In the Shadow of Death.

The Condition of Many Young Girls in Canada.

Pale Faces and Bloodiess Lips-Given to Headsches-Extreme Weakness, Heart Palpitation and Other Distressing Symptoms-The Means of Cure Readily at Hand.

From the Leamington Post.

The attention of the Post has lately been frequently called to a remarkable cure in the case of a young girl living within a few miles of this town, whose life was despaided of, but who was completely cured in a hort space of time by the most wonderful of all remedies Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Since reading in almost every issue of the Post of the sures effected by the use of this medicine we felt it to be a duty we owed to investigate this case which has so argently been brought to our notice, and we are sure the interview will be read with interest by the thousands of young girls all over Canada, as well as by the parents of such interesting patients. The young lady in question is not anxious for notricty, but is willing to make her case known in order that others who are similarly afflicted may have an opportunity of being equally benefitted. The symptoms in her disease differed in no way from those affecting thousands of young gurls about ther ago. She was suffering from extreme weakness, caused by an impoverished condition of the blood, and her chances of life seemed to grow less every day. The best and brightest fade away as well as others, but when we see a young girl of sixteen years, who should be in the best of health, with cheeks aglow with the rosy flush of youth, and eyes bright and flashing, nut the or posite, with sallow cheeks, bloodless lips, listless in every motion, despendent, despairing of life with no expectation or hope of regaining health, and with only one wish left, that of complete rest physical and mental, we think it one of the saddest of sights.

In the quiet littlehamlet of Strangfield, in Essex County, just such a case was presented to the sorrowing eyes of loving friends a few months ago in the person of Miss Ella Beacon, who frequently said she did not care how soon she died, as life had no charms for her. To our reporter the declared that life had been a burden, but after suffering in this way for months, and after trying all sorts of remedies prescribed by physicians or furnished by friends from some cherished recipe handed down from their grandmother, but without being benefitted in the least, she was at last persuaded by a neighbor to give Dr. Williams' Hnk Pills a fair trial; but she had tried so many remedies without getting relief that she still refused for some weeks. However, after repeated urgings by her parents and friends she began the use of the pills. Before one box was taken she experienced some relief and after the use of a few more boxes she was restored to perfect health, and there are few young girls now who enjoy life more. She says she owes her life and happiness to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and is willing that all the world should know it. Her case attracted much attention and her perfect recovery has resated much comment.

The facts above related are important to parents, as there are many young girls just budding into wemanhood whose condition is, to say the least, more critical than their parents imagine. Their complexion is pale and waxy in appearance, troubled with heart pulpitation, headaches, shortness of breath on the slightest exercise, faintness and other distressing symptems which invariably lead to a premature grave unless prompt ateps are taken to bring about a natural condition of health. In this emergency no remedy yet discovered can supply the place of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which build annew the blood, strengthen the nerves and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. They are a certain cure for all troubles peculiar to the female system, young or old. Pink Pills also cure such diseases as rheumatism, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxis, St. Vitus' dance, nervous headache, nervous prostration, the after effects of la grippe, influenza, and severe colds, diseases depending on humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysiplas, etc. In the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of any nature.

Are the Telegraph System of the body, extending from the brain to every part of the system.

Nervos are fed by the blood, and are, therefore, like it - weak and tired if the blood is thin, pale, impure -

Horvos are stong and steady, there is no neuralgia, brain is unclouded—if the blood is rich, red and pure.
