HON. PETER MITCHELL DEAD.

Another of the Founders of Confederation Has Passed Over to the Majority.

WAS FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM.

Stood by Sir Charles Tupper to the Last—His Death Was Very Sudden.

Montreal, Oct. 25.—(Special.)—"If you see Sir Charles Tupper, tell him that Peter Mitchell says he is a brick, and I don't care who knows my feelings. I have always entertained a very high opinion of Sir Charles and I wish him all sorts of good luck." These words were spoken to The World correspondent yesterday by the Hon. Peter Mitchell, but before they could be conveyed to the great leader he could be conveyed to the man who used to be known as Bismarck Mitchell had passed away. Yesterday Mr. Mitchell was down town looking even better than he had done for some weeks past, and he retired to his room at the Windsor a little before the accustomed hour. This morning his dead body was found on the floor, and as the corpse alone had been removed, the supposition is that Mr. Mitchell died before midnight.

Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Hector Langevin and Hon. Wm. Macdougall are all that remain of the nation's founders.

Hon. Peter Mitchell was born in Newcastle, N.B., in 1824, and was of Scottish parentage. He was educated there and studied law. In 1848 he was called to the bar. Not long afterwards he engaged in the lumber business and shipbuilding. He was first elected to the legislature of New Brunswick in 1856, and remained a member of the Assembly until 1860, when he entered the legislative Council. In the Senate he remained in 1874 and was elected to the House of Commons. In the general elections of 1878 he was defeated, but at the next election in 1883 was successful.
He continued in the House until 1891, when that time he has not been in Parliament.
He was a candidate for his old constituency in the elections of 1884, but suffered defeat.

As a member of the Government of New Brunswick in 1856, he was a colleague of Messrs. Tilley, Ritchie, Johnson and Fisher.
He, with some friends, led in securing the construction of provincial railways, and in effecting other beneficial legislation. When the union of the Maritime Provinces was discussed he was selected a delegate to the Charlottetown Conference, where Sir John A. Macdougall, Carter and Brown and others appeared to urge the larger union of British North America. He also attended the Quebec Conference, which drafted the terms of the Union, and in 1880 was sent to Ottawa to serve as a member of the London Conference on the same subject.

In January, 1883, Mitchell became proprietor of The Montreal Herald, which he conducted for several years. He afterwards retired from active politics, and on March 1, 1897, was appointed to the position of Inspector of Fisheries for the Atlantic Provinces.

He married in 1853 Mrs. George of St.
John, N.B. She died in 1880.

A ROYAL SEND-OFF FOR SOLDIER BOYS.

street, the band of the O.R.R. played "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and everyone joined in the chorus.

An aged, gray-haired woman at the Armouries was full of enthusiasm. She joined in the cheers to the boys and wildly tossed her hat in the air. On seeing Col. Otter she proposed three cheers for him and the vast assemblage heartily joined in.

The most affecting scene of the departure of the boys was the fond farewell given to P. C. McGill by his mother. Owing to the big crowd she was unable to get near the coach, where was seated her son, looking out of a window. P. C.'s mother and brother, noticing her anxiety to bid good-bye to her boy, carried her on their shoulders through the crowd to the car window, where she kissed her son just as the train started to pull out.

The crush at the entrance to the tracks at the depot was so great that Chairman J. J. Graham decided to allow every person to pass through. When this was done, there was still a crush, so vast were the crowds.

Secretary J. Gray marshalled the Army and Navy Veterans. In the ranks of this society walked President W. R. Simmonds, S. Griggs, John Nunn, C. Ellingsworth, Ed. Lee. Their handsome banner, which was greatly admired all along the route, was carried by Comrade W. J. Kemish, C.E.C.

Just before the train pulled out two little girls climbed up on the steps of the rear coach and presented Col. Otter with a handsome bouquet of red roses. A Stanley Brown, The Mail and Empire correspondent, was also a farewell by many friends at the depot. "Stan" was titled in war correspondent's uniform, and was loth to leave his hundreds of friends. But he will not be put off at Buffalo.

In front of Reinhardt's Brewery there was a lively demonstration, as the train carrying the detachment hurried past that establishment. The building was decorated with flags and streamers, while in front of a huge bon fire was burning. The many employees and the officers of the company heavily cheered the soldiers.

Serg. Lorsch of the Klitties was unable to reach the band of one of his admirers, and he ended his run, which she heartily shook.

The employees of the Sleuon Chemical Company of 170 West King street, showered bouquets on the South African fighters as they passed that establishment.

York-street bridge was covered with people from one end to the other, as was also
