

Huntley & Palmers reputation has steadily grown. From small beginnings, Huntley & Palmers manufactory has become a landmark of industrial England. To-day, Huntley & Palmers Biscuits are enjoyed in every civilised country. The history of this success is the history of Quality. Never in the manufacture of Huntley & Palmers Biscuits have secondgrade materials of any kind been employed.

HUNTLEY & PALMERS BISCUITS

e cheapest on the market. When buying bis specify Huntley & Palmers, and refuse substitute Obtainable throughout the world HUNTLEY & PALMERS, LTD., READING, ENGLAND

CHAPTER XXVI.

Goldie and Grant Whitney.

Grant Whitney was not to be foil ed so easily. For weeks he had feasted upon the sight of this woman's beauty, and now this passionate blind love had sprung up for her in his heart. He continued:

Why did you bind yourself to that aged man when youth and youth's pleasures awaited you? Why---

Because you had already sacrificed your incomparable sell upon the altar of matrimony, and it mattered door! little whom I married after Grant Whitney had been secured,' she answered, with cutting sarcasm.

The discomfited lover arose to his feet and seemed about to reply.

'Spare your words, Mr. Whitney. to listen to words such as yours.'

'You will not mention this?' he al?' asked.

'I shall do as I please about that! You should never say anything to a married woman that you would no wish her husbaud to hear,' and she arose to leave the room.

'Stay one moment. You shall not leave me thus!' he cried, springing to his feet and locking the door.

'Am I mistress in my own house, or not?' she cried indignantly. 'You are the n istress of my heart, most beautiful Evangelire! And ualess you listen to its pleadings, I replied: 'I have seen the golden-hair- Mrs. Grant entered the building and wil inform Major Grant of a bit of ed one at Mrs. Felton's several years made some trifling purchase. Jane scandal I heard the other day while I ago. was in New York City.'

What had he heard? Should sle compromise with this man? were tle questions quickly asked and answered in the mind of Mrs. Grant.

Remembering her brother's caution, 'Be firm. It is your only safe

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM. give many names, but which few of them real understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down as it were of the vital forces that

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY

THERAPION No. 3

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE LIGHTED UP AFRESH, table and innocuous, is agre itable for all constitutions a er sex; and it is difficult to either sex; and it is difficult to imagine a case of disease or derangement, whose main features are those of debility, that will not be speedily an permanently benefited by this never-failing recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it for this

THERAPION.

Therapion may now also be way out of the toils you have entered,' she laughed lightly. I have read of men who urged your very transparent stratagem to gain the silence of a lady whom they had insulted, and the anger of whose husband they feared. Therefore, it is not quite so powerful an argument as it would otherwise would have been. You have my full consent to repeat to Major Grant anything you may have heard in New York City. My husband has been made acquaintwill judge impartially. Unlock that come to a better understanding l' ex claimed the foiled villain, 'You must have a desire to learn what I heard the other day!' 'I have none. You forget that I I hold my husband's honor too high am a stranger in this vicinity. Why quarters; but, with all a Frenchwoshould I feel an interest in its scand-til vou came here as my uncle's wife?

' From our conversation, your common sense should have told you that I had never been so far north before.'

'And yet I was in an eating saloon on Broadway a few days ago, and you passed down the street with Mrs. Whitney. A man who sat at a table near me exclaimed as you passed the open door, "There goes two magnifi-

"And who is Mrs. Felton?" innoently asked Mrs. Grant. "She keeps a notorious place," was

"And from that fellow's idle remark ou gathered assurance to insult your unt!" she scornfully replied. "If I have made a mistake, I beg our pardon. But what could the nan have meant?" "I presume he mistook me for you wife's sister. Mrs. Whitney was deeived when I first came here, and ven called me by the name of her sister who turned out quite badly, if have been rightly informed. I presume that your friend committed the ame error of judgement. People rereciate your nobility of character

'Madam-

low, and when they come, I shall rder them to burst the door open. Mrs. Grant, touching the button.

