Too Busy At Golf To Work For Wife

New York, Sept. 25.—When Michael Rohaly, 23, passed was veteran, of 368 Walnut street, Yonkers, was charged by his wife with non-support in Yonkers City Court, he told Judge Boote that he was so busy practicing golf for a championship contest that he couldn't look after his wife. He hoped, he said, to become a professional and to earn a large income.

The judge advised Rohaly to contribute more to his wife's support and if golf conflicted with his income to give up golf.

This is a new record for this event. The futurity for three-year-old pacers was won by Guy T. Richards in straight heats, best time 2:06 1/4, purse $2,000. The Ohio State Journal Stake for 2:06 pacers, purse $3,000, was won by Julia M. Direct in straight heats, best time 2:02 3/4. The Ohio Citizen Stake for trotters, purse $3,000, was won by Clear Worth, two out of four heats, best time 2:02 1/4 made by Great Briton in the first heat.

FIRPO NOW FACES SUIT FOR $54,206

New York, Sept. 24.—Luis Angel Firpo climbed from a $125 third rate to a $125,000 championship contender in a year and a half of pugilistic enterprise in the United States, according to papers filed today in the suit brought by Andrew D. McCormick, of Long Beach, N. Y., against the Argentine boxer for $54,206.24.

McCormick, who obtained an attachment against Firpo's share of the purse for his title bout with Jack Dempsey at the Polo Grounds recently, charges this amount is due him under an alleged contract with the South American by the terms of which he was to receive 25 per cent. of the fighter's earnings, plus $3,000 for expenses.

A Famous Barber Of Ye Olden Time

(Occasional in Halifax Recorder.)

In the northeast corner of St. Paul's Cemetery, Barrington St., may be seen a tombstone with the following inscription: "Sacred to the memory of Elias Joseph Hobson, who departed this life on the 9th January, 1899, aged 67 years." E. J. Hobson was a notable figure in our community. The family it was always understood, were among the original settlers who came over with Governor Cornwallis in 1749.

However that may be, it is certain that in the earlier years of this country, Elias J. Hobson was well known in Halifax, and had many warm friends. Hobson was a hairdresser by trade, and kept his shop in an old one-story wooden building at the corner of Duke and Hollis streets. This was before the lake water was used in the town, and when the inhabitants were dependent for their water supply upon wells, and the rain water collected from the sooty roofs of houses. Right in front of Hobson's shop, at the corner, stood "The Sisters," two pumps, in one big public well, and day long, when the pumps were not frozen in winter or the well was not dry in summer, "The Sisters" were surrounded with boys with their buckets and hoops—two buckets of water being carried with a hoop between to keep them apart—or with truckmen's horses stopping as they passed for a drink at the tub on the curb. Hobson's shop was a kind of social exchange, where citizens were wont to meet, partly for a shave or to have their locks trimmed, but partly also, and indeed chiefly, to have a gossip with the genial proprietor and his popular son and assistant, James. Both father and son were good amateur musicians, the kindly son being afterwards well known and highly appreciated in musical circles. Hobson, senior, was a devoted disciple of Isaac Walton. There was not a lake or pond within a radius of ten miles from town but Hobson knew all about it; he knew also what flies—red, yellow or brown, were the most lucky, and he could supply them; for one of his sons, John, the cabinet maker, manufactured both rods and flies, and such could be depended upon."

In the leaves of an old book, bought at auction, a few years ago, was found a list of verses (in print) on the funeral of the late Elias J. Hobson.

"By fortune slighted, but by nature graced
With feeling ingenuity, and taste;
An ear that music never failed to charm,
A soul that Poetry could melt or warm;
Oft did her voice his leisure hours beguile,
And cheer and soften the returns of toil.
His toils have ceased, and now o'er
Hobson's bier,
She breathes this simple lay and drops a tear.

GIANTS NOW 3 UP AND SEVEN TO GO

Lost Yesterday to Cincinnati—Ruth and Heilmann Battle for Honors.

New York, Sept. 25.—The Giants lost to Cincinnati yesterday 6 to 3, and dropped to a lead of only three games in the National League race. They are now three up, with seven to go, although one of these games with St. Louis, will not be played unless ordered by the president of the league. The champions lost yesterday's game when Fowler hit a four bagger with two men on bases.

The Yankees ripped off a bunch a nine runs in one long string, defeating the Tigers 12 to 4.

Harry Heilmann and Babe Ruth, who are struggling for the batting average lead of the league, came out even in the day's play.

The Browns won two games from the Red Sox in Boston, 6 to 1, and 4 to 2, while the Cardinals were losing twice to the Robins in St. Louis, 8 to 2 and 7 to 3. Ruthier pitched his 100th victory. In the second game, against the Cards, and needs but two more to collect a $1,000 bonus.

The Pirates broke even with the Phillies in Pittsburgh, losing the first 4 to 2 and winning the second 4 to 3. In the second game there was one out when the winning run was scored in the last frame.

