

Currie, Rev. D. D.

A Catechism of Baptism. New York, 1864, pp. 50, 2nd ed., 1865, later ed., Toronto and Halifax, 1877.

Currie, Mrs. Margaret Gill, of Fredericton.

Gabriel West and other Poems. Fredericton, H. A. Cropley, 1866, cloth, pp. 127. [Dedicated to the Descendants of the Loyalists throughout the Province of New Brunswick.]

D.

Dashwood, Capt. Lewis, of the 15th Regiment, stationed in this province 1864-68. Much of his sporting experience was in New Brunswick.

Chiploquorgan : or, Life by the Camp Fire in the Dominion of Canada and Newfoundland. Dublin, 1871.

Davenport, Rev. John M., M. A., rector of the Mission Chapel, St. John.

Papal Infallibility. "Catholic's" Replies to "Cleophas," Refuting the Vatican Dogma. (Reprinted from the St. John "Globe.") With preface and copious appendix. St. John, J. & A. McMillan, 1885, pp. 106.

Messiah (God Incarnate) not Messiah's Mother the "Bruiser of the Serpent's Head." A plain statement of the Facts regarding the Text Gen. III : 15, together with a Concise Exposure of Mr. R. F. Quigley's Errors and Controversial Tactics. St. John, J. & A. McMillan, 1891, pp. 168.

Daniels, Rev. Henry, D. D., of St. John.

Reply to Wishart. A Lecture.

Davis, Charles S., agent appointed by the executive of the State of Maine on the boundary troubles.

Report of an Enquiry into Certain Facts relating to the Aggressions upon the Rights of the State by Inhabitants of the Province of New Brunswick. Portland, Thos. Todd, 1828.

Dawson, Sir John William, M. D., LL. D., F. R. S., F. G. S.

Acadian Geology; including Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Is'and. Edinburgh and London, 1855.

Deacon, W. F., an Englishman, resident in St. John for some time.

Murder will Out; or, Confessions of a Village Apothecary.

The Author; or, Sketches from Life. St. John, 1866, pp. 64.

Death, James.

My Cholera Experiences. St. John, "Sun" Pub. Co., 1892.

DeMille, Prof. James, M. A., may very correctly be considered the foremost among Canadian novelists. The term Canadian is used only in reference to his nativity, for as a writer of fiction he is really an American, in his style, in his audience and in his subject matter and material.

He was the son of Nathan S. DeMille, a prominent merchant of St. John, and there he was born in 1834. He was educated at Horton Academy and Acadia College, Wolfville, N. S., matriculating into the college in 1849 and at Brown University, Providence, R. I., from which he graduated in 1854. For a time he was in Cincinnati, Ohio, winding up the affairs of a mining association, and then spent some years in business at St. John. In 1861 he was called to the classical chair at Acadia and in 1864 resigned it to take the chair of English Literature and history at Dalhousie. In this capacity he remained until his death, which was on January 28th, 1880. He married a daughter of Rev. John Pryor, the first president of Acadia, and had four children.

He early displayed a taste for authorship and made his debut in the "Christian Visitor." While at college he contributed many sketches and stories for various journals, and some college songs