

THE WOMAN'S CORNER

From a Scotch Lassie's
Cook Book

BREAKFASTS.
No. 1.
Creamed Pinner Haddock (Findon haddock)
Boiled Eggs
Hot Rolls
Tea or Coffee

DINNERS.
(Soup)
Cock-a-Leekie
(Fish)
Fried Fillet of Haddock (meussell sauce)
(Entree)
Cucumbers
Haggis
(Roast)
Prime Beef, from the Vale of Strathmore
Green Kail
Boiled Potatoes
(Entremets)
Marmalade Fudding
(Whipped egg sauce with brandy)
(Cheese)
Dunlop Cheese and Celery
Oatcakes (toasted)
Coffee

AFTERNOON TEA.
Scotch Woodcock
Scones
Oatcakes
Shortbread
Pound Cake
Toast
Jam Marmalade
Congou Souchow Tea

SUPPER.
Fish Pie
(hot from kitchen)
Roast Beef
Leg of Lamb
Beefsteak Pie
(all cold on table)
Scones
Cakes (all kinds)
Bengal Chutney and Other Condiments
Preserved Ginger
Jams
Jellies
Tea

COCK-A-LEEKIE.
Chop two pounds veal and put to boil in 1½ gallons water, and cook until a rich liquor is obtained. Pour this over a roasted capon, and boil 5 minutes. Add half pound blanched leeks cut into inch lengths and boil half an hour longer. Remove fowl, bone, and chop fine. Return to pan, add another half pound leeks, season and boil until leeks are done, and soup is quite thick. Serve hot.

WOODCOCK.
Cut slices of bread into triangular pieces and fry until golden brown in butter. Wash and scrape some anchovies and chop fine. Beat yolks of 4 eggs with half pint milk, put into saucepan over slow fire, stirring all the while until it thickens, but do not allow to boil or it will curdle. Put chopped anchovy between slices of bread, arrange tastefully on dish, pour the custard over them, sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve.

MOTHERS' PROBLEMS
A simple diet, simple habits, simple clothes and simple amusements are best for the little folks.

Careful mothers will not talk about their children with hearing of the little ears, for fear of encouraging conceit and vanity.

When the new baby comes encourage the older children to feel that the newcomer is a blessing and make them feel a sense of ownership. If parents would do this there would be fewer unhappy first-borns.

Wrap the soiled baby ribbons around a bottle and wash in warm white-soap suds. Use a soft nail brush. Rinse and let dry on bottle. They will need no pressing.

When the baby first tries to walk be sure to rub the little legs every morning and night to strengthen and rest them.

Do not give uncooked fruit to children. Late apples, stewed or baked fruits at supper time are more certain to agree with them and will insure a more restful night.

Cracked wheat steamed in a double boiler for four hours, is a nourishing, easily-digested and generally-liked children's food.

The last hour of the baby's day should be a happy one, not one filled with struggle and fret that leaves him sad and exhausted.

OBSERVATIONS OF A BACHELOR GIRL

The woman who can make furniture out of a few scraps of cretonne and a drygoods box or two thinks she ought to be regarded as a modern Sheraton or Chippendale.

"Culture" means to some women the use of the lorgnette and a dainty cut glass and silver bottle of smelling salts.

Married people are the ones who ought to have chaperons, judging from the number of divorces and the causes.

"I'm never going to marry until I find a man whose second kiss gives me as thrills as his first one," said a handsome girl at the wine club the other day.

What's the Reason that girls always want to run their fingers through a likable man's hair?

The old, old story, told times without number, and repeated over and over again for the last 36 years, but it is always a welcome story to those in search of health—there is nothing in the world that cures coughs and colds as quickly as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

Excellent Train Service to Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Philadelphia, and New York.

Via Grand Trunk Railway System. Trains leave London as follows: 12:14 a.m. daily, for Niagara Falls, Philadelphia, and New York. Through coaches and sleepers to New York.

3:43 a.m. daily, for Niagara Falls, Buffalo and New York. Through Pullman sleepers.

11:40 a.m. daily, for Niagara Falls and Buffalo.

4:25 p.m. daily, for Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Philadelphia and New York.

Secure tickets, berth reservations, etc., from Mr. R. E. Ruse, city passenger and ticket agent, Clock Corner, or Mr. H. M. Hayes, depot ticket agent, London, Ont. 32k 9 11 15 17

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is Laxative Bromo Quinine Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days on every box 25c

tea is the result of care and experience in blending—must be the combination of fine flavor, smooth strength and richness. Because all these elements are so generously included in Red Rose Tea it well merits the term "good tea."

