HIS FLEET DESTROYED!

War Notes.

The Krenz Zeitung warns America that European neutrality might not be maintained if the Americans were to bombard Spanish ports.

The Berlin National Gazette says: "With all their dislike of warlike complications, European states allow no trifling with their interests, No one menaces the American Union. Diplomacy has ever been excessively polite to the Yankees out of consideration of their sensitiveness; but it has been assumed that they will respect the rights of others."

The London Times compliments both sides on their bravery, but alwises Spain to submit to Yankee demands. Sagasta is said to have stated: "Though the American warships may destroy our squadron in the harbor, yet we will pursue the war. There are in Cuba 100,000 men ready to die in its defence, but they will not yield."

A Belated Story.

Off Santiago de Cuba, July 2, via Kingston, Jamaica, July 3.—On the menting of July 1st the Hist, Hornet and Wampatuck destroyed a Spanish is gunboat near Cape Cruz. On the afternoon of the same day these members of the Mosquito fleet destroyed another Spanish war vessel at Manzanilla. At the latter place a hot engagement ensued between the three small American craft and mine Spanish vessels supported by Jand batteries and the troops ashore. One large Spanish toroped boat was disabled, three Spanish proposods was sunk, the enemy escaping in boats. The Hornet was temporarily disabled, but the only casualties on the American side were three men sightly scaled by them. You will find it was been bottled and corked by them. You will find it supported by them. You will find it was perfectly fresh and corked by them.
