Future Difficulties.

Two hemispheres have united in celebrating the Victory of the Allied arms over those of the Central Powers, and East joined with West, halting with joy the conclusion of the war and the supremacy of right. The huge struggle in which were let loose all the forces of destruction known to man is now comparatively ended, and the nations which have toiled and borne the burden of a strain, almost too great for feeble humanity to carry, may after a short respite turn to the industries of peace and settle down into the regular life of commerce, and the manufacture of other than guns and munitions of war. The universe has been relieved of the stress and welter of combat, and the Evangel of Peace falls sweetly on ears that have been long waiting the sound. Hearts pour out their thankful prayer and the incense of praise ascends to the throne of the God of battles by whose Almighty hand victory was given our arms. Well might all civilization join with the royal hymn singer of Israel in the words, 'If it had not been the Lord who was on our side, now may Israel say: If it had not been the Lord who was on our side, when men rose up against us: then they had swallowed us up quick, but blessed be the Lord, who hath not given us as a prey to their teeth.'

There yet remains much to be done however ere peace is made lasting. The state of chaos to which the world has been reduced by the events of the past quadrimum may not be brought into order in a short period, and as there are still hostile forces to be reckoned with ere a complete settlement can be effected, the present is no time to fold our hands and look on. Readjustment and restoration to pre-war conditions may not be made and brought about by concerted action of peoples and co-ordination of methods and systems. All must pull together and unity of purpose be spontaneous.

The conditions of the armistice leave no loophole whatever through which Germany can crawl, but Germany as a constituted Government and Germany as a disorganized warring country of factions, each one claiming the right to govern, are not to be considered in the same terms. As with Russia to-day so may the internal condition of Germany be tomorrow. Already are there symptoms of dissatisfaction developing. The Soldiers' Councils apparently are organizing for resistance, and just how strong or how weak these are, we have no means of knowing. The wireless message, intercepted by the British Admiralty, from the mutineers on the German warship Strassburg, shows that the spirit of revolution against the armistice is powerful, and that efforts are being made to resist it. With the entire German northern fleet, and the strongly fortified naval base of Heligoland in possession of the Soldiers' Councils we must concede that here are great possibilities for future trouble. Should these irreconcilables be sincere in their purpose, they can put up a most determined resistance, for a time, and should any of the ships which they have seized escape the naval cordon of the Allies and get into the Atlantic, taking the pirate's risk, they have the means of doing tremendous damage to our shipping. None of these things might come to pass but they are possible factors in putting off the final peace day. With the Socialistic element now in control in Germany, there is always a measure of doubt in the existing situation, as in the present unsettled and unstable form of government, principle may not enter very largely, and it is not impossible that the red flag of anarchy and nihilism may be yet raised. It will take some time to weld these discordant masses together, and during that process there will have to be strict watch and ward kept by the Allies. Many difficulties are yet in the way of the peace settlement, but having gone so far the Allies are not intending to turn back.

Mr. W. G. Verge, Millertown, arrived in the city yesterday, and is registered at the Crosbie.

Notes and Comments

Slander is a moth that eats holes in a good name.

The wooden status of Hindenburg at Berlin ought to come in handy now, coal being so scarce.

The influenza epidemic appears to be abating, but the food profiteers are still doing business at the old stand.

The destruction of Berlin and the execution of one hundred billion dollars indemnity would have been generous terms to have imposed on the beastly Germans.

What about the Wellington? Some startling reports are being circulated about this ship. Are they true?

It is also reported that the Government has a million dollars surplus on revenue account. Will there soon be some 'givins out?' Complaints are being made that certain districts are not getting their share, and there are some awkward questions being asked.

The new Soviet Flag of Russia is said to have on it the letters 'R. S. F. S. R.', which as an exchange points out is eminently fitting in the case of Russia, because 'you cannot tell whether it is going or coming.' And by the same token, our late enemy Germany is in a similar state.

The joy bells will be well rung when the soil of Belgium and France is cleared of the pollution of the Hun. It will be the best retribution of the worst infliction in history.

