Saturday was the biggest day for sales the Bon Marche has yet had.

should Have Been Left For a Farmers' Jury. A, & S. Nordheimer v. Mrs. Anne Jane McKillop was tried before Judge Osler on Saturday. The trial was to settle the ownership of a $600 piano, originally sold by Nordheimers (they holding the usual lien until the instrument was paid for) to F. J. Gibson, who figured somewhat notoriously when deputy sheriff of Hamilton. Gibson was tenant under Mrs. McKillop of the Brant house, Burlington, and becoming in arrears with his rent, his goods, and among them this piano, were seized. Nordheimers claim the piano under a landlord's release or waver, which however the defendant tries to make out was a forceward. lord's release or waver, which however the defendant tries to make out was a forgery on the part of Gibson. The evidence was very conflicting, and the judge said he was sorry he didn't leave it to a jury to decide. The judge no doubt thought that twelve men who had just left the plow and manual labor could see more clearly through a mass of conflicting evidence than he with his trained and himself could do. At any rate he was as try he didn't leave the decision in more a pable hands. Judgment was reserved.

Mrs. McKillop formerly kept the Beaver ho el in this city, and for twelve months back her furniture has been before the courts repa tedly and the subject of a good many action.

In the police court Saturday Wm. Coleman was sent to jail for 60 days for some thing approaching highway rob bery on W. J. Merrick on April 20 in Bellswood avenue; the magistrate said he might have been sent to penitentiary for life. J. C. Ellis and Jas. McLaughlin, two boys, went them. There were more exhorters than to jail for three days for stealing old iron from the Grand Trunk railway. For sini-lar offence three small boys got three days in jail. A boy named Wm. Harrison was fined $1 and costs for throwing stones at the Palace street school. A young man named Peter O'Reilly was remanded for medical examination on a charge of insanity. Ed. McGurn and John Lindsay, charged with robbing Robt. McKittrick of $35, were discharged. Several other cases were remanded.

Left Her Baby with a Poor Woman. Five months ago a young woman, said to belong to a well-to-do family in Trenton, Ont., came to Toronto to hide impending shame, and after being refused admittance to the house of industry went to work in a hotel. When she could work no longer she found shelter at 85 Centre street and gaye birth to a child. The woman who lives at 85 is poor, and she promised to keep the child for 86 per month. During the four months she has had charge of the infant she has only received $19 half of which came from a ceived $12, half of which came from a charitable institute. She does not know what to do with the child, and says she is too poor to keep it without recompense. The infant is very ill. The mother has been repeatedly written to, but will not come to time. An expose is threatened. The girl says a relative of hers got her into

Baptismal Service at Jarvis Stree

The beautiful auditorium of the Jarvi street baptist church was crowded as full as it could hold last night, many of the as it could hold last night, many of the congregation being young people. The announcement that the baptismal service was to be gone through by fourteen persons was probably the reason which drew out such a large number. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Thomas, after preaching an excellent sermon on christian character, entered the baptismal font and immersed eight little ladies, all under the age of 15, three boys, a man and wife and a young man. Rev. Dr. Castle, president of McMaster hall, assisted at the service. In his preface, Dr. Thomas remarked that he had made a study of early baptism, and he found that nearly all the great workers on the walls of Zion were baptized in childhood. Four weeks ago yesterday sixteen were baptized by the same pastor.

Yesterday afternoon two benevolen organizations of the city attended divine nniversary services. Dr. Wild preached in his church to the St. George's society.

[This charming and noted dancer is 73 years old, having been born in 1811, seven years after Taglioni, who died two days ago, and was her rival, and almost continuously contemporancous with her in her public life. Fanny's sister, Therese, was about the same age as Taglioni, married Prince Adelbert of Prussia, and became known as Frau von Barnein, but was never known as famous as Fanny. Fanny began dancing when she was 6 years old in Vienna, where she was born, thus antedating Taglioni's first public appearance by five years. In 1827, the year in which Taglioni made her Parisian debut, the Eissler sisters went to Naples, and afterward to Berlin, not reaching Paris until the fall of 1834, Fanny again coming seven years after Taglioni, but she soon equalled her great rival's reputation in that city and surpassed her in the Spanish cachuca.