"Go and see if John has the horses | ed the narrow crossroad that ended eady. I am going out for a drive," near Farmer Mellen's land. was the order given. Jane departed to obey the command her mistress, who turned to Grant old pool, she sat down upon its very Vhitney with a look of contempt. "For the sake of your wife and be to throw herself in there and end hildren I will allow this insult to all her weary life struggles.

well that I might render you all homeless within an hour. Remember that you are dependent upon our bounty. and try to treat us with common decency. I expect nothing more from you. Good afternoon, sir." Mrs. Grant swept from the room, and Grant Whitney muttered between nearly dark. When Mrs. Grant entered her chamber she found Jane there.

'The horses are in the carriage, Mrs. Grant. Shall I help you to get ready for the drive?' she said.

'I want a great deal of your help, lane. Can I trust you?' answered the young mistress. 'Trust me! Lord1 Mrs. Grant, your innocent little heart could never conceive of the dreadful secrets I carry in my own. What must I do?'

Sick at heart, yet determined to tions, Mrs. Grant replied: 'I wish to go to New York City, and not return until to-morrow evening. You must contrive to make it appear that I return to-night, for will manage to get home unperceived if you will cover my absence. "Nothing in the world can be more easily done. When Mrs. Harper used to meet her music teacher secretly, she would always tell me to put on a close, dark suit of her own, and get into the carriage before it was taken to the door. I am quite small, and in such cases I always smuggle myseli under the seat of the carriage, and remain there until my lady has got out of the carriage. Then I watch my opportunity, and while the coachman has gone round the corner for a drink, or is watching the nursery maids on the street, I slip out and away in a moment. After a reasonable time I return to the carriage, and with my veil down, I imitate my mistress' voice, and order the coachman to drive home at once. I then get into the house unobserved, and all goes well until my mistress' returns. She manages to slip into the house by a side door, and all is right again. We the valuable maid. Mrs. Grant felt the difference in the tone of voice used by her maid since ed with all my antecedents, and he she had shared a part of her secret. and little as she dared trust the woman, she felt obliged to push on in 'You must not go until we have she dressed in a dark suit, and Jane arrayed herself in a similar one. Jane then proceeded to the stables, with the goods they ship, and the Colonis and Foreign Markets they supply, snugly stowed herself away under the seat of the carriage. She found herself in rather close man's love of mystery and intrigue she heeded not her conscience, so that of she could assist in carrying out the secret expedition of her mistress In a few moments the coachman came in and led the horses to the front door of the mansion. Mrs. Grant lorwarded, freight paid, on receipt of Postal Order for 20s. came down, closely veiled, and entered the carriage. The coachman mounted his box, and they were driving their trade cards for £1, or large advertisements from £3. came down, closely veiled, and enteren rapidly away.

CHAPTER XXVII.

The Last Hour.

Leaving the carriage in front of cent-looking women!" A companion fashionable dry goods establishment. quickly followed her mistress, the coachman having afforded opportunity to do so by leaving the carriage in the care of an old friend while he went for a glass of ale.

"Take this package and return home at once. If Mr. Whitney asks for

"I will tell him that you are tired and will not come down to-night. I'l manage, my lady," answered the delighted maid, leaving the establishment and entering the carriage with all the airs of a Fifth Avenue belle

After the carriage had rolled away

Mrs. Grant hastened to reach the de not from which she was to travel to the station nearest Riverbrook, wher emble each other sometimes. I ap- the express train stopped. She was too late for the accommodation train It was just after nightfall when the train stopped at 'the little station "I have asked you to unlock that which had twice before been the stopoor. I shall ring for the servants ping place of the sad-hearted woman, who drew her veil closely about her veil closely about hereptfEdhfiO4Oy They can report the matter to my face as she stepped from the cars on usband when he returned without to the little platform, where two or our consent at all," coolly remarked | three men stood watching the coming and going of the passengers. There Grant Whitney hastily unlocked the was only one other person besides loor and resumed his seat, looking Mrs. Grant to leave the cars at this pale and frightened. Jane made her station, and pushing by him, she hastened down the street, and soon reach-

> How vividly did the past come t her mind! And when she reached the edge, and thought how easy it would naired boy, who loved to nestle in her arms and hear her tender voice, to drive away the dark temptation. "Frankie would miss me," she mur-mured; and arising to her feet, she the house. There was no light in the kitchen and keeping-room windows were closely curtained. She walked around 'Foiled! I was a fool,' and re- the house to the great west room. A mained thinking over his failure until light was burning there and the curtain was drawn aside.

walked slowly and cautiously to Mrs. Grant drew near the and looked in. Upon a low bed her father lay, his gray hair sweeping over a snowy pillow, and his sunken eyes closed.