The Allies have now taken the helm out of Wilhelm, but with the Socialists using another helm will there be any improvement in German manners and Kultur?

Receives New Appointment.

A few days ago Mr. C. H. Tranfield, of the Western Union Cable Co., received the appointment of General Superintendent for Newfoundland. Mr. Tranfield was formerly Superintendent of the Heart's Content Cable Office. His new position was, until recently, occupied by Mr. H. A. Saunders, whose illness prevented him from continuing the work. For twenty-nine years Mr. Tranfield has been connected with the Heart's Content Office, and four years ago he was appointed to the position recently held by him. Mr. Tranfield will make Heart's Content his headquarters. The Telegram extends congratulations to Mr. Tranfield on his well merited promotion.

The Klark-Urban Co.

The Klark-Urban Company is deservedly popular with the theatre-goers of St. John's because their effort has always been to present only the best procurable plays at the lowest possible price. For their opening play this year at the Casino they have secured 'The Misleading Lady.' It is the play that took New York by storm and ran through an entire season and continued over into the next. It is a comedy and a melo-drama, and very nearly a tragedy all in one. Packed with exciting situations and spiced with humor, it can not fail to please all who attend the opening performance Monday, Nov. 18th, health regulations permitting.

Police Seize Smuggled Booze.

Early yesterday morning, about 4.30, Constables Lee and J. Ezekiel saw two men near Bishop, Sons and Co.'s Cove where they were acting in a manner that aroused the officers' suspicions. Unseen themselves the policemen saw the suspects hurriedly cross the street into Adelaide Street, carrying three valises. From Adelaide they turned across George St., the officers shadowing them. The two men then entered a blind lane where they were cornered. When apprehended the men gave up their valises which contained 39 bottles of rye whiskey, and declared that they had brought it from Sydney in a local steamer, and had just then taken it ashore. The policemen took the contrabandists and their stimulants to the Emergency Hotel.

The King's Message.

HIS MAJESTY'S INSPIRING WORDS.

An Hour of Solemn Thanks Giving for Gratitude to God. An Empire on its Knees in Prayer.

LONDON, November 11, 1918.

'At the moment when the armistice is signed bringing, I trust, a final end to the hostilities which have convulsed the whole world for more than four years, I desire to send a message of greeting and heartfelt gratitude to my Overseas Peoples, whose wonderful efforts and sacrifices have contributed so greatly to secure the victory which now is won. Together we have borne this tremendous burden in the fight for Justice and Liberty. Together we can now rejoice at the realization of those great aims for which we entered the struggle. The whole Empire pledged its word not to sheathe the sword until our end was achieved. That pledge is now redeemed. The outbreak of war found the whole Empire one. I rejoice to think that the end of the struggle finds the Empire still more closely united by the common resolve, held firm through all vicissitudes by the community of suffering and sacrifice by the dangers and triumphs shared together. The hour is one of solemn thanksgiving, and of gratitude to God, whose Divine Providence has preserved us through all perils and crowned our arms with Victory. Let us bear our triumph in the same spirit of fortitude and self-control with which we have borne our dangers.'

GEORGE R. I.

Premier Off Again.

By to-day's express Rt. Hon. Dr. Lloyd, Prime Minister, left for England to attend the Peace Conference. At the station a detachment with the bugle band of the Regiment, under Lieut. Peild, were drawn up to give him a send off, and on the platform were Sir P. T. McGrath, Sir M. P. Cashin, Hon. J. R. Bennett, J. G. Stone, Hon. A. E. Hickman, Hon. J. C. Crosbie, Hon. W. W. Halfyard, Hon. W. Woodford, Mr. S. D. Blandford, Lt.-Col. Knox-Niven and Major Montgomerie. As the express moved out of the station the bugle band rendered 'Over There' and other appropriate airs, the Premier, bareheaded, standing on the car platform. Bon voyage.

Universal Rejoicings.

