Germany's Dream Ended.

Belgium's Flag Floats Over Reconquered Coast.

Along the Whole Front Allies are Smashing Enemy—
Road to Brussels Open—Great Rejoicing in Paris.

WAR REVIEW.

The Belgian coast again is Belgium. Germany's dream of an invasion of Belgium across the North Sea from Calais is ended. Belgian Flanders is being evacuated by the enemy and his line from the Belgian frontier to the Meuse River gradually is giving way under the attacks of the British and French and American armies which are demanding to be served with victory. A haven of safety is a shorter and more compact line being sought by the Germans in order to escape annihilation by their ships. Everywhere they are being shipped but seemingly they are still giving ground hastily in order to bring his armies safely out of the trap which menaces them, but from the French frontier to the Meuse River he still is fighting desperately to hold back the lower jaw of the great Foch hammer from closing in a great converging movement and entrapping in its entirety, and thus far he has successfully, through the use of picked troops and machine gunners who know defeat only in death, warding off the culminating blow. Zebrugges, Germany's second great submarine base on the North Sea, has gone the way of Ostend. The flag of Belgium once more flies over it. To the south of the Meuse River has been evacuated and Turgay, Roubaix and other towns have been delivered. Out of the great sack between the North Sea and the Lys River the enemy is fleeing fast in an endeavour to prevent capture or imprisonment in Holland. His hope is that he will be able to reach Antwerp and there reconstitute his line from the Dutch frontier through Antwerp and Namur to some point in the south probably Sedan or Metz and stabilize it for the moment at least in the Swiss frontier. In France east of Lille to Cambrai the British are slowly but surely pressing forward despite supreme efforts of the enemy to hold them, blotting out the salient which has Tournai its northern and Valenciennes its southern enemy held base. To assure the collapse of this salient, Field Marshal Haig with whose forces are brigaded men from the United States, is driving hard along the Bohan-Le Cateau front in a manoeuvre which is meeting with success and throwing Valenciennes into a dangerous pocket. To the south in the sack between the Oise and the Serre Rivers north of Liège the Germans are slowly withdrawing toward Hirson impeding the Allied progress with strong rear-guards. Likewise in Champagne the Germans are offering strong resistance against the French and Americans in their attempts to drive northward to Mezières and Sedan. The French, nevertheless, have been able to cross the Aisne River near Yperloz and thus have made more secure the positions of the Franco-American forces and in the valley of the Aire and Grand Prie. To the east the Americans on both sides of the Meuse River are slowly going forward. Between the great wooded bastion and the Meuse, picked troops have been chosen to fend the blow northward towards Sedan. All the ground that is being won is being valiantly defended to the last. In the Macedonian theatre the Greeks are now in full possession of Greek Macedonia. Albania is fast being cleared of the enemy and in Serbia the Teutonic Allied forces have been driven thirty miles north of Nish.

RUNS ROUTED.

WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES IN BELGIUM, Oct. 17. (By the A.P.)—The Allied infantry made rapid progress to-day and pierced into the German front beyond Wynghe. The Germans are hurrying eastward through the passage between Bruges and the Holland border, trying to escape being bottled up. Only one good road exists in this passage, this being from Bruges to Euloo; it contains a mad jumble of transports and fleeing men. Zebrugges appears to have been abandoned. Vast quantities of war material have been taken by the Allied troops. These have been accumulating for years.

IN DANGER OF COLLAPSE.

PARIS, Oct. 18. General Von Arnim's army is no longer strong enough to sustain operation on the extended front from the French to the Dutch frontier. It is therefore reasonable to expect that its march across Belgium will be continued and that King Albert will re-enter his capital earlier than was hoped. At the very moment the Flanders battle was won another offensive was started in the direction of Hirson and Vervins by Anglo-American and French forces with the object to take the armies of the Crown Prince under the shelter of the huddling line on the bank and condemn them to an early retreat towards the Ardennes across the front of the powerful Allied right wings. The way back to Germany lies through two bottle necks separated by the Ardennes, the one between Liège and Dinant and the other between Montmoy and Verdun. The latter is already partially blocked. While it may be admitted that the Germans are fighting well and conducting their retreat with great skill, sober military opinion here is that the great military machine is in danger of collapse at no very distant date.

VILLAGES AND PRISONERS TAKEN

PARIS, Oct. 18. French troops co-operating with the Anglo-Belgian forces in Flanders, captured Pitthem, Moulbeck and Winghem in spite of strong resistance, according to the French official statement to-night. Notable gains also were made in the Oise region with the capture of Petit Verly and Marché. On the left bank of the Oise the French took Mont Irigny. Twelve hundred prisoners already have been counted.

ROAD TO BRUSSELS OPENED.

PARIS, Oct. 18. Lille, Douai, and Ostend, three great cities, have been delivered from the enemy. This is the most glorious day for the Allies since the Battle of the Marne, and it fittingly terminates a wonderful battle of three months which was opened by General Mangin's victorious counter offensive on July 18th. Many cities have been liberated and hundreds of square miles of territory retaken. The results have been splendid, but the victory in Belgium is not all. The British, south of Le Cateau have broken into the German positions and now threaten the Hindenburg line. The whole German defence system westward to the Meuse is in peril. The first result of forcing the Germans back to the Ghent-Tournai-Valenciennes line during yesterday's fighting has been to sap the enemy's defences before they have been able to reach them further south. Without exaggeration it may be said that the prospects of the future are, then, more important than the actual results attained, splendid though they may be. The road to Brussels is open and, according to latest advices the French and Belgian armies are advancing rapidly towards Bruges and Ghent. The capture of Ostend makes it possible to land reinforcements and throw powerful forces against the extreme right of the German army.

