-[BROWNING.

London, Saturday, July 30.

Few people will find comfort in the fact that the cells in the county jail are the coolest retreats to be found in the city these days. The record of the thermometer, nevertheless, establishes this fact.

THE British consul at Baltimore recon mends his fellow-countrymen, who may de-ire to immigrate to go to Maryland and Virginia for homes, instead of to the West. This is scarcely doing the fair thing by

In the whole of Hamilton the private subscription in aid of the St. Johns, Nid., sufferers is only 887! Londoners subscribed that amount many times over, thanks, in some degree, to Mayor Spencer's persistent efforts. Why, one firm have subscribed $250. In THE whole of Hamilton the private

The Canadian Evangelist, a paper pub lished in the interests of the denomination known as the Disciples, claims that the numbers of its people have been misrepre-kented by the census. It makes this serious allegation: "We hear that in some quarters the census takers refused to enroll our brethren as Disciples, but enrolled them under some other head." The faith of the people in the correctness of the census is being constantly shocked these days.

What a burlesque on decency and common sense it is for a man to make speeches in favor of British connection and then go down to Ottawa and defend and advocate the vilest features of American politics—features that all clean Americans are ashamed of !—[Canada Presbyterian.

Yes, the men who are the readiest to defend the London outrage are the loudest in their praise of English institutions. As if the theft of a seat in Parliament, with the connivance of a judge, were a practice that would be tolerated for a day in Great Britain!

HON. EDWARD BLAKE modestly desired How. Edward Blake modestly desires to keep in the background in Great Britain as much as possible. He wisely refuses to be regarded as a Parliamentary leader, but the eminence he has already obtained influences his many admirers to bring him to the front. The Eighty Club have demanded that he address them on Thursday evening next, when he will be entertained at a banquet, and on Monday week he will be the chief speaker at the home rule union meeting, when he will address himself more especially to the good effects of local self-government in Canada. Mr. Blake's many friends in Canada will be glad to hear that he has arrived in London in hear that he has arrived in London in the best of health and spirits.

ECCENTRICITIES OF THE CENSUS. Dominion Census Bulletin, N has just come to hand, deals with manufacturing establishments by cities, towns and villages separately. The following are its manufacturing establishments are said to have increased 77½ per cent., and the hands employed 45 per cent. The number of hands now employed in manufactures is stated to be 1,161, which certainly seems a very large proportion out of 8,703. seems a very large proportion out of 8,793.

The Recorder of that town would like to know where the 62 new industrial establishments are located. No one on the spot seems to know of them, and it very pertinently inquires "just what is included under the head of industrial establishments?"

The Month of the past."

The Month of the past."

The additional proposed Monument City at Queenston will be a misty myth of the past."

There is an enterprise for you! Beside it, the ship railway from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario would be a mere toy and the past."

The Montreal Herald, commenting of these remarkable discrepancies, says it is very curious to see this question answered. In Bulletin 10 question answered. In Bulletin 10 it is stated: "An industrial establishment s a place where one or several persons are imployed in manufacturing, altering, making up or changing from one shape into another, materials for sale, use or consumption." This is satisfactory so far as it goes; but how, pertinently asks the Herald, can we account for the fact that in the industrial census of Quebee Province there is no classification, excepting under the head of "all other industries," for the large number of 3,484 establishments employing 14,404 hands and using steam arge number of 3,484 establishmense and using steam ploying 14,404 hands and using steam engines of 6,161 horse-power? The industial census was apparently taken in order to exalt the N. P., and to that end considerable latitude seems to have been allowed in the definition of an instrial establishment. It would be interesting to have a clear detail, say of Barrie or Erockville, showing exactly what establishments there are, and giving names to those places that are so far nameless, in order that the public may know whether barbers and lawyers and parsons and doctors are pressed in to swell up the number of those who follow the N. P. wheresoever he goeth."

that the commissioners should apply a remedy, and place them on a footing at least equally favorable with that enjoyed by police officers in such cities as Hamilton and Toronto, where the condition of life are about equal to what they are here. The policeman does not expect, as we understand his request, that he shall be as free an agent as other civic employes, or free an agent as other civic employes, or that he shall be able to go to church regularly, but he does look to the commissioners for considerate treatment, and we are satisfied that he will not look in valuation are satisfied that he will not look in valuation are satisfied that he will not look in valuation are satisfied that he will not look in valuation to the province of the that the commissioners should apply a The force has been improving in recent years, and the number of first-class men in t years, and the number of first-class men in the city's service has never been so large as it is now. A recently-discovered letter of Carlyle gives us the opinion of novels entertained by him in the year 1866. To a budding ory-teller he wrote to suggest that she story-teller he wrote to stage as should "shove her own novel well aside for a good while or forever, and be shy even of reading novels. If she do read let it be good and wise books, which not one in 10, 000 of the kind called 'novels' now is." And yet Carlyle was himself guilty of at least beginning to write a novel. ###

ANNEXATION OF LAKE ERIE.

Sir Edward Watkins' scheme to unite Ireland to Scotland by a tunnel passing under St. George's Channel, and to build a ship canal through the Emerald Isle as a means of reconciling the Irish to government by garrison, is so very ambitious that it nearly took one's breath away when first placed in cold cablegram form.