NEVER SOLD IN BULK
Your Grocer Will Recommend It

butter. Wash and scrape some anchovies and chop fine. Beat yolks of 4 eggs with half pint milk, put into saucepan over slow fire, stirring all the while until it thickens, but do not allow to boil or it will curdle. Put chopped anchovy between slices of bread, arrange tastefully on dish, pour the custard over them, sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve.

HAGGIS.
This is the famous Scotch national dish which has been immortalized by Robert Burns as the "Great Chieftain of the Fudding Race."

Prepare heart, tongue and liver of sheep. Parboil, chop fine, removing all shewy parts. Mix in half-pound, finely-shredded beef suet, a few chopped onions, salt and pepper to taste, and two cups slightly-baked oatmeal. Make the whole into a paste by adding broth. Clean thoroughly the sheep's stomach, boil in salted water for a few minutes, then remove and stuff with the above mixture. Sew up securely, put into a large kettle of water and boil three hours.

SCONES.
Rub half-pound butter into one pound of flour. When smooth, add two tablespoons moist sugar and one tablespoon baking powder. Stir in sufficient sour milk to make into a stiff paste. Work well, roll out on a floured table, and divide into squares. Bake on a hot gridiron and serve hot.

CYNTHIA GREY'S
CORRESPONDENTS

Dear Miss Grey: Please give me recipe for chop suey. SUSAN.
A—Cut in strips 1½ inches long and ½ inch wide the meat from half a chicken. Slice thin one large onion. Soak in water a handful mushrooms for 10 minutes, then remove stems. Cut one stalk celery into 1-inch pieces. Slice 6 Chinese potatoes. Put the chicken pieces into frying pan with a tablespoon butter and fry slowly until browned. Add onions and cook 10 minutes. Add mushrooms, half cup Chinese sauce, half cup water and cook a little. Add celery and potatoes. When ingredients are done thicken sauce with flour, making gravy. Pour over cooked rice and serve.

Dear Miss Grey: Is opium considered a good thing? READER.
A—This fruit is quite popular this season, particularly as trimming for suits for young women.

Dear Miss Grey: Please tell me something to relieve my eyes. They smart and burn. SUBSCRIBER.
A—Get half ounce solution argyrol and a ounce bottle saturated solution boric acid. Drop 3 drops of the first in each eye upon retiring. Be careful of your linen, as this solution stains. Drop 4 drops of the other solution in each eye upon awaking and at noon.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) What will remove ice cream stains from a grey wool skirt? (2) On what day did Mary 30, 1886, fall? (3) Aug. 9, 1872? MRS. HARRY J. A.—(1) Wash entire skirt in gasoline. (2) Sunday. (3) Wednesday.

A SON OF THE IMMORTALS

BY LOUIS TRACY.
Author of "The Stowaway," "The Message," "The Wings of the Morning," Etc.

"You weep, my Joan," he cried. "I know that you weep; but your temper's lying heart shall shed drop for drop."

CHAPTER XIII.
Wherein a Reason is Given for Joan's Flight.

A knock sounded on the door. "Your Excellencies the Prince and Princess Delgado," announced Bosko, whose jaws were under the strain of his many sabbatical carousals, as he opened the door.

"On the arrival of the others whom I have summoned you can usher them in without warning," he said to Bosko.

"As soon as General Stampoff comes let no other person enter, and remain near the door until I call you."

"Oui, monsieur," said Bosko. King or no King, he was faithful to his scanty stock of French.

Prince Michael had dined well, having induced his host to depart from the King's invitations as to the wine supplied at meals. His puffed face shone redly.

It looked so gross and fat, perched on such a slender neck, that it resembled one of those diminutive yet monstrous caricatures of humanity seen on the pantomime stage.

"What is the trouble now, Alec," he asked, glancing quickly round the sparsely-furnished apartment. "Your man came to me most mysteriously. His manner suggested treachery, and I was obliged to meet your mother on the stairs."

Alec looked at the strange little creature that she called father, and from the stock of her head he gazed down at his mother. She had uttered no word. Her eyes met his furtively for a second and then dropped. She was disturbed, obviously alarmed, and with a curiously detached feeling of surprise, he guessed that she knew of Joan's departure. Well, he would bide his time until all possible conspirators were present. Then, by fair means or foul, he would wring the truth from them.

"I want to consult my mother and you as to a certain matter," he said, answering Prince Michael with apparent nonchalance. "I shall not detain you very long. Belian, Julius, and Monsieur Nesimir are in the building, and then we only await Stampoff—with whom, by the way, I almost succeeded in quarrelling today."