MESSAGES TO THE PRIME MINISTER. (From Grand Falls.) Nov. 13th, 1918. To Rt. Hon. the Prime Minister. The Loyal Patriotic Association of Grand Falls rejoices in the glorious news contained in your splendid message of last night, and extends to the King and his Allies profound congratulations and loyalty, thankfully recognizing in all the hand of the Great Ruler of the Universe. Our local jubilation which is in preparation will take place here on the nearest day possible. God Save the King. (Sgd.) MAGISTRATE SCOTT, Chairman. (From Heart's Content.) Nov. 13th, 1918. To Hon. W. F. Lloyd. Heart's Content rejoices with the rest of the Empire in the glorious news. Public holiday yesterday, and to-day demonstrations and public procession with band and torches. (Sgd.) A. R. MARTIN.

How 'Tickers' Work.

The tape machine, popularly known as the 'ticker,' which renders such important service in transmitting Stock Exchange quotations and news items, is just an ordinary telegraphic instrument elaborated in such a way as to admit of its sending the letters of the alphabet, together with the numerals up to nine, in place of the dots and dashes of the ordinary Morse code. In the sending office is a piece of mechanism not unlike a very large typewriter in appearance. The operator sits in front of the keyboard of this instrument, and by depressing in turn the keys corresponding to the letters or figures he desires to send, he causes a type-wheel at the distant, or receiving office, to print the corresponding letters or figures on a strip of paper. This strip or ribbon of paper is made to slowly unroll itself, as the message is printed upon it, by means of a clockwork arrangement. This has to be wound up at intervals, just as does an ordinary clock, and if this precaution is neglected the 'ticker' stops working, just as does an ordinary clock under similar circumstances. In all other respects the receiving, or tape machine, is entirely automatic in its action, all the work being done by the man at the other end of the wire, who can cause his dispatching machine to work simultaneously any number of 'tickers' in different parts of the country.

Rebellious Sons.

The King of Roumania was recently reported to have condemned his son, the Crown Prince, to seventy-five days' imprisonment on account of a little affair of the heart and a marriage outside the ring of Royal affections. If the story be true the Roumanian monarch and his son have merely added a new chapter to an old story and a long story. Kings and their heirs have often showed a tendency to differ. Henry II. had a rebellious brood of sons, Henry V. was a wild and naughty prince in his youth; the heir to the throne in Hanoverian days was usually on the worst of terms with his father. Russia has always been a land of extremes, and in Russia this little tale of disagreement between the Royal father and the princely son was carried to its fullest extent. Peter the Great executed his own son. But Peter was probably a Bolshevik at heart. He believed in sentences of death as the cure for most of the troubles of life.

Useful Knowledge

One egg well beaten is worth two partly beaten. A little vinegar added to the water in which bacon or ham is boiled improves the flavour. Rub stained ivory knife-handles with a little lemon-juice and salt. The handles must be well rinsed and dried afterwards. Wringing out a cloth in hot water and wiping the furniture before putting on furniture-cream will result in a high polish that will not finger-mark. Dissolve a handful of common salt in half a gallon of water. Throw over the coats and allow to dry. So treated will not only keep clean but will throw out more heat. Cut onions quickly about the house in the air, and therefore they are excellent as a disinfectant. The best way to get rid of a bad smell is to get the right and that their object may be attained. 'I congratulate you on your privilege,' said Sir William, 'of men who have played men's parts in the great struggle. The remedy to-day is tempered with sorrow and many who will never return, their sacrifice has not been in vain. Those who had returned with their broken health had helped the cause of victory, and they should never be forgotten. They, speaking,

'I barred my doors with iron, I shuttered my gates with flame Because to force my ramparts Your nutshell Navies came. I cut the sun from their presence I cut them down with my blast And they died—but the Flag of Blew free as their spirits passed.

'Never the lotos closes: Never the wild fowl wake, But a soul goes out on the East Who died for England's sake: Man or woman or suckling, Mother or wife or maid, Because on the bones of the Flag The English Flag is stayed.'

'I have wrenched it free from the hand that held it so tight, I have chased it North to the Pole Ribboned and rolled and torn, I have spread its fold o'er the world Adrift in a hopeless sea: I have hurled it swift on the slave And seen the slave set free.'
