SECOND HALF OF SESSION

Speakers Condemn Surrender of Tory Government to the Interests — Conservative Members Flout Western Claims

Ottawa, April 15—With a slim attendance, but a big subject under discussion parliament opened this afternoon the second half of the session after the Easter adjournment. The tariff issue and the rights of the masses as compared with the special priglieges of the classes were again set forth in the resumption of the budget debate, which will be continued for a week or so yet, defining the cleavage between the two parties, between the forces of reaction and the forces of progress, which has been one of the marked developments of the present against the second progress.

There were three speakers, two on the Liberal side—Mr. Carroll, of Cape Breton, and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, and one on the Conservative side, Oliver Wilcox, of North Essex. The last named put up, perhaps unconsciously, one of the strongest cases against the present government, especially as it affects the west, that has yet been presented.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux declared that the speech of the minister of finance in

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux declared that the speech of the minister of finance in introducing his budget speech marked the complete surrender of the government to the big interests at the expense of the agriculturists and the consumers of Canada.

It was Mr. Wilcox, however, who frankly arrayed the east against the west, and who declared that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal party were paying entirely too much attention to the ishes of the western farmers.

Premier Borden, said Mr. Wilcox, was not going to make the blunder which had "cost Sir Wilfrid his job."

"We, on this side, sympathize with the west," naively commented the man from North Essex.
"And that is all," observed Sir Wil-

"We recognise that they are in a pioneer condition." retorted Mr. Wilcox. "But the most of it is only hollering: Wolf, wolf,' when there is no wolf. We all recognize the condition and it is all right to do something. But I'm not so sure there is a common ground."

"But the fact is," continued Mr. Wilcox, "that when they're frosted out we're willing to buy them more seed; when they're hailed out we're willing to help; we've built them railways; we're building them elevators; we're doing every-

Too Interested in the West

The whole trouble was, declared Mr. Wilcox, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was "intensely interested, altogether too much interested" in the western farmers. "He is not usually scared," proceeded the speaker, "but he got scared when the big deputation came down by thousands from the wild and wolly west where the coyotes howl by night and the gophes howl by day, and spread themselves over as many seats as possible in this chamber. And one would think, according to the Liberals, that after September 21, 1911, a great fog had settled upon western Canada."

"Miss Mary Shaughnessy, Cork" and Her Story Attract New York Reporter

New York, April 16—"Miss Mary Shaughnessy, Cork," was what she wrote on the register at the McAlpin Hotel. The clerk did not see it at once. He was looking at Miss Mary Shaughnessy and he made no mistake. She was good to look at—eyes like the deep blue of Kilarney, a wealth of fluffy, dark brown hair and typical Irish features. About her was a purposeful air.

her was a purposeful air.

Miss Mary Shaughnessy told her story after some persuasion. She was running away—not from the revolution in Ulster, but from what she said was much worse—matrimony. Matrimony, Mary explained, is an excellent institution when both parties are agreeable, but when She is twenty-three and he is older than her own father flight is preferable.

Mary said that she had $7,000 of her own and that her family was wealthy.

Mary said that she had $7,000 of her own and that her family was wealthy. She had been living with her grandmother, she said, and is a cousin of Lady Moira Darragh. She was fond of her family, but when they insisted that she wed Hugh Wilson, Mary packed her trunk and came to America.

Heading for Alberta

In Edmonton, Alberta, lives a handsome young Irishman, who came to America five years ago to seek his fortune in the wheat country. He is Captain John St. Leger Moore and the picture which Mary showed proved her contention that her John could not hide in a crowd.

They were not engaged when John left.

They were not engaged when John left Ireland, but frequent letters had done the trick, and when the pressure at home became too strong, Mary sent a cable gram and followed it in person.

"Indeed, I'll be glad to see him," she said, "and I fancy he'll be glad to see me. The poor lad has had a lonesome time of it up there. He was the youngerson of his father, and in Ireland young-

When asked if the wedding would take place as soon as she reached Winnipeg she replied: "Ah, you should ask Captain Moore about that!" But the

REPEAL OF BAR AND BOTTLE BILL KILLED

Boston, April 16—The attempt to repeal the bar and bottle bill was killed in the Massachusetts House of Representatives by a vote of 105 to 115. The matter voted upon after a somewhat lengthy debate was the passage to a third reading of the bill to provide that each city and town shall decide itself by a referendum vate, the question of whether the provisions of the bar and bottle bill shall apply to that particular community.

FOR PROHIBITION LAW IN MICHIGAN STATE

Temperance Forces Reported Mustering For Bigger Battle

Lansing, Mich., April 16—Persistent reports circulated about the capital that the anti-liquor forces of Michigan have determined to begin their long-threatened fight for state-wide prohibition by attempting to control both branches of the next State Legislature are partly confirmed. No official statement is issued, but a man prominent in more than one local option fight said he understood that several prohibition leaders, including several ministers, have agreed to become candidates for the legislature provided they are assured the united support of voters who favor state-wide prohibition.

During the campaign which preceded he recent election, when local option was voted upon in twelve counties, proibition leaders predicted "this might be last fight." of its kind in Michigan, and if it was they would devote their uture energies to obtaining state-wide and nation-wide prohibition.

NEW RESERVOIR AT LANCASTER HEIGHTS

Pump and Pressure System to Improve Water Supply—May Sell Old Site

It is Commissoner Wigmore's idea to do away with the old Carleton water works reservoir on Lancaster Heights, near Tilton's Corner, and to establish a big stand pipe, reservoir and pump in the vicinity of Martello Tower, thus securing the additional advantage of a gravity system in distribution from the reservoir. Thus the pressure all over the Spruce Lake system will be greatly increased and the development of the new areas being opened up for residential purposes will be materially aided. When the new reservoir is provided it is thought that the old reservoir in Lancaster Heights can be made available for sub-division and possibly the city will secure enough from the sale of the property to defray all the expense of the new plant. With the completion of the new plant. With the completion of the new bridge the Loch Lomond and Spruce Lake systems can be united to give a uniform pressure if desired, and the connection can, of course, be shut mapped out this year, including the West Side and Lower Cove work, besides the Marble Cove sewerage, the commissioner of water and sewerage is likely to be a busy man this year.
