the loss of those who go to the United States to live, it is a source of some satisfaction that in the west the mov ment is toward Canada. The Star has lately quoted statements from westers papers, telling of the steady influx of following from the Winnipeg Free ously these new settlers are heginnin work of development:-

ously these new settlers are beginning the work of development:—

Among the visitors at the immigration building yesterday was Mr. J. H. M. Parker, the Dominion government's agent at Duluth. He has just returned from Alberta, where he has been locating a party of sixty settlers from Eastern Minnesota. They have obtained homesteads in the Olds; Innisfail, Red Deer and Wetaskiwin districts. Arrangements have also been made for the settlement of a large colony of Minnestans at Claresholm, in Southern Alberta. All the new immigrants have abundant means and are among the most enterprising and desirable settlers that have this year come to the west. They have taken a steam plow, and fifty cars of effects. They have applied for a post office, and are about to ask the Dominion government to establish a creamery. Four hundred families, at least, go into the districts named above, from Eastern Minnesota this year. The C. P. R. is putting an agent on the location. The new settlers have bought the town site, are building a fine hotel, and are setting vigorously to work to colonize the district. They have already bought no less than 80 sections of land, in addition to the homesteads taken up.

Mr. Parker took with him twelve

Minnesotan delegates in addition to the colonization party. These were all delighted with the country along the Regina and Prince Aibert branch. They have bought land and homesteaded land for themselves, and those for whom they were acting, and will re-urn as soon as they can dispose of heir Minnesota property. The party with Mr. Rogers, left for the south by

AN AUSTRALIAN'S IDEAS.

Mr. Eden George, a rich Australian who is enroute as one of the representatives of New South Wales at the coronation, has been making a nove suggestion to a western newspaper with regard to land tenure. We quote He believed that Canada is making a big mistake in selling her lands out-right. He is an advocate of the leas-ing system. That is, he believes that a twenty years lease of all farm lands owned by the government should be given at a low rate to new settlers. given at a low rate to new settlers. Settlement on these terms could be very easily secured and he guaranteed that if such was the system here thousands of Australians would flock to the country if they knew what the boundless resources were. Australia is now suffering from a piratical direct taxation due to the fact that she has cut off her land revenues by selling out all she possessed. New Zealand, on the other hand, is not parting with her lands but is maintaining the leasing out system which keeps valuable resources of revenue always for the crown. Any improvements in the way of buildings placed on the land are included in the rental and the buildings become the property of the government at the expiration of the lease.

Regarding the labor question, Mr.

Regarding the labor question, Mr. George's remarks are thus reported:—
The labor question in Australia and New Zealand has, Mr. George says, been solved so far as the prevention of strikes is concerned by the board of arbitration made up of three representatives of the employers and workmen's organizations, presided over by a supreme court judge. Wages are fixed by this board and the decisions always hold good for a certain term. Wages of certain classes of workmen are fixed for whatever locality they live in. For instance if the employers in a certain place are not making enough to pay wages as high as the employers of the same class of wages in another locality where times and the conditions are better all these circumstances are considered. Regarding the labor question. Mr

The house of representatives at Washington yesterday passed the Shattuc immigration bill, which makes more stringent the regulations governing the admission of immigrants into that an Interesting Article.

(Editorial Cor. Bangor Commercial.)
A d_y was spent in the English city of St. Stephen and was most thoroughly enjoyed. It is a clean, prosperous, enterprising place, with good streets, fine stores and some interesting public buildings. A feature that constantly reminded us we were in a foreign country was the British fiag waving from custom house, schoolhouse and many private residences. A call was made at the office of the St. Crotx Courier and kindly attentions received from Harry Webber, assistant manager of that newspaper, We visited the two English churches of the city, Christ church and Trinity church, the former the older, the rector of whom, Rev. Mr. Newnham, canon of Fredericton, was most obliging in his attentions. Over the entrance was a bust of Queen Victoria, placed there on the occasion of the diamond jubilec of her reign; while of great historic interest was an elegant frontal, portions of which were made from the cloth of gold adornment used at the coronation of William IV., June 28, 1830. It was due to the kind attention of Arthur M. Hill, the historian of St. Stephen, that we visited these churches and also the beautiful Rural 1839. It was due to the kind attention of Arthur M. Hill, the historian of St. Stephen, that we visited these churches and also the beautiful Rural cemetery, which is more like a magnificent wooded park than a city of the dead, and were also driven all over the city to places of interest, and to the Denny's brook, emptying into the St. Croix just below the city, where we were much interested in seeing the little river full of alewives, with scores of boys and men net-dipping them from the shoal water as they stood upon the rocky bed of the stream knee deep in water.

