Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will only lighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn honky growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many cases of Rheumatism; but now, almost, I can cure every case of Rheumatism, even the most chronic, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cure is permanent. There is no more Rheumatism in the system. There is no need of any more actual cure to suffer longer without help. We sell and incontinence recommended.

A TENNESSEE TORNADO.

Cuts Down Spencer Court House and Unroofed 15 Dwellings.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 22.—News came Tuesday night of a tornado which swept through Spencer, Tenn., County, Tenn., Sunday morning. The court-house was demolished, fifteen houses unroofed and many stores damaged. The place was cut off from telephone and telegraphic communication.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, have proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore require constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only catarrh cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Catarrh Pills for constipation.

General Mortally Wounded.

The worries of a weak and sick mother are only begun with the birth of her child. By day her work is constantly interrupted and at night her rest is broken by the wailing of the peevish, piny infant. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes women well, women strong and sick women well, giving to mothers strength and vigor, which they impart to their children. In over thirty years of practice Dr. Pierce and his associates staff of nearly a score of physicians have treated and cured more than half a million suffering women. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free of charge. All correspondence is strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

TOGO TO HIS SAILORS.

Farewell Speech of the Admiral to Those Who Fought With Him In Japanese Navy.

After the close of the Russo-Japanese war, Admiral Togo, in bidding farewell to those who had fought so nobly with him in the Japanese navy, delivered himself of a farewell address, of which the following is a part: "The war of twenty months' duration is now a thing of the past, and our united squadron, having completed its functions, is to be herewith dispersed. But our duties as naval men are not at all lightened for that reason. To preserve in perpetuity the fruits of this war, to promote to an ever greater height of prosperity the fortunes of the country, the navy, which, irrespective of peace or war, has to stand between the empire and shocks from abroad, must always maintain its strength at sea and must be prepared to meet any emergency. This strength does not consist solely in ships and armament; it consists also in material ability to utilize such agents. When we understand that of life is a match for a hundred of the enemies' guns each of which scores only one per cent., it becomes evident that every sailor must have recourse to every thing to the strength which is over and above external. The triumphs recently won by our navy are largely to be attributed to the habitual training which enabled us to garner the fruits of the fighting. If then we are to continue to stand firm in the future, we must not abandon ourselves to ease and rest. A soldier's whole life is one continuous and unceasing battle, and there is no reason why the sailor should be any less so. In the state of readiness which is necessary to display his strength, in days of peace to accumulate it, thus perpetually and uniquely discharging his duty to the full. If men calling themselves sailors learn the lesson of peace, they will learn the lesson of war, and they will learn the lesson of war, they will learn the lesson of peace. When an army conquers a country, it remains over 400 years under its control, only to be lost immediately so soon as our navy declines. Again, when under the sway of the Tokugawa in modern days our arms were neglected, the coming of a few American ships threw us into distress. On the other hand, the British navy which won the battles of the Nile and of Trafalgar, not only made England as secure as a great mountain, but also by themselves carefully maintaining its strength and keeping it on a level with the world's progress, has safeguarded its country's interests and promoted its fortunes. In modern, lessons, whether ancient or modern, whether they are the outcome of political happenings, must be regarded as in the main the natural result of what the soldier remembers war in the day of peace. We naval men who have survived the war must plan future development and seek not to fall behind the progress of the time. If we keep the instructions of our sovereign ever graven on our hearts, we will serve earnestly and diligently, and putting forth our full strength await the hour may bring forth, we shall then have discharged our great duty of perpetually guarding our country."

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing you are condoning your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience covers a great many years. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for many years under her direction, and she has been advising sick women free of charge. Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impedes them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely tell of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

Still a Free Trader.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—Hon. J. Israel Tarte declares in La Patrie yesterday that Hon. Mr. Fielding's speech was a repetition of free trade arguments with its varied machinery, calls more for brain than muscle. He should be a man who, first of all, feels a real professional pride in being a farmer, who brings up his sons to feel pride in their father's work. Then, he should give them some fair chance to be proud in the character and appearance of the farm. Such a man will make good farming grow in the hearts of the men about him. Being a man of the land, he will be a reader of the daily work of farming a mind trained to study and think, and he will reach out for the thoughts of other men.

The Right Kind of a Farmer.

