1996 No. 21

Governments have informed each other that the formalities constitutionally required therefor have been complied with, and which, pending entry into force, shall be applied provisionally from the tenth day following today's date.

Accept, Excellency, the renewed assurances of my highest consideration.

André Ouellet