We learned an interesting fact in railroading, and one not generally known to the public, while visiting St. Stephen. The belt line of the Canadian Pacific railway has been built since the opening of the Washington County road. It connects its road by a bridge access the St. Croly above the city of

She realized that blood poisoning was setting in, and says she spoke to the deceased about a doctor two or three times, but she and her husband would not have one. The bully thing done for the suffering woman was prayers and anointing of oil, as taught in the peculiar doctrine in which the deceased believed.

Elder Scott was subjected to a rigid examination as to his belief in medical treatment in cases of sickness, but the addered to the belief that medicine is unauthorized by God. He advised Mr. Sillick, however, to have a doctor in the first state of his wife's confinement, but considered medical assistance unnecessary after. Great interest being manifested in the case, and the industry has been adjourned for further evidence until tomorrow night.

BOARD OF WORKS

A Committee Recommended to Look After the Ferry Service.

After the Ferry Service.

The board of works yesterday, gave direction to the harbor master to allow M. F. Mooney to use either No. 1 or No. 2 warehouse for a time without charge, as their warehouses were full. It was decided to recommend that the N. B. Telephone Company be given the privilege of opening the streets for the purpose of laying their conduits, provided they fill them up again. The committee who has the McLeod wharf improvements in charge was continued in office and further borings were ordered at Reed's point.

It was decided to recommend the appointment of Ald. Stackhouse, Bullock, McMulkin, Maxwell and Baxter as a committee to take charge of the running of the ferry and to consider the building of a new boat. Wentworth Lewis was appointed a machinist in the ferry service, vice D. J. Gallagher, resigned. A motion to fill up the Courb block did not pass.

Ald, Bullock was appointed to look up a suitable site for a band stand. No action will be taken in regard to repairs for South Rodney wharf until the city decides about Sand Point facilities.

SCOTCH CURLERS VISIT.

At St. Andrew's rink last evening representatives of the Thistles, Carleton and St. Andrew's Curling clubs met and considered the offer of the Scotch curlers to visit this city. The matter was thoroughly discussed and it was finally decided to refer the settlement to an adjourned meeting, the secretary being instructed to procure further information. The meeting was well attended, and while the members are in favor of receiving the Scotch curlers, they want some definite arrangement.

President J. A. Sinclair of the This tles, who presided, read a letter from the St. Stephen knights of the broom, expressing their willingness to come to this city to meet the Scotchmen.

WAS HE MURDERED?

GRAND FALLS, May 26.—On Saturday, Alfred Tardy and Baptiste Groundy, while drifting down the St. John river on a catamaran from Edwardston, discovered the body of a man near Smith's place, at Green river, 12 miles above Grand Falls. They examined the body, and were horrified to see that the man had been shot, a bullet having entered the back of the skull, which it penetrated and passed out at the forehead. The unknown man was attired like a stream driver, and his boots were missing. They removed the body up the bahk, and notified Mr. Smith of their gruesome find.

From the appearance of the body, which was still bleeding from wounds in the back of the head, they state life was extinct not more than five or six hours.

A GENEROUS TRIBUTE.

To Lord Pauncefote, Late British Am-bassador at Washington.

basador at Washington.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

At 5.30 o'clock this morning there died at the British Embassy, in Washington, the most distinguished of the long line of diplomatists sent by England to this country. Lord Pauncefote's illness was recognized as grave at the outset, and, with the earlier periods of its progress, the hope of recovery grew less and less. It was not until death was imminent that the bulletins of the physicians assumed that optimistic tone which, in the case of many notable people, has so often proved to be a preface to the end. And so a conspicuous figure passes forever from the stage of a the world's diplomacy. In his going his country loses a servant tran whom, in his own line of activity, she had none more eminent nor any in whom she responsed a larger measure of confidence. By his death the United States is the poorer in the loss of an agency through whom international dealings were expedited and simplified and by whom the dignity and the responsibilities of position were never cheapened in an effort to bargain better than others. Lord Pauncefote was too large a man to take a Machiavelian view of his calling.

His mission to this country covered ing.

His mission to this country covered a period marked by the discussion of some of the most delicate questions in the history of our diplomatic relations with Great Britain. Some of these required the exercise of the utmost skill and caution coupled with a capacity for looking farther than the necessities of the moment suggested. In every instance the British minister, who in 1893 became an ambassador, more than fulfilled the expectations of his superiors in the foreign office and while so doing, retained the respect and esteem of the American government. And the fact that until the hour of his death he enjoyed that respect and esteem is the most conclusive proof that his conduct in the days immediately preceding the outbreak of the war with Spain was in no way incorrect and in no way unbefitting the representative of the one foreign country where public opinion indorsed the attitude of the United States.
