was oart

to tion

the

gne

ence

and

hen

ana-

etter date

non-

stin-

the

t of

try ;

the

er ake

the

rter

of the globe, to spread in a region larger than the United States the Anglo-Saxon laws and civilization and tongue—has to renounce luxury, to scorn delights, to live laborious days. Canada is not the place for members of the British Association who long for the flesh-pots of Egypt or the champagnecup. In Canada one has to live simply and to work hard. He who does so work, though in England he may die a pauper, there becomes a man. Canad. offers to all independence, a fertile soil, a bracing air. At present there is little chance of the majority of its people being enervated by luxury or demoralized by wealth.

Canada is a country, however, with room and scope for millions who must starve and die in Europe. Its area is 3,470,392 square miles, and its most southern point reaches the 42nd parallel of latitude. It possesses thousands of square miles of the finest forests on the continent, widely spread coal-