Members of the London Rowing and Bowling Club gathered in the Masonic Temple last night and discussed matters pertaining to the club and elected the officers for the ensuing year. Retiring President John MacPherson presided and opened the meeting with a brief address outlining the work done during the past season and thanking the officers and members of the club are some fine oarsmen, and it is expected that two crews will be sent to the Canadian Henley at St. Catharines in August.

The tennis courts will also be improved this season, the matter being left with the executive to deal with as they saw fit. Several other matters of minor importance were dealt with.

MANAGER WHO WILL LEAD PAT MORAN IS GOING TO RUN A TEAM ON KINDNESS! IT HAS NEVER BEEN ACCOMPLISHED BEFORE

> Here we have another type of manager in good old Pat Moran, who is to guide the destinies of the Philadelphia Nationals this season, thereby undertaking one of the toughest jobs ever wished upon a man. Add to the fact that the team which for four years looked strong enough to win a pennant and failed each time, the further fact that it is badly dis-organized, filled with dissensions, that it has lost some of the best players on the roster to the Federal League, and then further crippled because certain of the men aspired to manage the team and were discontented when Moran was selected, and you will understand what Pat is going against.
> If he makes good, everyone in base-If he makes good, everyone in ball will give three cheers, for no man in the game has so many true admirers sincere friends as has

Pat is a "hand-shaker," and it is the theory of a great many base-ball men that no player or manager who was a handshaker ever anything in the business. He is a good man—good in every way. He is sincere, honest and square.

He came from Fitchburg, Mass., and s one of the oldest catchers in point of service in the business. He was of service in the business. He was recognized as an excellent catcher when with the Boston Nationals, where he served several thankless years until Frank Chance made a trade to get Pat o work with the young catchers. He is patient, quiet and a keen observer. He worked with pitchers, teaching and drilling them carefully, and for three years warmed up with the pitchers before every game that the Cubs played, and reported to Chance what he thought of the condition of

Moran was traded to the Phillies, where Dooin was behind the bat most of the time, and along came Killifer with more speed and mechanical ability than Moran, and again Pat became the trainer of pitchers. His success with the young pitchers of the Philadelphia club was one of the marvels of the National League. And Pat knew. One spring, before the season opened, he wrote and told me about three young pitchers. telling me that all three would be stars before the season was over—and they were. He has been kind enough to tip me off almost every year on his judgment of the young pitchers with the clubs to which he has belonged, and he never has gone wrong

His task is a heart-breaking one under present conditions, but it anyone can win the good-will of the men, and if anyone deserves to have loyal support from his men, Pat does, He has shown that inspite of his kindness and good-nature he can be firm, but he probably will try the other gag and win them by kindness

Seaforth and Elmira Again Battle to Tie

Ninety Minutes of Play at Berlin Failed To Settle Round Between these Two Northern League Teams-Final Score Was 5 to 5.

BERLIN, March 12.—After playing for 90 minutes here tonight in what was supposed to be a sudden death game, Elmira and Seaforth are still tie in the semi-finals of the N. H. L. Tonight's game ended 5 all, while at Seaforth Elmira lost 4 to 3 and at Elmira Seaforth nost 2 to 1. Another game will now have to be played to decide who will meet Wiarton in the finals.

Tonight's game was stubbornly contested all the way, close checking preventing either team from getting many close shots on goal. Elmira had the best of what there was of combination work, all that Seaforth could produce being a two-man rush occasionally.

Elmira was more at home in the Berlin rink, having played here severel times this season, and scored the first goal in two minutes. Seaforth got
