Famous English Writers In a Burlesque of Tragedy.

London, Aug. 11.-A matinee of unique Indeed, Aug. II.—A matrice of unique interest was performed at the Garrick Theater last week, in aid of a hospital charity. The performance included Mr. W. S. Gilbert's famous parody of "Hamwritten many years ago for Punch, bert himself played the King, Lady lin Campbell the Queen, Hamlet by Capt. Robert Marshall, and all the other characters by celebrated writers of the stage, Sir Fred Burnand (editor of Punch), Mr. Anthony Hope, Mr. Bernard SAYS FAREWELL TO CANADIANS Shaw, Miss Clograves and others known to fame. Without vulgarity, the burlesque turned the classic upside down in the familiar Gilbertian fashion, and its wit and cleverness, and its whimsical oddity greatly delighted a large audience.
