N. T. Binks, Esq.,
Secretary New York Graduates' Society,
617 East 21st Street,
Brooklyn, N.Y.

My dear Mr. Binks,

I arrived home this morning thoroughly happy after my visit to the Graduates in New York. I enjoyed Thursday evening's function very much and always get fresh inspiration from meeting such enthusiastic graduates as we have there.

Last night, before leaving the Waldorf, I ran across Dr. Arbuckle, the physician there since its opening, I believe. He told me that he did not know a Graduates' meeting was on for the night before. If he is not a member of the Society there, perhaps you will remind him of his duty in becoming a member.

Will you please express to the New York Executive of the Society my very keen appreciation of all their courtesy to me?

Yesterday morning I went down to the Rockefeller Foundation, where I saw Doctor Day, who gave us $110,000 last year for research work in the Social Sciences, and Doctor Gregg, who was primarily responsible for the interest of the Foundation in the Neurological Institute. I lunched with Mr. Ochs and Doctor John Finley of the Times, where I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Wiggin, the banker, and Mr. Walter, the owner of the London Times. As you may know, we are giving an honorary degree to Doctor John Finley at our Convocation in May.

With all kind personal wishes to you and the Society,

I am,
Ever yours faithfully,
