

Most companies have joint venture relationships with overseas firms, mainly for marketing of products but also for product development and clinical studies.

The Government plays an important role in subsidizing long-term R&D and providing research grants through the Chief Scientist of the Ministry of Industry and Trade.

Atalia Hausvater

Tel-Aviv, February 1991