A REMARKABLE ADDRESS.

It seems that the people of West Elgin think that George E. Casey has represented them long enough and are anxious that he should pass the honor around. But George E. does not care about retiring. As a consequence he has issued a most remarkable appeal to the Liberals of West Elgin. He in effect says that he is in need of a government appointment, but if he is cast aside he may not so easily obtain it. He asks them therefore to return him to parliament until such time as he can get an official and profitable position, when he will resign and take it. Here is an extract from Mr. Casey's circular, it needs no comment: "I have not refused any good situation under government, one reason being that I have not been offered any. While my ambition for political advancement remains strong, my circumstances are such that I could not reasonably refuse such a provision for life as my long years of service might seem to justify—nor do I think anyone would blame me for accepting it. So that if I should be nominated and re-elected once more, I could not bind myself to complete the parliamentary term, if it appeared to the government that my usefulness would be greater in some position bearing an adequate permanent salary. I believe that is the correct way to put it when an increase of income is in question."

BAPTISTS DECLARE AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.

The Maritime Baptist Association, which was in session at Halifax last week, has the hard hood to differ with the president of the Kent Prohibitionists, and declares that Sir Wilfrid Laurier did wrong in refusing prohibitory legislation as a result of the plebiscite. The report adopted was as follows:

"The palpable inadequacy of our own temperance laws must be apparent to all who have had to do with their enforcement. The Dominion parliament has had the subject of improved legislation before it in one form or another for a number of years without making satisfactory advancement towards prohibition of the traffic. In 1896 at the instance of parliament a plebiscite was taken throughout Canada for the expressed purpose of ascertaining whether public opinion was or was not in favor of prohibition. The vote was taken in September of that year and the result was that a considerable majority of the entire electorate casting their votes on that occasion were in favor of prohibition. Such being the case, it followed logically upon general principles that the government should have at once initiated the legislation necessary to carry out the will of the people thus constitutionally expressed, but they declined to take that course, the result being that the clear demand of a majority of those who voted was not complied with, but on the contrary, the wish of all those interested in the liquor traffic has prevailed."

DISCRIMINATING AGAINST THE NEGROES.

When negro schoolhouses were burned in New Orleans an excuse for the crime was found in the fact that it was committed by a mob in the fury of excitement. But what are we to think of the action taken by the city authorities of New Orleans who have formally abolished the schools where negro children were given an education the same as that given to white children, and substituted for schools of higher grades schools for manual training? There can be no question as to the advantages negro children will derive from manual training, but to deprive them of the right to a common school education is not only glaringly unjust but extremely shortsighted as a policy. Apart from the obvious fact that the simplest mechanical training involves a knowledge of the three R's, the question at issue is whether under the American constitution the child of a taxpayer can be legally deprived of the benefits of common school education on account of race or color. However that may be, to attempt to prevent the education of colored children is, in any view of the case, un-Christian and conceived in a spirit of enmity to humanity. It is obviously an effort to establish a class of helots in violation of the fundamental laws of the nation. The results must be deplorable in widening the breach between the two races, and by adding wrong and injustice to social animosity, which are sure to work incalculable mischief to both.

Sowing is to be taught in the Windsor Public schools. Next, probably, scrubbing and mangleing will be added to the curriculum.

The city of Rochester was startled in the early hours of dawn by a thunderous shout from a couple of hundred stentorian voices, "Buffalo is the place to buy your dry goods, boots and shoes, and everything the people use. Buffalo!" It was the Buffalo

Trade excursion that smote the still air at the New York Central train shed, and they represent the very latest idea in advertising. They are doing up northern New York as a sort of co-operative band of drummers, not for individual houses, but for the city generally, and they are having no end of an enjoyable time.

During the progress of the Boer war 12,000 school children, of Philadelphia, signed an address of sympathy with the burghers and sent a juvenile delegate all the way to Pretoria to present it to Kruger. He got there a trifle late. Paul had just time to grab the document, murmur "thanks, sonny," in Dutch, and skip. A few hours later Roberts entered the Boer capital. A correspondent the other day in interviewing an old Boer asked him if he had seen a boy who had come all the way from America with a resolution of sympathy from some school children. "Yah, dot was funny," was the reply. The adult chumps in Philadelphia who engineered the whole silly affair will be pleased to learn the Boer estimate of it.

The question as to how far one has exclusive ownership over one's own face is to be definitely settled at Osgoode Hall. There are English and American judgments on the question, the latter rather in favor of the view that public personages at least have no exclusive copyright on their features; but no decision on the right of one person to exhibit a photograph of another one has been given out. A young lady named Kerr, exceedingly comely, was photographed some time ago by J. Rowley, a Toronto photographer. The picture was a fine one, and Rowley decided to use it with some photos sent to various exhibitions. The girl objected, and entered suit to prevent the use of her photo at exhibitions or as an advertisement. Rowley replied that she was under age, and could not sue, but the courts have decided to let her nearest kinswoman sue on her behalf, and the case will go to trial.

ADVICE FROM A FRIEND.

Kingston Whig.
G. E. Casey, of West Elgin, in his election address, intimates that he will accept a government office if it is tendered to him. If he is an office-seeker he should not be a candidate. The Whig has always opposed the exercise of any man's parliamentary influence for self-preference.

SIGHING FOR BLAKE.

Kingston News.
Mr. Blake, at all events, is a man to be trusted. He may go wrong in judgment, but he will not knowingly do wrong. If he were a member of the present Dominion Cabinet he would doubtless long ago have put his foot down upon the extravagance and corruption that characterize it. We want some such man to counteract the influence of J. Israel Tarte and others in the Government.

THE MONOPOLISTS' HARVEST.

London Free Press.
Much dissatisfaction is expressed among parents about the quantity of new school books which they are periodically compelled to buy for their children. This year there seems to be more complaints than usual. One parent informs the Free Press that not very long ago she paid out close on to $5 for school books for her children. Two of whom had just entered the Fourth Book. Now she is compelled to buy new grammars, geographies and arithmetics. This is a very serious matter to some people, for these books come high.

WHAT ONE LETTER DID.

Exchange.
An enterprising Philadelphia restaurant proprietor hung out a large blackboard sign the other day with the following announcement: "You can't beat our fifteen cent dinners." This sign proved to be a good drawing card until a young man of humorous turn of mind came along. The latter, seeing the sign, stopped, and after scrutinizing it closely, smiled one of those smiles which bode no one any good. He waited until none of the employees were watching and, taking out his handkerchief, he erased the letter "b" from the word "beat." The transformation was complete, and it was not until a crowd had collected that the proprietor of the restaurant discovered why there was a larger crowd outside than inside.

GOLDEN ROD.

When the weeds tangles blaze
In the low September sun,
When the flowers of summer days
Drop and wither, one by one,
Reaching up through bush and brier,
Sumptuous briw and heart of fire,
Planting high its wind-rocked plume,
Brave with wealth of native bloom,
Golden-rod!

When the meadow, lately shorn,
Parched and languid, swoons with pain,
When her life-blood, night and morn,
Shrinks in every throbbing vein,
Round her fallen, tarnished urn,
Leaping watch-fires brighter burn,
Loyal archer autumn's grays,
Bending low with lustrous weight,
Golden-rod!

HER THOUGHTS.

"What are you meditating upon so seriously, dear?" asked Mrs. Tenipot of her daughter.
"I was wondering, mamma, if Frank will look much like his papa when he reaches the age his papa is now. If I thought he would I would break the engagement instantly."
