Letting Him Alone.

By RUTH CAMERON.

The power of the average woman forgets this fact just as soon as she is married, and practices just the opposite tactics. Perhaps you think I am foolish not to recognize that marriage is a very different state from courtship, and that it would be impossible for a woman living in the house with a man and sharing his daily existence to remain the elusive creature she was when he was courting her.

No, I didn't forget that, but I don't think she needs to go to the opposite extreme.

She Even Asks Him What He Is Thinking About.

Let me tell you about one young married woman who typifies the attitude to which I am objecting. She is very fond of her husband, and her fondness shows itself in this way—she simply can't let him alone for a minute. I don't know how she acts when they are by themselves, but when they are with intimate friends she is always straightening his tie, picking a thread off his coat, or going over to sit on the arm of his chair. When he reads, she asks him what he is reading about; when he is silent, she asks him what he is thinking of. It is her habit that he almost never goes out evenings without her, and when they had been married three years I heard her declare that she had never been away from home a single night.

Her Husband Seems a Little Bored.

Now, of course I may be mistaken, but it does seem to me that there is a certain boredom in her husband's manner sometimes, a rather forced tenderness in the way he receives some of her onslaughts of affection. I don't doubt that he loves her, but I do think his love would flourish a little more in a freer atmosphere. He needs to be let alone more.

Restraint is one of the qualities absolutely necessary to art. It is equally necessary to the art of living. If this woman, and all like her, would practise a little more restraint, be a little less omnipresent, a little less exacting, a little more self-dependent, a little more now and then into the castle of their own personalities and permit their husbands to do likewise, I am sure there would be less strain on the tie that binds them together.

Friends Can't Always Remain Friends in the Same House.

I have known several cases in my life in which devoted friends decided to try living together, and in each case the friendship cooled. And yet we wonder that husbands and wives are not always able to keep their friendship for each other!

This shutting one's self away from the world with one companion is a difficult business. It needs infinite tact and tolerance and restraint. Each should be able to respect the other's mood, and if it is a mood of aloofness, to withdraw into one's self without hurt or resentment.

Thomas Browne's advice, "Be able to be alone," is excellent. "Be able to let others alone," is an equally

Address to Rev. Father Renouf

FROM PORTUGAL COVE.

Dear Reverend Father,—We, the parishioners of Portugal Cove, are deeply grieved since hearing that a separation between you and us is about to take place. We are sorry to see a specimen of the feeling which exists between us regarding this separation. We sincerely regret your decision, and we know that you are undoubtedly acting for the best. Though you would much rather remain amongst us, with whom you have spent the last six years, happy and peaceful.

It is needless to say we will miss you in more respects than one and in your going from us we may say in all sincerity we are losing a worthy and energetic priest, a sound and reliable adviser, and to the poor a ready and whole-hearted helper, happy to be of service to you for many long years to come, to fulfill the duties you are undertaking in your native town.

Now, dear Father Renouf, we ask you to accept this accompanying gift as a slight appreciation of the many acts of kindness done by you towards us. We therefore join hands and our parting words are may God bless you now and at all times.

Signed on behalf of the people of Portugal Cove by the following: Daniel O'Leary, Thomas Hartley (Valley), Thomas Moly, Thomas Kennedy, James Molloy, James O'Leary, Thomas Ward, Jas. J. O'Leary.

Addresses to Rev. Fr. O'Flaherty.

ADDRESS FROM MITCHELL'S BROOK.

Before Father O'Flaherty's departure from Salmonier he visited Mitchell's Brook School when the children presented him with an appropriate gift accompanied by an address. After thanking the children for the proof of their affection for him Father O'Flaherty spoke kindly on their duty to parents and teacher, and their fidelity to Holy Church. The children were deeply impressed by the instructions and are very grateful for the new desks with which he recently supplied the school.

The address was as follows:—

From the Children of Mitchell's Brook School.

Reverend and Dear Father,—Now that the whole parish is paying a tribute of respect to you, it is only right that we, too, should endeavor to show our gratitude and affection.