Christopher sat beside the bed, hold ing one of the wasted hands, and Min nie stood with her hand upon her hus band's shoulder and her handkerchief covering her face. Mrs. Whitney leaned over the low rail across the foot of the bed, and seemed to be weeping, and May-gentle May-was walking slowly back and forth across the room, with her pale hands clasped upon her bosom. She had been carry out her hastily formed resoluta- so long the only attendant of the old man who lay dving that it was harder for her to give him up than for the

To be continued.

LONDON DIRECTORY

ENABLES traders throughout the will be getting ready now," continued English MANUFACTURERS A DEALERS in each class of goods. Besides being complete commercial guide to Londo the course marked out for herself. So and its suburbs, the Directory contain-

STEAMSHIP LINES arranged under the Ports to which the sail, and indicating the approximat

PROVINCIAL TRADE NOTICES leading Manufacturers, Merchants and indus Kingdom. industrial centres of the United A copy of the current edition will b

THE LONDON DIRECTORY Co. Ltd. 25, Abchurch Lane, Lordon, E. C.

FOR SALE!

A FEW HUNDRED Raspberry Canes,

In splendid order. This year's plants : will bear nex

$3.50 PER HUNDRED. Cash only.

A. R. MARTIN, care of

A. H. MARTIN, AGENT.

Cavendish Square.

EUROPEAN AGENC

W HOLESALE Indents promptly ex-ecuted at lowest cash prices for all kinds of British and Continental goods, including :-Address in full:-Books and Stationery, Boots, Shoes and Leather, Chemicals and Druggists' China, Earthenware and Glassware, Cycles, Motors and Access Drapery, Millinery and Piece Goods Fancy Goods and Perfumery, Photographic and Optical Goods, Frovisions and Oilmen's Stores, etc . etc.. Comm ssion 24 per cent. o 5 per cent. Trade Discounts allowed. Special Quotations on Demand. Sample Cases from £10 upwards.

Consignments of Produce Sold on Account.
(Established 1814.)

WILLIAM WILSON & SONS. 25 Ab Church Lane, London E.C.

Telegram Fashion Plates.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Pattern Cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time

8934-A SIMPLE PRACTICAL MODEL

Ladies' House Dress with Seven Gore

This design will appeal to every home dressmaker who appreciates simplicity and style. The waist has a shaped side closing, and the skirt is cut with the popular inverted back plait and has a deep tuck at each seam of the front gore. The sleeve may be finished in full length or as a shorter sleeve. The pattern is cut 6 sizes—32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inc es bust measure. It requires 7 yards of 36 inch material for the 36 inch

A pattern of this illustration mailed any address on receipt of 10c. i ver or stamps.

Suitable materials for any of these patterns can be procured from AYRE & SONS, Ltd. Samples on reques; Mention pattern number. Mail orders promptly attended to.

8922-A DAINTY MORNING JACKET

In this dainty model for a dressing icque, the front, back and sleeve are it in one piece. An unusually trim eat appearance is given at the wais line by the fulness being gathered into a smoothly fitted peplum, finished by a belt or ribbon-run beading. The style is adaptable to such materials as lawn, batiste, dotted swiss, and cotton crepe. The pattern is cut sizes—Small, Medium and Large. The edium size requires 2 5-8 yards 24 inch material A pattern of this illustration mailed silver or stamps.

PATTERN COUPON. Please send the above-mentioned pattern as per directions given below No.....

. .. .. .. .. .. .. .. .. .. .. .. ..