"A quarrel with Stampoff?" exclaimed the elder Delgado, preening his chest and sticking out his chin in the exaggerated manner that warned those who knew him best of the imminent expression of a weighty opinion. "That will never do. Stampoff is the backbone of your administration. Were it not for our dear friend, nothing would have been heard of a Delgado in Kosnovia during the last quarter of a century. My dear boy, he has kept us alive politically. On no account can you afford to quarrel with Stampoff."

Michael's big head wagged wisely, for champagne invariably made him talkative. Nesimir entered; with him were Count Julius and the Greyhound.

"Nice thing his Majesty has just told me," cried Prince Michael, with owl-like gravity. "He says that if you do not have disagreed. What has gone wrong? Have you heard of this most unfortunate estrangement?"

The President, of course, assumed that some allusion had been made to the council chamber.

"A serious position has undoubtedly arisen," he said blandly. "His Majesty did not see his way to adopt certain recommendations put forward by his ministers today—by myself, I say, acting on behalf of my country."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

[To Be Continued.]

STABBED A GIRL

Unknown Man Under Arrest in Connection with Assault.

[Associated Press.]
Asbury Park, N. J., Nov. 14.—This city and neighborhood were in a ferment of excitement today over the unearthing of one of the most brutal crimes in the history of the Jersey coast—revealed when the mutilated body of nine-year-old Marie Smith, who had been missing from home since Wednesday was discovered in the woods near her home.

Resentment against the one prisoner taken in connection with the case—Thomas Williams, a negro—is very strong, but there has been no open threat of a lynching. Williams was not directly charged with the crime, but was held on suspicion, accused by his disappearance, simultaneous with that of the child.

The outcome of the inquest today was awaited to develop the official view of the crime, and fix a formal charge.

The Victim.
Marie Smith was a pupil at the Bradley school, which she left for her home in mid-forenoon on Wednesday last. She was now again seen alive. Searching parties hunted vainly for days. Yesterday someone stumbled over the body of the child, half-hid in drifting autumn leaves, not far from her home. Evidence of a struggle were all around. There was a deep gash in the little girl's head, which had evidently been inflicted by an axe or similar heavy instrument. Her body was otherwise disfigured, and it was evident that she had been mistreated. The girl's mother collapsed when she saw the body, and is in a critical condition.

The police were told that Williams had been chopping wood in the vicinity of the body. When they went to question him he had disappeared. Last night, however, he was located, and arrested in his former home in the negro quarters of Asbury Park, and lodged in jail.

A bloody towel found on the premises was seized for evidence, as was also a certain matter," he said, answering Prince Michael with apparent nonchalance. "I shall not detain you very long. Belian, Julius, and Monsieur Nesimir are in the building, and then we only await Stampoff—with whom, by the way, I almost succeeded in quarrelling today."

"A quarrel with Stampoff?" exclaimed the elder Delgado, preening his chest and sticking out his chin in the exaggerated manner that warned those who knew him best of the imminent expression of a weighty opinion. "That will never do. Stampoff is the backbone of your administration. Were it not for our dear friend, nothing would have been heard of a Delgado in Kosnovia during the last quarter of a century. My dear boy, he has kept us alive politically. On no account can you afford to quarrel with Stampoff."

Michael's big head wagged wisely, for champagne invariably made him talkative. Nesimir entered; with him were Count Julius and the Greyhound.

"Nice thing his Majesty has just told me," cried Prince Michael, with owl-like gravity. "He says that if you do not have disagreed. What has gone wrong? Have you heard of this most unfortunate estrangement?"

The President, of course, assumed that some allusion had been made to the council chamber.

"A serious position has undoubtedly arisen," he said blandly. "His Majesty did not see his way to adopt certain recommendations put forward by his ministers today—by myself, I say, acting on behalf of my country."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

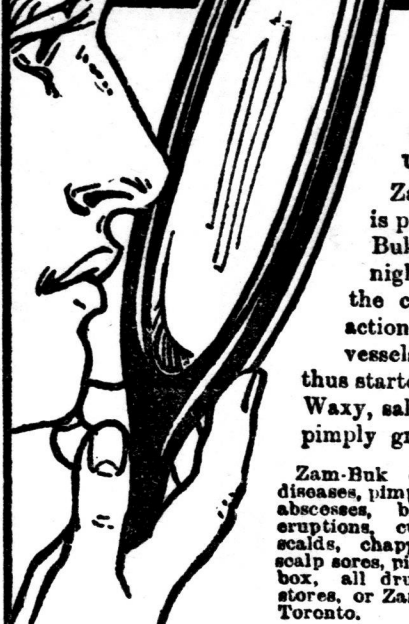

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

"I am not sure," he said, with a shrug. "The President hesitated before he answered this direct question. He cast a doubtful glance at the door, and had turned to the window again and again."

