FORMER ST. JOHN BOY IS SELECTED

Son of the Late Rev. W. R.
Robinson is Rhodes
Scholar.

Word was received yesterday by Charles Robinson that his nephew, Thomas Hoben Robinson, has been awarded the Rhodes Scholarship for Nova Scotia for 1925. Mr. Robinson is a graduate of Acadia and is at present taking a post-graduate course at Chicago University.

Mr. Robinson was born at Devon, but for the greater part of his life lived in St. John. He is the son of the late Rev. W. R. Robinson, who for some years was pastor of the Ludlow street Baptist church.

The young man had a brilliant course at the local High School and won the Governor-General's silver medal for grade 10. At Acadia he made a special study of economics and won the gold medal and a scholarship to Chicago University. In addition to his scholastic attainments he did well in athletics and was one of the main stays of the Acadia football team.

His mother is visiting in Maine at the present time. The new Rhodes scholar was very active in the Sunday school of Ludlow street Baptist church, being a teacher there previous to going to Acadia. As a younger boy he was in the Trail Rangers and always was considered an outstanding youth. He was markedly good as a debater.

George Estabrooks, another Rhodes scholar from Acadia, now attending Harvard, was also very active in Ludlow street Sunday school. He was a teacher of the school until the war broke out.

Ludlow street Sunday school is proud that two of her former boys have won such great honors. It was a cherished ambition of the late Rev. Mr. Robinson that his son would some day win this great honor. The young man's uncle, Dr. Allen Hoben, is president of Kalamazoo College, Michigan, and one of the foremost educators in the United States.

MRS. JAS. E. BURKE DIED FROM BURNS

Details of Amesbury Tragedy Come to Mother in Saint John.

News of how Mrs. James E. Burke, formerly Miss Evelyn Gormley of this city, died in Amesbury, Mass., recently, has been received. She succumbed to burns about the face and body, received when her clothing caught fire as she attempted to light a fire with kerosene. The news came to her mother, Mrs. K. Gormley, 26 Brooks street. Two brothers, William of St. John, and Leo Gormley, now in Amesbury, survive.

Mrs. Burke and her three-year-old child were in the house at the time. Just how the accident occurred is not known, but as the door of the kitchen of the store was open, it is believed a slight explosion occurred, sending the flames out of this door and igniting her clothing. The first intimation that Mrs. Burke had met with an accident was when her screaming was heard as she rushed from the rear door of her home on to a balcony on the second story. Mrs. Joseph Blodden, residing in the house, was attracted to her balcony by the screams, but was too terrified to make any move to help the unfortunate woman. Mrs. Burke, with her clothing in flames, rushed downstairs and fell at the feet of her father-in-law, James Burke, who hastily removed his coat and, winding this about the woman's body, extinguished the flames.

An automobile, standing at the curb, was commandeered, and Mrs. Burke was rushed to the hospital, but she died a few days later. The funeral was held at St. Joseph's church, Amesbury, where service was conducted by Rev. Joseph Fischer. There was a large attendance. The pall-bearers were William Burke, Leonard Burke, James Burke, W. R. Burke, W. F. Burke and Thomas Burke.

FORMER CARLETON MAN DIES IN U. S.

He is survived by his wife, one son, Charles, and one daughter, Marion, at home; his mother, Mrs. Bridget Burns, and three brothers, Robert, William and Edward, all of Cambridge, Mass. The funeral took place in Northfield.

Mr. Burns was 57 years old, and left home when a young man.

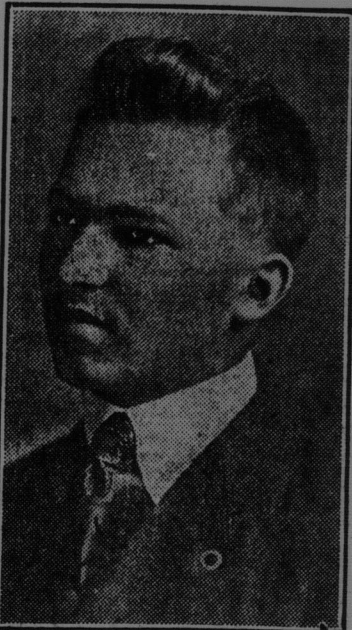

CAPT. H. D. FERRIS DEAD.

Captain Hiram D. Ferris died this morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Orelia Cole, 98 Main street, after a brief illness. He was about 70 years of age and had followed the sea for many years. He was born at Mill Cove, Queens county, and was a son of the late Hiram and Frances Ferris. He was a prominent member of Main street Baptist church and Peerless Lodge I. O. O. F. He is survived by one son, Gordon of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. L. H. Clarke of Presque Isle, Me., and Mrs. Cole of this city. The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A wide circle of friends and acquaintances will regret to learn of Mr. Ferris' death.

In the story telling class in the Free Public Library this morning Mrs. W. Edmond Raymond, the speaker, chose as her subject "The Four Masterpieces", namely: "The Light of the World," "The Descent from the Cross," "The Broken Picture," and "The Last Supper." IN THE MARKET.

Poultry was scarce in the country market today as a result of a large number of birds being killed for the Thanksgiving market. Chickens sold for 40 cents a pound and fowl for 50 cents. Rabbits made their appearance today and sold at 25 cents a pair. Henny eggs were hardly obtainable and were quoted at 65 to 70 cents a dozen. The fall vegetables and meats of all kinds were on sale in large quantities. Brussels sprouts sold at 60 cents a box.

WELCOMED.