ENORMOUS BOOTY AT OSTEND.

PARIS, Oct. 18. Georges Leygues, Minister of Marine, has received a report from the French commander-in-chief in the North Sea, that parties from British and French warships cruising off Ostend, entered that city together with troops coming from the south, without opposition from the Germans. The Tirpitz battery at Ostend was captured, the enemy not having been able to move back the enormous quantity of material stored there.

ENTER BRUGES.

PARIS, Oct. 18. King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, entered Bruges at ten o'clock this morning.

PRISONERS TAKEN.

LONDON, Oct. 18. More than 4,000 prisoners were captured by Field Marshal Haig's forces yesterday in the offensive in the Bohain-Le Cateau sector, the British war office announced to-day.

TURCOING ENTERED.

LONDON, Oct. 18. Turcoing, a city six miles northeast of Lille, has been entered by the British troops, according to the Evening News.

BELGIAN TROOPS IN BRUGES.

LONDON, Oct. 18. (Reuter).—Belgian infantry forces entered the city of Bruges to-day.

PARIS REJOICES.

PARIS, Oct. 18. News of the deliverance of Lille spread rapidly in Paris and aroused deep and quiet joy. Flags were hung out on all sides and a crowd of refugees from the Lille region paraded to the little statue in the Place de la Concord where they sang the Marseillaise and decorated the statue with Allied flags.

PEACE DEMONSTRATION IN GERMANY.

PARIS, Oct. 17. (Havas).—Peace demonstrations continue in Germany, according to the Matin, which says that groups of soldiers go through the streets of Berlin singing pacifist and revolutionary songs. Pan-Germans, who attempted to hold a meeting before the Hindenburg statue, were obliged to disperse by hostile crowds, which attempted to set fire to the statue. The police had great difficulty in preventing them from carrying out their purpose. According to reports by General Ludendorff, some divisions have refused to obey orders and soldiers hold meetings to discuss political questions.

SINGING THE MARSEILLAISE IN GERMANY.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 18. (By the A.P.)—A demonstration by the German Independent Socialists in Unter Den Linden, Berlin, to-day, is reported by the Cologne Volks Zeitung. The crowd sang the Marseillaise. The police, adds the newspaper, prevented the demonstrators from reaching the Imperial Palace. There was a clash, in which some of the crowd was slightly injured by the police sabres.

BERLIN REPORT.

BERLIN, Oct. 18. (Official).—During the last few days we have evacuated parts of Flanders and Northern France including Turcoing, Ostend, Roubaix, Lille and Douai. We have taken up positions in the rear. Between Bruges and the Lys yesterday the enemy frequently followed in pursuit with strong forces. We repulsed British companies which pressed forward across the Lys north of Courtrai. They were thrown back by counter-attacks East of Lille and Douai we were only in slight fighting contact with the enemy. Between Le Cateau and the Oise the battle has blazed up again. The British and French bringing into the action powerful fighting forces again endeavored to break through our front. On both sides of Le Cateau the enemy's attack broke down. Local breaches were cleared by our counter-attacks.

RETIRE TO SAVE INHABITANTS.

LONDON, Oct. 18. Admiral Keyes' entry into Ostend yesterday was made in the course of operations designed to clear up the military situation between Nieuport and Ostend which was obscure, the Admiralty announced to-day. The naval forces withdrew when the Germans who were not clear of the town began shelling the warships. The withdrawal was for the purpose of saving the lives of civilians and also avoiding further bombardment of the town by the Germans, as German shells were falling close to a crowd of excited inhabitants. The text of the Admiral's statement reads, "Admiral Keyes reports that on the morning of Thursday the military situation between Nieuport and Ostend was obscure. It seemed uncertain whether the enemy had withdrawn from the coast. Up to then no fires had been started by him either in Middelkerke or Ostend. A division of destroyers reconnoitered the coast, assisted by aircraft. They arrived off Ostend at eleven o'clock, at which hour one of our aircraft landed on the beach where large crowds of the inhabitants had assembled. I proceeded into the harbor in a whaler and landed about 11.30 meeting with a great reception. The enemy at the time was not clear of the town and a light battery at Leconq opened fire at the ships, two shells falling on the beach close to a crowd of excited inhabitants. A heavy battery of four guns fired in the direction of Zebrugges opened fire on the destroyers, and as it seemed possible that the presence of the naval force might lead to the bombardment of Ostend or to more shells falling in the town where they would endanger the lives of the civilians I decided to withdraw the naval forces and thus give the enemy no excuse for firing toward the town. I therefore re-embarked and the destroyers withdrew, being heavily shelled to just east of Middelkerke. Four motor launches were left at Ostend as an inshore patrol, the inhabitants being nervous of the Germans returning. The King and Queen of Belgium expressed the wish to visit Ostend either from the sea or the air. In view of the difficulty of landing and the uncertainty of the situation they proceeded in the destroyer Termagant, flying the Belgian flag at the main, to the vicinity of Ostend which had been reinforced by French motor launches reported that all had been quiet for some hours.

ADVANCED FIVE MILES.

ARCHANGEL, Northern European Russia, Oct. 18.—Allied forces have occupied the town of Kadish in the province of Volgoda and have advanced for a distance of five miles to the south of the place along the railway.

STOCKS JUMP.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. Notwithstanding official warnings from abroad that the war is not yet over, the booming of peace stocks which began early in the week, to-day assumed broad proportions. In point of activity and scope the movement restated all the many war sessions of the Stock Exchange in 1915 and 1916. Sales during the first hour aggregated almost 500,000 shares, or on the basis of over 2,500,000 shares for the day. Advances in these stocks, which it is considered would be near by a declaration of peace, ranged from 2 to 10 points. The public, as well as professional interests, were buyers.
