dulled appetite, restores the lost courage.

Rev. S. J. Hughes' Farewell

Winchester Press: The Methodist church was crowded to the doors on Sunday evening, it being the last occasion on which Rev. S. J. Hughes addressed the congregation as its pastor before his removal to Athens. The rev. gentleman said he did not intend to preach a farewell sermon but prefaced his remarks by referring to the four pleasant years he had spent in Winchester and the kind treatment he had received at the hands of his congregation and the people generally, for all of which he tendered his thanks. The rev. gentleman then gave an excellent sermon, the central thought being character building. The subject matter covered a wide range of thought and research and afterwards was the subject of many complimentary remarks. Mr. Hughes is an outspoken man but by his consistent straightforward Christian life he has won the esteem of everyone and his removal is regretted. He is a man that wears.

By the mission circle of the church, Rev. Mr. Hughes was presented with a gold-headed cane and an address expressing their esteem for him, their gratitude for the help and counsel he had given, and their hope for his future prosperity.

Although the presentation of a silver service to Mrs. (Rev.) Hughes reported last week was made in the name of the Women's Missionary Society, the gift is understood was from the whole Methodist congregation.

Death of Ogle Webster

Mr. Ogle Webster, a highly esteemed citizen of Athens, died at his home here on Saturday last, aged 73 years. He had been ill for several months, and during the last few days his condition was such that the end was known to be near. He leaves to mourn his loss his aged wife, two brothers and three sisters.

Mr. Webster was born at Lansdowne and his wife was Miss Susan Duffield. They had no children. For the last thirteen years they have been residents of Athens, but for forty years previously had resided on their fine farm property at Washburn's. There the greater part of their life and labors was spent, converting a bush lot into a well tilled farm and adorning it with a fine home and outbuildings. Though of a quiet disposition, Mr. Webster had the warm friendship of his neighbors, who learned with sincere regret of his passing away. The funeral service was conducted on Monday by the Rev. R. B. Patterson, rector of Christ church, and interment was made in the cemetery at Trinity church, Lansdowne.

HASKINS-RICHARDS

On Wednesday, June 22nd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Richards, Frankville, occurred the marriage of their only daughter, Ethel Helen, to Byron Haskins, M.D., of Plessis, N. Y. The ceremony was performed at 10 a.m. in the presence of a few intimate friends, by Rev. R. F. Oliver, pastor of the Methodist church. The bride wore a going-away gown of blue broadcloth, with hat of tulle and rafia. A dainty wedding breakfast was served in the dining-room, after which Dr. and Mrs. Haskins left for their home in Plessis. Among the many gifts received was a purse presented by the congregation of the Methodist church, of which the bride was a useful and esteemed member.

SHAYER-PHELPS

An exceptionally pretty wedding took place in the Methodist church, Delta, on Wednesday morning last (22), when Miss Elma Phelps, daughter of L. N. Phelps of that village was married to Robt. M. Shaver, son of J. H. Shaver of Brockville. The church, which was very artistically decorated with ferns and flowers, the color scheme being pink, white and green, was filled with guests and interested onlookers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. H. Williams, pastor of the church. The bride, who presented a very attractive appearance, was given away by her father, and was gown in her travelling suit of blue broadcloth and white silk waist with hat of white chiffon and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by her little niece, Miss Lucile Whitmore, of Philipville, as flower girl, who was prettily dressed in white organdie and white picture hat. Miss Ethel Brown of Philipville ably presided at the organ, using selections from Mozart and Mendelssohn and rendering the wedding march as the wedding party were leaving the church. After the ceremony a reception was held and breakfast served at the home of the bride's father, at which only relatives with a few lady friends of the bride were present, after which the bride and groom left on the morning train for Brockville, where the groom's parents entertained them at dinner in company with a number of relatives and friends of the groom. The bride received a large number of beautiful presents, while the groom remembered the bride's attendant and the organist with suitable gifts. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Shaver, Misses Letitia and Anna McConachie, and Miss Margaret Boucher of Brockville.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaver left by the str. Peria for Massena Springs and other points in New York state and on their return will reside at Montreal.