The right kind of a farmer is a man of brain, as well as brawn. In the business of farming in these days, with its varied machinery, calls more for brain than muscle. He should be a man who, first of all, feels a real professional pride in being a farmer, who brings up his sons to feel pride in their father's work. Then, he should give them some fair chance to be proud in the character and appearance of the farm. Such a man will make good farming grow in the hearts of the men about him. Being a man of the land, he will be a reader of the daily work of farming a mind trained to study and think, and he will reach out for the thoughts of other men.

Childhood's Definitions.

A correspondent of The Manchester Guardian gives a good childish definition: "I once overheard a little boy talking to his younger sister. At length he interrupted her in a few seconds, and then, his eyes brightening, he replied: 'Why, a solid is all one piece, with no empty space inside.' You will not be surprised to find that the boy is now a B.Sc., and bears that title with honor in one of our Liverpool schools." A little philosopher defined darkness. He was accustomed to having a small light in his bedroom, and one night he shared his light with another. "Oh," he exclaimed, in awe-struck tones, "what a big 'ole'!"

Gift of a Church.

The Rev. W. F. T. Hamilton, vicar of Cromer, recently laid the foundation stone of a new church which he is presenting to his old parish at Woking, in memory of his late wife and to commemorate his long connection with Woking.

GOLF and GUILF

By Margaret Muzzey

Philip Prentiss was looking for a place where he could spend his two weeks' vacation playing golf. As he stepped on the train he tried to recall exactly what pretty Sallie Norton had told him at a dance the night before. She said there were several attractive resorts along the river and one where a lot of professional men and women went every summer. Unfortunately the twopenny had struck up at that moment, and she had omitted to mention its name.

"Golf links here?" Philip asked the conductor as the train slowed down at a little station. "Yes, sir, finest in the country. Rockdale, Rockdale! Don't forget your packages!"

An unfortunate commuter who bundled off at the same time told Philip that the pretty little house he saw on the hill was the Rockdale Golf club, so he made his way across the fields to inspect it. The fresh breeze fanned his cheek, the blue river looked cool and refreshing in the distance, and he hoped this was the place Sallie had referred to. If, with its natural charm, it combined the advantage of making acquaintances desirable for a young man eager to advance in the legal profession nothing was left to be wished for. He felt inclined to join the committee and ask a few more questions, only that he was in a hurry to get to the very knowledge that she had gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say without trying it "I do not believe it will help me."

Prominent Manufacturer Sinks.

In Vankeet Hill, Ont., no one is better known than Geo. S. Watson. When he says "Caterhazone is a real cure," he depends on it being so. "My wife," he writes, "was subject to bad attacks of throat irritation and bronchitis. Many remedies were tried, but few proved at all useful. Caterhazone at the sore spots seemed to get right at the cause. We have found Caterhazone an absolute cure for bronchitis and catarrh. Nothing cures more quickly, so get it to-day, two sizes, 25c. and $1 at all dealers."

The Men Canada Wants.

London, Nov. 22.—(C. A. P.)—Bruce Walker, interviewed by The Western Daily Press of Bristol, emphasized that it was the "Hever of wood and drawer of water" Canada wanted, and not the "warehouse man and clerks who followed in the wake of the men who created the wealth from the land and factories. The Canadian Government also would not encourage the immigration of skilled mechanics."

Some of John Bull's Expenses.

An idea of the cost of running a great nation may be gained from the statement that England's balance sheet for the last fiscal year shows an expenditure of considerably more than three-quarters of a billion dollars. The exact amount was $1,178,000,000. To meet this revenue was raised amounting to $1,153,707,000, leaving a surplus on hand of $1,183,000. Of this vast expenditure, $66,200,000 went to the army and navy; $224,000,000 for dispensing justice; and $15,181,000 was spent on education. There is one entry which reveals the magnitude of the Empire's business. It is that for "stationery and printing," and shows that three-quarters of a million pounds was expended on this item alone during the past year.

The Danger of White Lead.

Probably best working and particularly the manufacture of white lead is the most dangerous calling. In this industry it is inevitable that sooner or later the workers must succumb to lead poisoning, and there would appear to be no part of the body that the poisonous fumes and floating particles which permeate the atmosphere of the workshops do not affect.

The plexion takes on a ghastly corpse-like pallor, the gums turn blue, the teeth decay rapidly and fall out, the eyes are hideously inflamed. A scratch or an abrasion of the skin becomes an unhealthy sore. Later on, when nerves and muscles become affected by the poison in the blood, the eyeballs are drawn into oblique positions and take on a dim and bleared appearance. The joints, especially the knee and the wrist, become semiparalyzed, and the whole form is gradually bent and contorted.

Necessary.