Having apparently fallen from a height of some sixty feet, the body of John Pratley, of Brynmawr, has been found in the Llangattock Quarries. Brecknockshire. He is believed to have lost his way in a fog on the mountain road which leads to Llang-

His dog was found guarding his body, and for some time refused to allow the policeman who discovered the body to approach,

Winter Apples By S.S. "Florizel," 200 brls. Winter Apples - Kings, Baldwin Vagners, Pippin. 10 brls Winter Pears. Bananas, Table Plums, Calif. Oranges, Cauliflower, " Verold," Old-Fashioned Household Flour containing about 80 per cent. the grain, including the Germand lina, as advocated ar by the "Bread and Food League," of London, England

Storm Boots.

For wet, slushy days our Storm Boots will afford the greatest foot protection. A pair of these water proof sturdy foot soldiers will save many a Doctor's bill.

We Show Models For Men, Women, and Children.

Extra high cut; water proofed, soft leathers. Bellows tongue, Water proofed Oak tanned soles, 12, 14 and 16 inches

Men's Storm Boots, $2.50, $2.90, $3.50, to $5.50.

Women's Storm Boots, $2.25, $2.50, to Children's Storm Boots, $2.00, $2.50,

The White Shoe Store, 304 & 306, Water St.

S. B. KESNER Proprietor.

Next to your GUN the most important part of your shooting outfit is your DOG.

TAKE SOME

"MOLASSINE" DOG CAKES

along for him. He works hard and deserves to be cared for.

"Molassine" Cakes are just what he wants.

ASK YOUR GROCER for THEM.

SPREAD the NEWS

120 Organs. 15 Pianos. SELLING OFF!

Positive Clearance Sale to December 31st. All must go to admit of change of business.

Watch Over Dead Body of its Master. Spot Cash. No Booking. Reduced to Cost and Charges.

Never a chance like this before.

CHESLEY WOODS Advertise in the TELEGRAM

Satisfaction Your Money

That's the condition every barrel Cream It's a fair, square gu

you to take it to me Cream

the hard wheat

Give Cream of the don't have satisfaction isfaction at your group other. Cream of the Improve your home-n

R. G. ASH & CO. St. .

The Campbell Milli

The Even

'Yet each man kills the thing h By each let this be heard; Some do it with a bitter look, Some with a flattering word the coward does it with a kiss. The brave man with a sword and you say the right for her t is to break engagement

she would rather be free. Let verse the case and suppose the has become tired of the girl. considered only honourable tha 'grin and bear it.' that he hide his feelings and go ahead and marry Do you think this is right or not

-One who would like to kn This is one of the questions w my morning's mail brought me. How I wish all the queries and zlements which come to me wer easily answered.

Being a Yankee, I think I'll have meet that question by another. Do you think, my friend, that the lives a girl who would be any ha to find out that her man did her after marriage, when there i escape instead of before mari when there is? Perhaps the man who disco sacrifice, that he would never let find out at all, but would keep feelings a secret for life. But, alas, fine glows of honor a self-sacrifice die down just as sur

he is in such a predicament, mi fancy in a fine glow of honor and se month it makes the gentleness and k While in general no woman rebels a gards as a natural necessity there is no not gladly be free from this recurring Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescrip weak women strong and s well, and gives them freedom It establishes regularity, subd mation, heals ulceration an Sick women are invited to consult confidential. Write without fear and ical As-ociation, R. V. Pierce, M. D. If you want a book that tells all a them at home, send 31 one-cent stand only, and he will send you a free cop

Common Sense Medical Adviser—re In handsome cloth-binding, 50 stamps

Household Notes.

A handy kitchen device is a double flour sifter, which makes it possible t sift the flour twice with no more ef fort than would be expended in sifting

Many cooks wash macaroni and spaghetti in several waters, just as they do rice. They claim that there is no danger of its being "pasty" when Tinted embroidery can be cleaned by rubbing the surface with a piece of bread a day old. Use a small piece with the crust on and throw away as soon as soiled. To prevent embroidery or sheer material from puckering, baste tissue paper under the part to be embroidered.