For these demonstrations we choose of he had done so, it would have added still more to their amusement and made them laugh more heartily, and thus forwarded the purpose he had in view.

To put the matter in a nutshell, however, if Mr. Wells will answer the arguments put forward in my letter to his directors, as well as the articles contained in the October issue of Insurance Society, it will be more to the point than making any personal reflections. I have no doubt our readers will be pleased to hear from him, and I will promise to insert his replies in the next issue of Insurance Society. Mr. Wells must, however, reply to the remarks seriatum and in detail, for a letter which merely glosses over matters and ons, such as when we return from suc sful political errands, or when we reach the twenty fifth anniversary of our bishop ships, or come to be commanders of the Then, surrounded by our own to the world who we are and what we have done, and meanwhile other prowds of cackling hens seek out other heaps for rival cooks to crow on. But we are at a loss to account for the development of so strange a product as that which has been laid on our table, it being neither a thousand pound in bright blue, lettered in gold and said to be poetry, nay "musings on the banks of such as and consider it not only the most efficacious, but the most humane of its class of applications, as it causes the animal no unnecessary pain, and is always reliable. The writer has been urtured in Oxford, and that county must held responsible for its own products, ad Ingersoll particularly must tell us what kind of sausages they make there, for it is com that fown that the blooming poet hails. Of James McIntyre we know nothing but that he is the immediate source of his book of musings. Judging from that , he seems to be a ubiquitous indiidual who squats before every object meets on the wayside, views it becomes terribly inspired, means and finally utters the most wretched stuff that mortal man ever heard. He ssays not the grand and lofty, but poetizes the rabbit, a glass jar, dried apples and the goat. Imagine this descendant of Shakespeare seated on a knoll of green turf on the river's bank, his head shaking and nodding, his body nervously agitated, significant of the poetic fire burning within him, moaning and groaning, and then giving birth to this:

We have seen the queen of cheese, Lying quietly at your case, Gentlyfanned by evening breeze— Thy fair form no flies dare seize.

six months, fully ninety per cent. have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent. of the patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are been fitted! while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissues, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination; this accomplished, the catarrh is practically cured, and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him four years ago are cures still. No one else has ever attempted to cure catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the presents eason of the year is the most avorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Messrs, A. H. Are railway companies, for instance, any the richer who run their trains on the the richer who run their trains on the Sunday, or any other parties who do Sunday, or any other parties who do Sunday work. The Creator controls all things for his own glory, and he makes use of earthly things to punish men for the disobedience of his commands. So that when men think they can make money by sinning against God in the non-observance of any of his commands, something occurs, it seems an accident, and all the money made, and more, by the breaking of the commandment, is swept away. How much money have you made by Sabbath desecration? You will find that you will be as rich, and the public weal as well, and better, served even in this instance of keeping the boxes non-accessible on Sunday. You require rest on Sundays, God has provided the day of rest for you, take it. Rest and be thankful. A.