"But what was it about?" asked the Prince testily. "Was it with reference to Monsieur Belian?"

[To Be Continued.]

WHAT MAKES A GOOD COMPLEXION?

You are just about to commence the season's programme of evening parties, social events, etc. Why not look your best? Why let your complexion suffer by contrast with other ladies? Why not ensure a good complexion? You can do this on sound natural lines by using Zam-Buk, nature's herbal balm.

Zam-Buk is a skin food; and complexion is purely a matter of skin health. Zam-Buk smeared lightly over the face, each night, acts as a skin tonic. It stimulates the cells beneath the cuticle to healthy action, makes the capillaries and blood vessels work, and the vigorous circulation, thus started, carries away secreted impurities. Waxy, shallow deposits are thus removed. Hard pimples growths are softened and disappear.

Zam-Buk cures skin diseases, pimples, ulcers, abscesses, blood-poison, eruptions, cuts, burns, scalds, chapped places, scalp sores, piles, etc. 50c box, 1.00. Druggists and stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

That yellow tinge gives place to the pink of health, and the white velvety "look" and "feel" which healthy skin should have. Isn't this wiser than relying upon talcum powder and cosmetics? These only put on a "complexion" from the outside. It doesn't last. Zam-Buk helps nature to build up a complexion from blood and tissue. It lasts! It won't rub off.

Be wise as well as womanly! Let Zam-Buk help you to look your real best!

ZAM-BUK

Knox Pure, Plain Sparkling Gelatine

Knox Gelatine is granulated; it dissolves quickly.

Each package contains two envelopes, enough gelatine to jell one-half gallon of liquid. (Each envelope makes one quart.)

Knox Gelatine is uncolored, unsweetened. It garnishes the meats, gives body to the jellies, stiffens the sauce and gravies, thickens the soup, gives consistency to the ices and ice cream and is the basis for

Delicious Desserts

Recipe Book and Pin Sample FREE

Charles B. Knox Co., 500 Knox Ave., Johnstown, N. Y., U. S. A.

Menu

CELERY
MOCK TURTLE SOUP
CREAM OF CHICKEN
ROAST TURKEY
CRANBERRY SAUCE
FRUIT SALAD
CRANBERRY PIE
WINE JELLY
FRUIT ICE CREAM
COFFEE
CANDIES

OLIVES
TOMATO SOUP
SWEET POTATOES
GRAPE SHERBET
ASSORTED CAKES

Knox Sparkling Gelatine

Recipe Book and Pin Sample FREE

Charles B. Knox Co., 500 Knox Ave., Johnstown, N. Y., U. S. A.

BLACK KNIGHT
STOVE POLISH

is not a little, messy box of powder that has to be mixed with water, nor a hard cake that has to be scraped. It is a generous can of paste, easily applied and magical in its results. For stoves, pipes, grates and iron-work.

If your dealer does not carry "Black Knight" Stove Polish in stock, send us his name and we will send a full size tin by return mail.

THE F. F. DALLEY CO., LIMITED
HAMILTON, ONT.

Makers of the famous "2 in 1" Shoe Polish.

KITCHEN SINK

Will always be free from scum, grease and grime if cleaned with

Old Dutch Cleanser

Full directions and many uses on Large Silver-Can.

Old Dutch Cleanser

Full directions and many uses on Large Silver-Can.

Old Dutch Cleanser

Full directions and many uses on Large Silver-Can.

Old Dutch Cleanser

Full directions and many uses on Large Silver-Can.

Old Dutch Cleanser

Full directions and many uses on Large Silver-Can.

Old Dutch Cleanser

PURITY
FLOUR

Buy it once and you will choose it every time

More bread and Better bread Try it!

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Baltimore, Md.—"For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervousness, and that all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."

Mrs. W. S. Ford, 1838 Lansdowne St., Baltimore, Md.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test of years and to-day is more widely and successfully used than any other female remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed.

If you are suffering from any of these ailments, don't give up hope until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. She has guided thousands to health, free of charge.

John Howell, a Canadian, and one of the best-known mining experts in America, is dead in Denver.

The Continental Savings Bank at Memphis has failed.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup