The Company:

The Company is launched on a sound financial basis, managed by careful and trustworthy officers, and enrolled in the ranks of its directorate are men who have had a long and successful mining experience.

The Objects:

The Company is formed to buy, develop, operate and sell mining properties and mines in the Dominion of Canada only. Two of the Company's directors most expert in mining are now with experts on a tour of inspection of mines and prospects in the leading camps in the British Columbia Gold Fields. No claim will be purchased by the Company until its experts have thoroughly investigated and are satisfied that it will prove a paying property.

The Plan:

The Company is co-operative. Every shareholder makes his investment on the same profit-sharing basis. The man of small means earns as much on his investment as the wealthiest capitalist. The Directors have no properties whatever to unload on the shareholders. The Company being mutual, the interests of every investor will be sacredly guarded. Shares at their advertised and sold at market value are fully paid up and not further assessable, and

The Entire Stock of the Company is Treasury Stock.

Canada's Mineral Wealth.

Canada offers the most favorable opportunities in the world for profitable investment in mining, and the experience of Development Companies in this and other countries is that where companies are formed on a co-operative basis and managed by men of integrity, foresight and experience, the earning powers of such have been enormous. Great results have been attained, and while mining development in Canada is yet in its infancy it has passed the experimental period, and the possibilities for accumulating wealth are without limit.

THE IVORY BALL.

Mr. J. S. Saunders opens his new billiard hall this morning.

All lovers of the fascinating game of billiards will be glad to learn that Toronto at last is to have a first-class, modern billiard room, fitted out with all the latest and high-class equipments.

This morning Mr. J. S. Saunders opens his new billiard parlors, over 50 Yonge-street, and it is safe to say from a glance at the interior that these are to be without doubt the most handsome and best-fitted billiard parlors in Canada. There will be in all nine tables—five billiard tables, three pool tables and one large baggins billiard table. These are all furnished by the famous Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, the largest billiard manufacturers in the world.

All the tables are fitted with the celebrated Brunswick improved quick cushion. This is the cushion which is stipulated in all first-class and championship matches in America. The tables are all of the style named "The Spangon," which is the latest pattern of billiard table. The design is both handsome and unique. The bottoms of the massive square-topped legs have an egg and dart moulding, the whole being surrounded by a plain moulded cap. The sides are covered, and a superbly carved lower edge of the base. They are all finished in modern residence, run along the lower edge of the base. They are all finished in antique oak, and have several novelties, which all billiard players will be quick to appreciate, and which are here introduced for the first time in Canada. All these tables in stock in the hall at convenient intervals, and no longer being intended for sale.

The Wastelessness Which Has Marked the Administration of Provincial Affairs Pointed Out—Important Session of the Civic Finance Committee—A "Company of the Gallant Thirtieth" Has a Banker—Conversion of the Canada Business College—Masters in Politics—General News.

Hamilton, March 6.—(Special from Our Staff Correspondent.)—Mr. J. P. Whitney, leader of the Opposition in the Provincial House, addressed thronged rooms of the Hamilton Club last night, and was frequently applauded.

Mr. Whitney began his eloquent address with a review of the political history of the Province during its 20 years of office. The waste of public money on the colonization roads, and the manner of making the license system work for Liberal interests, were among the first things he pointed out. The educational system of the Province was generally equal to its needs, the speaker said, in strong contrast to McGill University, where large sums of public money were kept going. The waste of money on the colonization roads, and the manner of making the license system work for Liberal interests, were among the first things he pointed out. The educational system of the Province was generally equal to its needs, the speaker said, in strong contrast to McGill University, where large sums of public money were kept going.

Mr. Whitney then turned to the question of the Province's financial affairs. He pointed out the waste of money on the colonization roads, and the manner of making the license system work for Liberal interests, were among the first things he pointed out. The educational system of the Province was generally equal to its needs, the speaker said, in strong contrast to McGill University, where large sums of public money were kept going.