Although our efforts are but small and insignificant compared to what other schools are doing, our affection for you is just as deep-rooted, our feeling of loneliness at parting with you just as keen.

We have benefited much by your kind thoughtfulness for all your parishioners and several times we have hailed with delight your visits to our school, and although we feel assured that your successor will also be kind to us, we will always retain the same loving remembrance of Father O'Flaherty.

We ask you, dear Father, to accept our little gift; we regret it cannot be a more valuable one, but we feel confident you will not measure the depth of our affection by the value of the gift.

We ask you that God will bless your work in your new parish, and grant you even greater success than you have had in Salmonier.

May the greatest of all graces, namely, resignation to God's holy will be yours through life as it is now. Sorrowfully now we bid you farewell, but we hope when you visit Salmonier again you will not forget Mitchell's Brook School.

Signed on behalf of the children, Kitty Parrot, Ethel Pike, May McDonald, Carrie Dunphy.

ADDRESS

To Rev. Fr. O'Flaherty From the Children of New Bridge.

Rev. Dear Father,—We, the pupils of New Bridge School, have learned with deep regret that you have been called by our esteemed Archbishop to another sphere of labor in Our Lord's Vineyard, and after a few days will be bidding goodbye to your devoted parishioners. Our hearts are saddened at the thought of the break in the happy relations which have existed between us since your assuming charge of this parish. We shall miss your welcome visits to our school, where your words of encouragement were so greatly appreciated.

These words which we now address to you, dear Father, give but a faint expression of the real sorrow which fills our hearts at this parting from you.

The four years in the new mission to which you are called may be fraught with much happiness to yourself, and with blessings to the favored people among whom your future will be cast, is our earnest and sincere wish.

We ask for a remembrance in your prayers and Holy Mass for the children of New Bridge, and for the Most High you shall not be forgotten.

Accept, dear Father, the little gift we now offer you may it bring to your mind occasionally the pupils of New Bridge School.

Signed on behalf of the pupils, Hannah McDonald, Jackie McDonald, Sadie Rourke, Rev. Fr. O'Flaherty afterwards addressed the children advising them to work hard, give obedience to parents and teachers and to keep faithful to the teachings of Holy Church.

If Subject to Colds Here is Good Advice.

Don't load your stomach with cough syrups. Send healing meditation through the nostrils—send it into the passages that are subject to colds and Catarrh. Easy to do this with Catarrhzone, which cures a cold in ten minutes. Even to the lungs goes the healing vapor of Catarrhzone—all through the bronchial tubes, nostrils and air passages—everywhere a trace of disease remains will Catarrhzone follow. You'll not have colds, nor will you suffer from stuffles, bronchitis or throat trouble if Catarrhzone is used. Get it to-day but beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrhzone. All dealers sell Catarrhzone, large size, two months treatment, costs $1.00; small size, 50c; sample size 25c.

LIGHT, HEAT, COMFORT!

The proprietor of one of the best known multiple shopping systems is credited with saying, "Give me any old shop, in any old street, and I'll guarantee to make it in twelve months the most widely known and best frequented shop in the district." He was asked to explain. Holding up three fingers he said, "I believe in the triad of LIGHT, WARMTH, COMFORT. I should dazzle the moths until the candle drew them, I should bring them into a warm, comfortable shop, filled with a soft, pleasing radiance, and the rest is—well, mere child's play."

Mixed metaphors, perhaps, but expressive. Now we can more than imagine the kind of shop this well-known individual would open, for we pass it in almost every town—always a landmark to the street. No one fails to notice it. There is an indefinable air of welcome and invitation as one stands for a moment on the pathway and lets one's gaze travel inside it. The subdued, restful lighting effect that so charms because of its very unobtrusiveness, the absence of dark corners, the intangible feeling that if one would step inside one would be sure of experiencing a delicious sense of warmth and comfort and cheerfulness—all these are part of its appeal. Truly a shop with an individuality.