The Cubs trimmed the Braves in Chicago in a tight game, 8 to 7. The runs were almost evenly matched. In the fourth inning each team took three, in the fifth the Cubs took three and the Braves two, and in the sixth they each took two. Boeckel and Hartnett each pitched.

In Washington the White Sox defeated the Senators in a fast holding game, 1 to 0. The Sox made nine hits to the Senators seven, but they were well scattered, and the men in the field took good care that they should not count for much.

FAIRVILLE TRIMS BEACONSFIELD

The return baseball game between the Fairville Superior School and Beaconsfield School was won by Fairville by a score of 11 to 8 on the Fairville diamond last evening. The umpires were N. Farley and G. Cheney, the principals of the winning and losing schools respectively.

WHEN DUELLING WAS PRACTISED

Account of a Fatal Meeting in Halifax a Hundred Years Ago.

(Occasional in Halifax Recorder.)

On Wednesday morning, July 21, 1819, between the hours of 4 and 5 o'clock, a meeting took place near the Governor's North Farm, at Richmond, about two miles from town, between Richard John Uniacke, Esq., the younger, and Mr. William Bowie, both of Halifax. After exchanging the second shot, the latter fell, mortally wounded. Assistance was immediately procured, when Mr. Bowie was conveyed to the Farm House, and a messenger despatched for a surgeon, who, upon his arrival, found Mr. Bowie's friend by his side. On examining the wound it was ascertained that the ball, which had entered a little above the right hip, had passed through to the left side, which was immediately extracted—but alas! human skill was in vain. The approaching hour of dissolution became visible, and at ten minutes before six o'clock on the evening of the same day, Mr. Bowie breathed his last, in the 39th year of his age.

The dispute to which this unhappy event is to be attributed arose from some observations made by Mr. Uniacke when conducting a suit in the Supreme Court on Monday last and which were considered by Mr. Bowie as an unjustified attack upon his integrity and reputation. On the following day a correspondence passed between the parties, which, unfortunately, terminated in a challenge.

The Recorder, in his issue of July 24, 1819, made the following reference to this matter:

"It is greatly to be lamented that on account, probably, of some ungoverned members of the community should have allowed their passions so far to get the better of their reason to lose sight of all consideration of religion, justice and humanity, and to risk their lives upon a point which some friendly interference or a moment's cool reflection might have prevented."

"It is a circumstance deserving of notice (the truth of which we can touch for) that the following lines from Barbauld were found near the spot where Mr. Bowie fell, on the morning the duel took place; and which, in a singular manner, delineates the sad fate of that unfortunate gentleman: 'I have seen man in the pride of his strength; his cheeks glowed with beauty; his limbs were full of activity; he leaped; he walked; he ran; he rejoiced in that he was more excellent than these. . . . returned;—he sat still and cold on the bare ground; his feet could no longer move, nor his hands stretch themselves out; his life was departed from him, and the breath of his nostrils. Therefore do I sweep because Death is in the world; the spoiler is among the works of God; all that is made must be destroyed; all that is born must die; let me alone, for I will weep yet longer.'"

"On Thursday morning the Coroner held an inquest on the body of the deceased, and the jurors, after a minute and strict investigation of the case, returned their verdict:—that the said William Bowie came to his death as a consequence of a wound, received from a ball fired from pistol by Richard John Uniacke, the younger, in a duel."

The same evening the body was conveyed to his late residence in town. Yesterday the mortal remains of Mr. Bowie were consigned to the grave. The funeral moved with more than ordinary solemnity from his late residence in Marchington's Lane about 3 o'clock, followed by as numerous and respectable attendance as ever was witnessed in this town. The urbanity of his manners, and benevolent disposition, made him esteemed and respected by all who knew him. His cheerful temper rendered him affable and communicative as a companion, and in his mercantile dealings he was distinguished by an inviolable integrity. The flags of the vessel in the harbor were hoisted half-mast high noon on the occasion, and a general glow seemed to pervade all ranks of society."

Uniacke and the two seconds were tried on the 28th July, 1821, and acquitted.

TWO FAVORED TO MEET PAPYRUS

Choice of U. S. Contender

for $100,000 Between

Zev and My Own.

New York, Sept. 25.—The selection of the three-year-old to race Papyrus, English Derby winner, in the 100,000 international contest at Belmont Park, October 20, may not be made before October 6.

Under the terms of agreement with Ben Irish, owner of the English thoroughbred, the Jockey Club, under whose auspices the race will be held, has until two weeks before the contest to pick the American representative.

The Jockey Club also has the privilege of naming an alternate.

Zev, Kentucky Derby victor and star of the Rancocas stable, and My Own, of Admiral C. T. Grayson's stable, stand out as the two leading candidates, with the odds favoring the selection of Zev, which has made a more impressive record for the season.

Zev won the Lawrence Realization, first official tryout, while My Own captured the National Trial Sweepstakes, the second test. They have never met and efforts so far to bring them together have failed.