A buttercup was brought into the office yesterday afternoon by Miss Muriel Brennan, of Prince Street, West St. John. She found the little golden blossom—just one—in her backyard, and it came fresh and lovely from its 50 yearly home. November buttercups are quite as pretty as at any time of the year and much more acceptable. This one tiny flower seemed to bring down to a reflection the sunshine that had given it courage to bloom at so unreasonable a period of the year.

PRESENTATIONS TO REV. MR. LAWRENCE

Masons and Hampton
Church Members Honor
Clergyman.

A pleasing event took place last evening at a meeting of Corinthian Lodge, F. and A. M., at Hampton, when Rev. C. Gordon Lawrence, who is transferring his membership to a lodge in this city, received an illuminated address on parchment and a gold-headed cane from the officers and members of the lodge. Rev. Peter Jackson, chaplain of the lodge, expressed the appreciation of the members for the work the guest of honor had done for Corinthian Lodge while a member and extended best wishes for his success in lodge work in St. John. WAS OPENED JUST TWENTY YEARS AGO

Tomorrow Will be Anniversary of St. John Free Public Library.

"Twenty years ago tomorrow—Nov. 16, 1904—the Free Public Library in Hazen street was opened for use. There was not any formal ceremony, as the commissioners were anxious to place the building at the disposal of the citizens as speedily as possible. The construction was due mainly to the generosity of the late Andrew Carnegie, Pittsburgh millionaire, who agreed to donate $50,000 toward the building, provided the city would pay $5,000 annual maintenance costs.

G. Ernest Fairweather was architect for the building; James Myles was the contractor; G. & E. Blake handled the plumbing, while James Hunter installed the electric light fixtures. The first board of commissioners was composed of: Richard O'Brien, chairman; Mrs. W. H. Tuck, Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. James F. Robertson, Mrs. R. J. Ritchie, W. M. McLean, Dr. James Christie, Thomas Millidge and Dr. J. B. M. Baxter.

Miss Estelle M. A. Vaughan is librarian at present, while the present board of commissioners is composed of Mrs. G. F. Smith, Richard O'Brien, Duncan G. Lingley, P. E. Hanington, John Willet, K. C. Mrs. James F. Robertson, John Thornton and Mrs. E. Atherton Smith. The library has attained great popularity and its appeal has become a widespread one.

PORTLAND ROLLING MILL IS BEING DISMANTLED

The old Portland Rolling Mills, in Chesley street, once bustling industry, is being dismantled. Years ago this mill employed 283 men and operated both day and night. When a business depression set in some few years ago this once "great hive of industry" was forced to first cut staff and eventually suspended operations. Since then time has taken its toll and the old structure is now being removed.

The structure was built in 1888, replacing one which had been destroyed by fire. It was owned by James Harris & Company, who operated it for many years. At that time the mill produced bar iron, steel, brass, horse shoes, nails, plates, bolts, spikes and railway spikes. About 1899 the plant changed hands and was taken over by the Portland Rolling Mills, Ltd.

THEFT OF DRESS IS CHARGED; GIRL PLEADS GUILTY

Sergeant Detective Power asked that she be remanded for investigation. He said Mr. Jacobson had lost two other dresses. Magistrate Henderson said he would accept the request and informed the young woman that she would have to remain in custody until the matter could be properly disposed of.

GAVE PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT

The Golden Chain class of the Victoria street Baptist church gave a very pleasing entertainment in the Fairview Baptist church room last night when three sketches were admirably given and delightful specialties were also presented. Those taking part in the sketches were: Mrs. Myrtle Whitaker, Ethel Akerley, Rae Currie, Thelma Lockhart, Myrtle Slaunwhite, Glenice McLoughlin, Lena Urquhart, Eva Currie, Alice Clark, Ida Monteith and Rae Currie. Amongst the specialties were solos by Thatcher Townshend, Mrs. Richardson and Miss Ricker; readings by Miss Alice McKim and Miss Myrtle Crawford; and a piano duet by Miss Genevieve Carmichael and Harry Carmichael. During the intermission fudge and home-made candy was served by the young people of the two congregations. The sponsors of the evening were Mrs. G. B. MacDonald, leader of the Golden Chain class, and Miss Irma Schofield.

Mrs. Walter Small, returned missionary from China, gave an interesting address last evening to the Mission Band of the Carleton Methodist church. She described the life and customs of the country. Her two daughters, Charlotte and Dorothy, were dressed in Chinese costume and sang in Chinese, "Jesus Loves Me." Mr. Small will occupy Zion Methodist pulpit on Sunday.

As Hiram Sees It

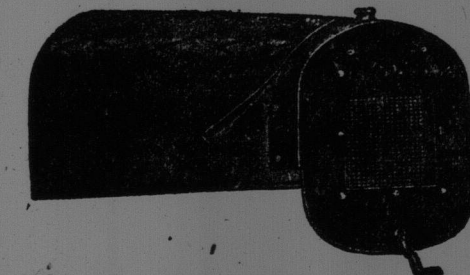

"Well, sir," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to The Times reporter, "I was sitting in the train yesterday and I heard some travelers talking about feller tellin' where anybody could get booze if they wanted it—an' afore they got through I come to the conclusion that all you to do is throw up a quarter an' down 'I come a drink.'"

"Dear me!" said the reporter. "You surprise me."

"One feller," said Hiram, "was pitchin' into St. John. He said he paid fifty cents for a drink here when he could get it for a quarter up to Predicton. Another feller said he had to pay four an' five dollars for a bottle here, when he could get it for three dollars anywhere along the shore from Port Elgin to Shippegan. He said St. John was always grabbin' too much. I guess you better bring down more'n them there harbor fees or folks 'll be passin' you by an' goin' to Predicton or Pokemouche—Yes, sir."
