THE CITY.

To be Completed Soon. The arbitrators in the Meubodist Church dispute are now completing their award, and everything will be satisfactorily settled early next week.

Going Out of Business. Attention is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Stewart, in this issue. The old well-known firm are going out of business at an early date, and are now clearing out their entire stock at cost.

The Thistle to Go Whaling. It has now been decided that the steam schooner Thistle will go whaling in the Arctic Sea, and she is rapidly being fitted up for the voyage. The Albion Iron Works are turning out the necessary material.

Union Pacific Intention. While nothing is settled in the matter as yet, it is generally understood that the North Pacific is withdrawn from service, the Union Pacific Railway company will close their Victoria office, Mr. C. G. Rawlings, local manager, has been removed to the position of travelling passenger agent.

Report of the Shipwrecks. Captain Dolph, of the schooner Borealis, who came down the coast in a canoe from Nootka Sound, yesterday, brings word that, according to the Indians, several vessels were wrecked, one a schooner at Cape Scott, and the other a large ship at Cape Scott, as the result of a fearful gale that has been blowing there for the past week. No further particulars can yet be ascertained.

Bound to Realize. On Wednesday next, at 11 o'clock a.m., Messrs. Richards & Cuthbert, corner Broad street and Troncon avenue, will sell by auction, practically without reserve, a fine residential property situated on the George Street side of the city, known as the Sunny-side estate. Mr. W. S. Smith, the owner, is returning to England, and is determined to realize the property at once. The property is a handsome residence and eight building lots, and is one of the best pieces of Victoria property put on the market for some time. Investors will undoubtedly take advantage of the sale.

On an Important Mission. Mr. H. L. Reed arrived at the Detford hotel, last night, from San Francisco. He is the agent for the San Francisco Board of Underwriters, and came up in their behalf to obtain particulars regarding the wreck of the Tropic, and to report on her position and the probabilities of raising her. It is believed that the reason for his coming was a communication received from the captain of the Tropic, making an offer to raise the Tropic and tow her into Vancouver harbor for $6,000. He leaves this morning on the Islander, with photographs of the wreck, and with a copy of the report. The Tropic is in a very dangerous position—in fact in about the same fix as is the San Pedro, and lying on the rocks in the same manner, and with the same chances of being raised.

Salmon Combine. The British Columbia Cannery Act Only Put Up a Half Pack. All the managers of cannery controlling canneries, signed an agreement, yesterday afternoon, to only put up a half pack this year. This is done on account of the large quantities of salmon being landed in the city. It is expected that it will have a salutary effect upon the salmon market, which, at present, is not very satisfactory.

Another Drowning Mystery. Body of a Stranger Picked Out of the Harbor Near the Customs House. Coroner Morrison will hold an inquest, to-morrow (Monday) morning, on the body of an unknown man, who was found floating in the waters of the harbor, near the Customs House. The body was discovered by a man named P. Saunders, who reported the corpse to the coroner. The man was wearing a blue coat, and had a watch on his wrist. The coroner is endeavoring to identify the man, and is awaiting information from the police.

Good Work. What Victoria Illustrated is Doing Abroad for the City. A host of letters have reached Victoria containing highly complimentary references to the excellence of Victoria Illustrated in every way. The paper is being read in every part of the world, and is being translated into many languages. The paper is being read in every part of the world, and is being translated into many languages.

newspaper in Great Britain and Ireland and to all reading rooms and libraries, they would be read by many thousands. Newspapers notices, such as the above, indicate the work, are of great value to the city and province.

VICTORIA IN GREAT BRITAIN. T. S. Milligan Speaks of the Urgent Need of Information Being Disseminated.

Mr. T. S. Milligan, of the firm of Monteith & Milligan, returned from England on Friday night, where he has been for the past several months. His mission, that of securing capital for investment here, has been a successful one. Mr. Milligan spent a large portion of his time in Glasgow, where he met many influential people. He was also in London for a short period. Through the endeavors of the C. P. R., he found that most people here were acquainted with the existence of Vancouver, but few had any knowledge of Victoria. Mr. Milligan had several copies of the Victoria Illustrated with him, and when the comparative statistics of trade and population of the cities of the province were shown, people were amazed that the chief city was so little known. The C. P. R. is doing excellent work for the province, and pictures and pamphlets galore are there to see and to be had. The office is always surrounded by a crowd of people, and the office is always surrounded by a crowd of people.

Thinking to secure a few copies of Victoria Illustrated at the agent's general office in Finlay Street, Mr. Milligan searched out that office. The office had been supplied with a few, but these were all gone, and the clerk in charge said that he could have advantageously distributed several copies. Everyone who saw them, eagerly read the information therein contained, and the few Mr. Milligan had were loaned around. That gentleman states that the Government agency office is too far away from the centre of the city to do very much good. Many people he suggested that it would be better to have a branch office in the busy part of London, directed by an official thoroughly acquainted with the province, and abundantly supplied with the latest information as to its resources, climate, land laws, etc. Other provinces and colonies have such a bureau of information, and are benefited with information, and are benefited with information.

ing splendid, and there is no dearth of fodder. Already, ploughing has been started at Lake L. The flour mill at Quinsella, which has been shut down all winter, is now running again, and there is a fair amount of wheat to keep it going. Last year's harvest was not so good, and this year it will probably be a bad crop, owing to the absence of snow during the winter.

All the winter there have been many men and a good deal of freight going into the mines, and 40 miles from Quinsella, at the forks of the river, there is quite a rush of men from the 150 mile house on Cariboo Road. That spot there was a tented party of Sound prospectors, with a large number of cattle, who are hunting land.

Mr. Rockett will now go to Agassiz, where he met many influential people. He was also in London for a short period. Through the endeavors of the C. P. Two Hours of Disension Brings the Board of Aldermen to Their Old Position.

The Deadlock Continues—What Will the Board Do on Wednesday?

A special meeting of the City Council was held yesterday morning, at 10 o'clock, in the committee room of the City Hall. There were present: the Mayor, in the chair, and Aldermen McKillop, Devlin, Baker, Lovell, Hall, Hunter, Hunter, Hunter, and Hunter.

A resolution was brought forward authorizing the expenditure of $250 for the assessment of property beyond the present city limits. It was adopted unanimously.

His Worship the Mayor, after a few introductory remarks, urged the members to look in a common sense way at the question of a city engineer. He referred to the following communication to the Council:

The action of the Council on March 2, 1892, respecting the position of a city engineer, surveyor and water commissioner is a crown and proper person to fill the post, then they could let him go; but it was the right and fair thing to compensate the person whose appointment had been rescinded. He would suggest that Mr. Tuck be given 30 days' notice. The appointment had not met the approval of the people of the city on the ground that the salary was not large enough. If more were applied, he felt sorry for the action he had taken at a recent meeting of the Council,
