The body of Michael J. Barry was brought to the city this morning from Boston where he died on Wednesday. It was accompanied by his wife and his brother Harry, to whom deep felt sympathy was extended upon their arrival. The body was met at the Union Depot by a delegation from St. John Council, Knights of Columbus, of which Mr. Barry was a member, and was taken to the home of the deceased in Coburg street where it will be in state tonight. The funeral will be tomorrow morning at 8:15 from Columbus Hall to the cathedral where high mass of requiem will be celebrated. Representatives of the Knights will attend in a body.

THE PAVEMENTS ON HILLS OF ST. JOHN

Commissioner Potts Looks into Matter While in Montreal

While some of the pavements in St. John are as good as the best in Montreal, Commissioner Potts feels satisfied that the time he spent inspecting their street work yesterday will be profitable to him. The commissioner waited over an extra day and returned on the Atlantic express at noon today. While in Montreal he was treated with the greatest courtesy and consideration by Mayor Martin and Controller McDonald. He was especially interested in their methods of solving the problems arising from horse traffic on paved hills. The commissioner said today that he thought he saw nothing better or more satisfactory than some of our pavements for level streets, but he has been interested in the problem of finding a suitable permanent pavement for hills on which horses could travel with safety, and he received some valuable information on this subject while in Montreal.

SKULL FRACTURED

Fear Edwin Fenwick, Injured Last Night, May Live But Few Hours

Having been between life and death with his skull fractured near the base, Edwin Fenwick, of sixteen Meadow street, carpenter, is now lying in the General Public Hospital as a result of an accident at his home last night about ten o'clock. It was said at the hospital this afternoon that Mr. Fenwick's injuries are so severe that it is not expected that he will live more than a few hours.

Mr. Fenwick was leaving his house about 9:30 o'clock, and after closing the door through which he passed on the second floor, started towards the head of the stairs. It is thought that in the darkness he mistook the distance to the head of the stairs and stepped out beyond the top step.

Hearing a noise in the hall, other occupants of the flat came out and found the unfortunate man lying at the foot of the stairs. Dr. C. M. Pratt responded to a hurried call and after an examination, ordered Mr. Fenwick's removal to the hospital. The injured man has been unconscious since the accident.

Mr. Fenwick is about forty-five years of age and has a wife and three small children. He has many friends in the city who will regret to hear of the accident.

ST. ROSE'S DRAMATIC CLUB IN SOUTHERN PLAY

A Good Production—The Bridge Work and a Disquieting Report

Last evening in their hall in Milford the St. Rose's Dramatic Club presented a four act southern comedy drama, "Tempest and Sunshine," before a good sized audience, and did it in a very creditable manner.

Miss Charlotte Hayes and Miss Irene Malloy in the little roles of "Tempest" and "Sunshine" respectively showed considerable ability and careful study of their parts and won hearty and well deserved applause for their capable acting.

As usual, J. O'Toole delighted the house, and in the parts of Mammy Sue, brought out all there could be taken from his lines, with the manner of a professional.

Other members of the cast acquitted themselves very acceptably and contributed their share toward a very enjoyable evening. The scenes were laid in Kentucky and stage effects and furnishing were kept with the spirit of the piece. The specialties were also good.

The following is the cast: Julia Middleton (Tempest)..... Miss Charlotte Hayes
Mammy Sue..... Miss Irene Malloy
Joshua Middleton..... W. J. Quigg
Richard Wilmot..... T. J. Conway
Hugh Stanton..... J. C. Calinan
Joseph Dunn..... Hugh Jamieson
Bohaway..... James Conway

The whole presentation was under the direction of J. O'Toole, who has done a great deal for local amateur theatricals, devoting time and attention to rehearsals and detail, which was amply repaid in the show of last evening. "Tempest and Sunshine" will be repeated tonight.

CASE OVER TWO CALVES DISMISSED TODAY IN THE POLICE COURT

The case against D. J. Purdy brought by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty because two calves and a bull were left outside of his warehouse last week, was dismissed in court this morning after a heated argument between the magistrate and Mr. Kelley, representing the society. Mr. Kelley said that he had left the animals outside all night but thought that since he had notified the constables he was not responsible. Mr. Kelley said he told Mr. Purdy that such was not the law and that as there were many other steamboat men who thought the same, he wanted the magistrate to give a decision in the case. The magistrate refused to make a hypothetical case of it and said that before that could be done it would have to be argued. Mr. Kelley said that he did not want to have Mr. Purdy fined. He said that he understood from the magistrate that the steamboat agents were not liable in such cases. The magistrate told him he had no right to put words in his mouth and since Mr. Kelley did not want to continue the case, it was dismissed.

DEATH OF JAMES DUKE

The death of an old and much respected resident of St. John occurred this morning at his home in Waterloo street in the passing of James Lawrence Duke. He had been ill for some time. Mr. Duke had lived in this city almost all his life, having come to St. John when a boy of fifteen. He was a native of Ireland, and was born in 1880 in Murrugh, County Cork. He was known widely in St. John as a man of honor and integrity and was highly esteemed.

Mr. Duke was engaged in the grocery business in St. John for a great many years, having conducted a store in Waterloo street until about ten years ago, when he retired. He is survived by two sons, three daughters and one sister. The sons are Rev. William M. Duke, chancellor of the St. John diocese, James T. Duke of this city, while the daughters are Miss Genevieve, Miss Emma T., and Miss Mary A., at home. Mrs. John Murray of this city is a sister.

The funeral will be held on Monday morning at 8:45 o'clock from his late home, 185 Waterloo street, to the cathedral for solemn high mass of requiem at nine o'clock.

AN S. P. C. CASE

Charles Jones was fined $10 this morning for working a horse which the representatives of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty said had three bad sores, one of which was chafed by the harness. The defendant said that he had kept the horse in the barn for two days, but it was not on account of the suffering of the horse. He said he had seen a veterinary who told him the horse was getting better.

Mrs. Coster, who made the report, said that she did not care what the veterinary said or the court held as to the condition of the horse, but she was sure that it was cruel to work it, and recommended that as Mr. Jones was working for the board of health, they should provide a horse for him for a week or so, to give his own the rest needed. J. King Kelley, K.C., appeared for the society.

C. P. R. steamship Empress of India arrived at Yokohama yesterday afternoon. The Empress of India left Vancouver yesterday afternoon.
