SURVIVORS TELL OF THEIR ESCAPE

H. Charles and Daughter, W. Rogers and H. G. Colebrooke Relate Experiences

INDELIBLE IMPRESSION

Pathetic Scenes Attending Sinking of Steamer Described by Toronto Survivors.

miraculous escape of J. H and his daughter, Doris, of 227 Evelyn avenue, Toronto, from the nia was told yesterday when they arrived in Toronto after an uneventful passage to New York by the American liner St. Paul. Incidentally survivors denied that London suffered a heavy loss of life as a result of the Zeppelin raid, and official conwas made of the rumor that a large number lost their lives The total list of fatalities was four-The other Toronto survivors who arrived yesterday were Percy W. Rogers, assistant manager of the Exhibition, and H. G. Colebrook, 184 Westminster

The story of Mr. Charles and his aughter of their escape from the Lu-itania was a remarkable one in many details. The father was not able to swim, and his daughter was not able to make good use of her swimming ability on account of the extreme coldness of the water. The two clung to each other until they were picked up by a lifeboat, after what seemed to be several hours in the icy water. The painful scenes witnessed by Mr. and Miss Charles made an impression on their minds which could not easily be erased. The helpless people on the deck of the ship in the interval between the striking of the torpedo and the sinking of the ship made a vivid impression on the witnesses which can never be quite forgotten. The memory of the sea strewn with bodies and with men, women and children clinging to pieces of wreckage seemed like a horrid nightmare.

Fell Into Sea.

When it was found impossible to launch one of the lifeboats someone cut the rope and the passangers, including Mr. Challer and bid. cluding Mr. Charles and his daughter, were thrown into the sea. Both were furnished with lifebelts and out of the range of the swirl of the settling er they treaded water and wait-r the help which they thought uld never come. After an interval at seemed an eternity, a lifeboat ne along and took Mr. Charles and his unconscious daughter aboard. Both owe their lives to the fact that they kept their heads. When they saw no way of escape they encouraged each other and the daughter sang a few lines of a familiar hymn.

LEAGUE FORMED TO OPPOSE CONSCRIPTION

Leaders Are Mainly Officials of Independent Labor Party.

LONDON, June 14 .- In reply to the continual demand of a large part of the newspapers for conscription, nittee of non-conscriptionists has been formed and is organizing what they call the "No-conscription Fellowship." The leaders of the new move-ment are mostly officials of the in dependent labor party or of the allied Union of Democratic Control. Their organization, they state, is a "fellowship for common counsel and action of men of enlistment age who are not prepared to bear arms in the event of conscription, whatever the penalties for refusing."

RELAX TREATMENT

British Officers, Confined in Retaliation for Special Submarine Crew Incarceration, Released.

BERLIN, June 14.—(Via London, 11.45 p.m.)—As a result of American mediation, the exceptional treatment which was being accorded German submarine prisoners in England, and an equal number of British officers risoners in Germany, has been dis-ontinued. Germany today notified the American embassy that the Brit ish officers who were selected for re taliatory treatment here would, like the submarine prisoners in England, hereafter be confined with the other prisoners of war, and given the same treatment.

The negotiations between Germany and Great Britain for the release o enemy civilians who are incapacitated for military service may be resumed.

Arthur J. Balfour, the new secre tary of the British admiralty, and mounced June 9 that German submarine prisoners would be treatly exactly as all other German prisoners in England. These had been held for trial for murder after the war.

Enemy Then Took to Flight, Leaving Assailants in Possession of Field.

PARIS, June 14.—An official note given out today presents a summary of the operations in the Dardanelles from May 15 to June 1 as follows: "Heavy fighting has taken place is somewhat slower than it was in the beginning, but every inch of ground gained has been organized in such a manner as to permit of the repelling of "Our position being assured here, we endeavored to capture a small fortress situated on the extreme left of the enemy's line. On account of the strategic position of this fortress it was impossible to take it in the ordinary way, by an artillery attack followed by a bayonet charge; such a method would have resulted in heavy loss of life. The attack had to be a surprise. On the night of May 28 a mixed company, composed of 34 white and 32 negro troops, all volunteers, under the command of a lieutenant, received orders to slip out of our first trench one by one and crawl on their hands and knees to the opposing trench. Here they were to surprise the occupants and kill them without firing a shot. Two other companies bringing up the rear were to go at once to the assistance of the first company if the plan failed.

"At 11.45 p.m. our men having gone forward in accordance with instruc-tions, rushed over the embankments of the enemy trenches. The Turks were completely surprised. They dis-charged their guns in the air, and im-mediately took to flight. Thanks to the rapidity of our attack our only casualties were one sergeant and two
